No Agreement Reached At Conference of UAW And General Motors

Parties Are Still Deadlocked on Wages, Union Security and Maintenance of Membership; Conciliator Says Management Offers Proposal which Union Would Not Accept

DETROIT, Feb. 19 (AP)—Another General Motors and CIO united Auto Workers conference broke up late today with the parties still deadlocked on wages, union security and maintenance of membership.

They will meet again at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Federal Mediator James F. Dewey said most of this afternoon's four-hour session was spent in a discussion of the union security clause in the proposed new contract.

Dewey said that the two sides recessed at one time and that management representatives meeting among themselves came up with a proposal on union security that was not agreed to by the union.

The mediator said he asked both sides to schedule extended negotiating sessions but that they declined. Dewey said they told him it was "more expeditious" to spend the interval between meetings in separate conferences within their own groups.

Dewey was asked if the two sides were closer together. He replied:

Wages Not Major Issue

"They're always closer together. In things like this we just keep on talking until ultimately both sides say 'yes.' "

Dewey, answering questions at a press conference following the adjournment, said that "at this stage of the game he personally favored longer meetings."

The mediator indicated that only the three principal issues of among nineteen original issues are still blocking a settlement of the nine-teen-day old strike.

Asked if the wage issue is still a major one, Dewey said, "it comes up now and then all along—most of the time."

However, Dewey stressed that wages were not the major issue.

The session was the thirty-sixth negotiating conference in the strike that began Nov. 21 and the windup indicated the two sides were not much nearer an agreement than several days ago. Only last weekend it appeared a settlement was close when Saturday and Sunday sessions were held for the first time.

The strike that cut off more than half the industriy's car production capacity has kept 175,000 hourly rated workers idle for ninety-one days and cost them $102,830,000 in wages according to union estimates.

Want Promotions and Seniority

The disputants were still apart on the issues of promotions and transfers and maintenance of union membership as the negotiations resumed today. The union wants promotions and transfers made on the basis of seniority when ability, merit and capacity are equal and demands inclusion of a membership maintenance clause in the working contract.

UAW-CIO spokesmen charged the corporation wants to drop both these provisions inserted in the last contract by War Labor Board directive. GM cancelled the contract last Dec. 10. Also remaining to be agreed upon is the amount of the wage increase. GM has offered eighteen and one-half cents an hour and the union is demanding nineteen and one-half cents, the amount recommended by a presidential fact finding board.

The board also recommended reinstatement of the old contract.

Adjournment today for one week was the National Labor Relations Board hearing into union charges that GM had refused to bargain in good faith in the negotiations preceding and following the start of the present strike.

Convicted of Murder

SANTA CRUZ, Calif., Feb. 19. (AP)—After a bizarre murder trial—a case without a trace of a body—Thomas H. McMonigle, 31, a bus driver, was convicted today of the kidnap-murder of 15-year-old Thora Chamberlain.

The verdict, reached in forty-three minutes, was first degree murder with the death sentence mandatory since no leniency was recommended.

However, under California law, he is to be tried again by the same jury on his plea of innocent by reason of insanity.

One Carrier Air Service Proposed For Pittsburgh

By CHARLES CROASDALE

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 19 (AP)—Capt. Eddie V. Rickenbacker, World War 1 ace and president of Eastern Airlines, testified at the Civil Aeronautics Board's Middle Atlantic case today that Eastern Airlines' proposed additional stops on its Roanoke (Va) Akron (O) segment would provide Pittsburgh with its first one-carrier service to the south.

Declaring that Pittsburgh is the largest eastern city not having such service, Rickenbacker said the proposed leg would provide transportation direct to Miami, Fla., eliminating the dog-leg to Washington on existing routes, and might be used later to generate Pittsburgh traffic to Atlanta, Ga., and other southern points.

Eastern would enter into competition with Pennsylvania-Central airlines on part of the same leg from Youngstown, O., to Pittsburgh.

Rickenbacker said the traffic between these points justified the cab in certifying one and possibly two more carriers to handle it.

Additional stops Eastern seeks:

Along its Akron-Roanoke line: Clarksburg, Elkins, Fairmont, Morgantown and Wheeling(W. Va., Pittsburgh and Youngstown.

(This line is a segment of Eastern's Detroit-Miami route).

On New York-Washington routes: Allentown, Bethlehem, Easton, Lancaster and Reading, Pa.; Annapolis and Easton, Md.; Asbury Park, Long Branch, Red Bank, Bridgeton, Millville, Vineland, New Brunswick and Trenton, N. J.; Dover and Wilmington, Del.

(This leg is a section of a trunk running north from New York to Boston and extending south from Washington in two branches, one to Miami, the other to San Antono and Brownsville, Tex.)

The company contends a restriction limiting its Boston traffic to trips originating or terminatng south of Richmond, Va., or west of Charleston, W. Va., is a handicap to Eastern in competition with Am-

Police Recover Bodies after Blast

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 19 (AP)—The police reported two bodies recovered this afternoon from the ruins of a fourteen-family apartment building which was wrecked by an explosion here at an early hour today.

Capt. James Cripps, in charge of a police detail, said the two bodies were unidentified. Another body was reported by rescue workers trapped in the debris.

Capt. Cripps said he believed there were "four or five bodies" in the wreckage.

The explosion, followed by fire, sent thirty-eight others of the fifty-six occupants, all negroes, to the hospital for treatment of burns or injuries. Nine were seriously hurt.

The three-story building is a unit of the extensive St. Bernard avenue housing project operated by the Housing Authority of New Orleans.

Eight or ten persons were listed today as missing. J. Gilbert Scheib, executive director of the Housing authority, said this did not mean necessarily that all the missing were in the building at the time of the explosion.

"Some may be safe, but they have not checked with our offices," Scheib said.

Camphell Palfrey, state fire marshal, said the explosion, which occurred shortly after 6:30 a. m., resulted apparently from "an accumulation of gas."

Killion Asserts Pauley Assisted In Soliciting Funds

Asserts Airline Head Balked at Supporting F.D.R. for Re-election

By FRANCIS J. KELLY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP)—George Killion, treasurer of the Democratic national committee, told senators today of an unsuccessful attempt to solicit campaign funds in 1944 from W. A. Patterson, president of United Airlines.

He said that Edwin W. Pauley, President Truman's nominee for undersecretary of the navy and former party treasurer, backed him up in the solicitation, carried on by telephone.

It fell flat, Killion related, when Patterson said he wasn't interested in contributing a twenty-five-cent piece to the re-election of Franklin Roosevelt."

"I subsequently learned that the hostesses on Patterson's airline were wearing Dewey buttons," Killion added ruefully.

Deny Threats Made

The party treasurer denied under questioning that he or Pauley had made any threats of retaliation if Patterson did not contribute.

Senator Tobey (R-NH), who has led the examination of Pauley and other witnesses before the Senate Naval committee, asked Killion if he did not tell Patterson not to be too hasty, that "the party remembers its friends and its enemies."

Killion said no," that would be foreign to his way of doing business.

Later, when Harry J. March, vice president and secretary of the Signal Oil and Gas Company, was on the stand, Tobey told of a series of secret conferences he said he had with two representatives of the Standard Oil Company of California. He identified one of them as Ted Peterson, a vice president.

Tobey said the Standard men discussed with him both the Pauley nomination and the current supreme court suit involving the question of whether the federal or the state governments own title to submerged tidelands, some of which produce oil.

Tydings Criticizes Tobey

Tobey quoted the Standard Oil men as telling him that after one of the conferences, March called them to his hotel room, greeting them with the salutation "et tu, Brute"—the phrase Julius Caesar is supposed to have uttered to Brutus upon his stabbing.

March said it didn't happen that way at all; that he merely inquired why the Pauley hearing should be mixed up with the tidelands affair.

Senator Tydings (D-Md) criticized the range of Tobey's questioning. He declared the afternoon session had been "futile" and that Tobey was conducting nothing more than "a fishing expedition."

"I hope from now on we'll have something that has some relationship with Mr. Pauley," he said.

Before Killion was called, Tobey had demanded to be sworn as a witness himself but was not allowed to testify.

300 Indians Burn U. S. Flag, Beat Up Sergeant in Bombay

By MILTON KELLY

BOMBAY, Feb. 19 (AP)—A crowd of 300 Indians, many of them wearing the uniform of the Royal Indian Navy, today burned an American flag in the streets and attacked an unidentified U. S. army sergeant during a wave of demonstrations which swept the city.

One Indian leader who declined to give his name said men aboard the sloop Narbada had hauled down the Union Jack, burned it, and put up for a time the flag of the Indian Congress Party.

He said the demonstrations were a strike in protest against what Indians contended was racial and color discrimination in the British naval service. Another Indian said the attack against the American flag was touched off by a rumor that two Indian naval men had been shot for demonstrating.

Members of the crowd ripped the flag from the U. S. Information Service Office, and then set it afire. Others in the group attacked the sergeant, who had a jeep parked nearby, hitting him on the shoulders with a shovel and clubs. He leaped from the jeep and escaped, apparently without serious injury.

The wave of demonstrations, in which some British officers were attacked in the streets, subsided tonight. Observers said despite the attack on the U. S. flag, the demonstrations were aimed mainly against British authority.

Walter D. Shackleton, in charge of the U.S.I.S. officers, said he had informed the American Consulate and Ralph Block, principal public affairs officer of the information service at New Delhi, of the incident, and that he was awaiting instructions concerning filing an official protest with the Indian and British government.

The mob, one of several which surged through the streets shouting political slogans, also attacked several British and Indian officers with clubs, the British army public relations office said. Four British officers took refuge in Lloyd's bank after being beaten.

House Group Asks Ford To Air His Quarrel with OPA

By FRANCIS M. Le MAY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19—(AP)—The automobile price war between OPA and Henry Ford II was set today for a full congressional airing, as the House Banking committee asked Young Ford to appear personally and present his side of the argument.

Tempers flashed in the committee when Chester Bowles, newly appointed economic stabilizer, said the Ford Motor Company first made an "outrageous" request for a price increase, and then accused OPA of holding up automobile production.

Rep. Buffett (R-Neb) interposed: "Did Congress give you the right to browbeat Mr. Ford?"

Bowles shot back: "I know of no law against correcting false or misleading statements."

OPA Rapped Ford

The waspish interchange occurred after Bowles told the committee that the Ford Company last summer asked "an outrageous increase" of fifty-five per cent in the price of its cars, over prewar levels. He added: "I have no idea what price he (Ford) would ask if there was no price control."

OPA finally allowed the Ford Company an average increase of about six per cent at the manufacturer's level, and granted a boost of about two per cent at retail.

The Banking commitee hearing on legislation to extend OPA's life another year beyond June 30 blew its top after Rep. Patman (D-Tex) asked Bowles to comment on statements by young Ford, executive director of the Ford Company, that price controls are hindering automobile production.

OPA issued a statement last week saying "it appears that Henry Ford II has joined the fourth annual attack on price control. It is launched every year at just about this time by the few selfish groups which have worked continuously to undermine the American people's bulwark against economic disaster."

Bowles yesterday added the National Association of Manufacturers to his list of "irresponsible pressure" groups seeking removal of price control.

He told the committee, in answer

Storm Scatters Vets' Taxi Caravan In Pennsylvania

Seek Relief from Chicago Ordinance and Right To Drive Own Machines

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 19 (AP)—Running into increasingly bad weather as they sped eastward from Pittsburgh tonight, members of the 350-car Chicago-to-Washington taxi caravan were finding tough sledding on the last leg of their hop to the capital.

The vanguard of the caravan tonight was ploughing its way through twelve-inch snow 110 miles east of Pittsburgh. Those who attempted to break the trip for the night were, for the most, unable to find hotel rooms.

The caravan is made up of veterans and their families driving their cabs to Washington to seek relief from a Chicago city ordnance which limits the number of taxis to 3,000 — most of which are owned by two companies. The vets want the right to drive their own machines.

There was only an inch or two of snow in Pittsburgh as the cream-and-white taxis passed through but the fall deepened rapidly east of here along the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

At Bedford, ninety miles east, the snow was nine inches deep and at Breezewood interchange, twelve inches. The earliest drivers passing through Breezewood asked the way to Hagerstown, Md. Some were reported by state police to have stopped overnight at a service station eight miles east of Irwin, Pa.

State police said a few of the cars had broken down or skidded off the road but that none had got in serious trouble.

Most of the caravan already had passed through Pittsburgh tonight. A group of 148 cars arrived shortly before noon today. At dusk, another group of 142 cars, re-formed on Pittsburgh's south side and left the city in a single line. Other cars went through singly or in small clusters.

Many of the late arrivals would have stayed overnight but no hotel rooms were available. At Bedford, Pa., only five or six of the veterans' families could find sleeping accommodations.

Indications were that by morning, the caravan would be bedded down over most of the state, with part

Long Use of New Diet by Diabetics Improves Health, Lengthens Life

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, Feb. 19 (AP) — Fifteen years use of a diet that improves the health and lengthens the life of diabetics was reported to the Kings County Medical Association here tonight by Dr. I. M. Rabinowitch, associate professor of medicine at McGill university, Montreal.

The results are based on treatment of about 5,000 persons. The diet furnishes meals with virtually the amount of sweets and starches in an ordinary person's intake instead of cutting them way down. In most diabetic diets the sweets are reduced and fats substituted. Dr. Rabinowitch said that his experience indicates that fats are bad for diabetics.

The secret of success of this diet is in keeping the calories down to enough to maintain a person's best weight. This averages 2,000 to 2,500 calories daily, and occasionally goes higher. Dr. Rabinowitch said that most people habitually eat more calories than they need. His diet gives three regular meals, with three in-between meals, each of the latter containing a small amount of starch equalling one slice of bread.

He reported that the patients who have taken the diet consistently show several advantages, after some years, over those taking most other diabetic diets. One advantage is that about seventy-five per cent of such people do not require insulin. With all diets there always are some persons who do not need insulin. But with the other diets he said fifty to eighty per cent generally have to take this remedy.

Another advantage Dr. Rabinowitch said is that among those on his high carbohydrate diet who must take insulin, the average dose is lower than in other diets.

A third advantage is less hardening of the arteries. He reported that with rare exceptions no one, re-

Clark Says 22 Americans Suspected Of Treason Being Hunted in Europe

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP) — Attorney General Tom Clark said today that twenty-two Americans suspected of wartime treason are being hunted in Europe.

Expressing his determination "to bring every single American who played the Axis game swiftly to trial," Clark told a reporter that the suspects are reported to have broadcast for the Nazis from Berlin, Munich, Vienna and Paris.

The attorney general disclosed that he plans to send a special representative to Europe soon to survey investigations of Americans reported to have collaborated with the Nazis and Fascists.

These investigations were started in January by three Justice department attorneys, Clyde L. Gooch of Salisbury, N. C., Samuel Ely of Bassett, Nebr., and Victor Woerheide, St. Louis.

Clark said Timothy A. McInerny, the department's director of public information, will fly to Europe to expedite the collection of evidence against the twenty-two suspects and supervise the manhunt.

"No effort will be spared in apprehending these suspects," Clark said, "because we must show the world that we are not sentimentalists where the crime of high trea-

Pope Will Make World Broadcast This Morning

Will Give Position of Catholic Church on Uneasy Global Situation

By EDMUND LAURA

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 18 (AP)—Vatican attaches said tonight they understood Pope Pius XII would broadcast to the world tomorrow a major pronouncement on the position of the Roman Catholic church in the uneasy global situation.

The pontiff, they said, was expected to speak at 11:30 a. m., E.S.T. from the papal throne in the historic hall of benedictions where the newly created cardinals, including four from the United States, will gather to receive their first insignia of office.

Congratulations poured in today from all parts of the world to the thirty-two new princes of the church who were made cardinals at a precedent-setting consistory yesterday.

The new cardinals, including those from the United States, spent the morning receiving felicitations from be-ribboned members of the diplomatic corps and members of the Roman nobility.

Spellman Makes Broadcast

This afternoon Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York broadcast an address from the North American College in Rome, eulogizing the pope and expressing his gratitude for being elevated to the purple.

The other new United States Cardinals—John Cardinal Glennon, of St. Louis, Samuel Cardinal Stritch, of Chicago and Edward Cardinal Mooney, of Detroit—extended blessings to members of their archidocese.

"It is with pleasure that I extend blessings to all my good friends in St. Louis," Glennon said. "I am remembering them these days in Rome, which is associated with so many saints who through the years made this city their home."

Strict and Mooney sent similar letters to their archdioceses, but the letters were not available here.

The pontiff's address will come after he places birettas on the heads of twenty-nine of the new cardinals in a colorful ceremony. Two of the thirty-two were unable to come to Rome for the ceremonies because of illness and a third, Jose Cardinal Caro Rodriguez of Chile, became ill yesterday after he was notified of his election and is not expected to attend.

The pope will speak in reply to the dean of the new cardinals, Gregory Peter Cardinal Agagianian, patriarch of Cicilia in Armenia.

Agagianian's address will be an expression of gratitude on behalf of all the new cardinals for their elevation to the purple. Normally each new prince of the church would speak, but there are so many of them this time—the largest number in history—that the Vatican decided the dean would speak for all.

Normally, too, the pontiff's reply would be only a eulogy of the virtues of the sacred college.

Vatician sources said, however, that the pope was so preoccupied with the state of the world in this troubled postwar period that he had decided to use the occasion for an address along broader lines.

The number of new cardinals in Rome for the ceremonies was raised

Dr. McDonald Urges Wide Dissemination Of Atomic Data

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP) — The Senate Atomic Energy committee was told today that "it is inevitable that a network of spies will infest our country from a nation that fears us."

Dr. Ralph McDonald of the National Education Association made that forecast amid these other occurrences:

1. The White House declined to comment on a published report that the FBI has given President Truman a document naming more than 100 persons as cooperating with a foreign spy ring seeking atomic secrets here and in Canada.

2. The House committee on Un-American Activities discussed the spy operations reported from Canada but decided against making an investigation at present. Rep. Rankin (D-Miss) of the committee demanded an inquiry.

3. President Truman was officially disclosed to be selecting a board of five or six civilians to appraise the results of the forthcoming atomic bomb on warships in the Pacific. This panel apparently would be in addition to the seven-man board of army, navy and civilian personnel already planned.

Dr. McDonald held that secrecy would prove no defense against "a totalitarian power" bent on atomic warfare. He urged that basic scientific knowledge be disseminated as widely as possible among American scientists and said that "our best safeguard in the event of an atomic war would be through the great progress our own scientists would make by continuous effective experimentation."

Mrs. Harper Sibley, president of the United Council of Church Women, another witness, urged that the United States reveal all its atomic bomb secrets now as a gesture of good faith to other nations.

Executive Board Given Authority To Order Nationwide Walkout

Will Continue Bargaining with Company and All Efforts Will Be Made To Settle Dispute, NFTW President Asserts; Resolution Is Adopted by Vote of 121,997 to 30,761

Telephone Strike In Philadelphia Is Settled

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 19 (AP) — A United States conciliator brought to a speedy end today a twenty-hour strike of 1,000 American Telephone and Telegraph Company workers, averting at least temporarily a threatened nationwide telephone tieup.

In Memphis, Tenn., the federation of long lines telephone workers had stated it would call a strike if the Philadelphia dispute was not settled within twenty-four hours.

Federal Conciliator Peter J. Manno announced the settlement after a twelve-hour closed session with representatives of Local 203 of the union and of A. T. and T., with no time off for meals.

The dispute centered around three employes the union contended were promoted without having seniority rights.

Central figure was Mrs. Helen Sullivan, a non-union member, who was raised from the post of telephone supervisor to assistant chief operator over twenty-four others with higher seniority rights, the union contended.

J. E. Dingman, supervisor of employe relations for A. T. and T., said the negotiators agreed to the following compromises:

1. A. T. and T. will investigate the promotion of the three workers.

2. By Thursday the union will notify A. T. and T. by written statement of its grievances and the groups will meet again Monday to discuss the grievances.

3. Providing the company has found that Mrs. Sullivan is to be retained in her new position because of merit, the union will concur. In the meantime, Dingman declared, "she will not function pending this investigation."

Out-of-state phone service to and from Philadelphia was resumed early this afternoon. For twenty hours there was nothing but emergency service for persons calling points outside of Pennsylvania. Calls within the state's borders were handled by Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania Workers.

By BEVERLY R. YOUNG

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 19 (AP)—The nation's 250,000 organized telephone workers set up the machinery for a coast-to-coast strike today to be set in motion when "all avenues" of peaceful negotiation are closed.

Joseph A. Beirne, 35-year-old president of the Independent National Federation of Telephone Workers, announced: "We will continue bargaining with the company and all efforts will be made to settle the dispute."

Beirne made his statement to newsmen shortly after the federation's fifty autonomous unions granted the executive board authority to call a nation strike whenever it "considers proper."

Vote Is Onesided

The resolution, adopted by a vote of 121,997 to 30,761, also directed that when a strike is called "all other affiliates respect all picket lines." Seven unions, representing 26,913 members, failed to vote.

The federation includes local and long distance operators, maintenance, construction, research and manufacturing employes.

Beirne said the telephone workers in further negotiations "might consider a re-discussion of their minimum wage demands in the light of the settlements in the steel and automobile industries."

Union demands, directed chiefly to the far-flung system of the American Telephone and Telephone Comgraph Company, are for a $10 weekly increase. A sixty-five cent hourly minimum rate and a return to the forty-hour week.

The A.T.&T. has reported offers to increase wages of all operators $5 a week and grant other employes raises ranging from $3 to $6.

Labor department statistics for November reported that telephone workers in all branches of the industry average a little more than $1 an hour.

Will Not Dilly Dally

A union spokesman said the current wage scale for operators is: in smaller towns, $18 to $20 weekly as a starting wage and $26 to $28 maximum; in larger towns, $24 to $26 as a starting wage and $38 maximum.

The resolution, empowering the executive board to call a general walkout, also gave the officials the right "to secure, if possible, a peaceful and satisfactory settlement of all disputes."

"If bargaining with the Bell system will prevent strike action," Beirne said, "we would be willing to bargain with them," adding "there is no indication that Bell is willing to bargain with us."

The youthful federation president asserted further that "there will be no dilly-dallying around on the strike questions."

Internal Struggle Simmers in China

By SPENCER MOOSA

CHUNGKING, Feb. 19 (AP) — China's internal struggle between government and Communists—eased by January's truce—simmered anew today over the question of control in Russian-occupied Manchuria.

Chou En-Lai, the Communists' truce negotiator, flew off to party headquarters at Yenan for discussions with leader Mao Tse-Tung. The Communists seek recognition of their forces controlling scattered areas in Manchuria, and want to limit the number of government troops sent there.

Foreign Minister Wang Shih-Chieh was in protracted conference Monday night with Chiang Chung-Kuo, the generalissimo's elder son and special commissioner for foreign affairs in Manchuria, and Chang Kai-Ngau, Chungking's director of economic affairs in Manchuria.

Wang had just returned from Nanking, where he was reported to have delivered to the generalissimo Russia's reply to China's inquiry about Soviet plans for withdrawal from Manchuria.

Ho Ping Pao, newspaper mouthpiece of the Chinese army, charged the Communists were engaged in troop movements inside Manchuria in violation of the truce signed January 10.

Soap Nazis Made From Human Bodies Placed in Evidence

NEURENBERG, Feb. 19 (AP)—The Russian prosecution today charged the Nazis made soap from the bodies of their victims, and exhibited a ninety-minute film showing the mass murders of thousands of men, women and children.

Col. L. N. Smirnov, assistant Russian prosecutor, introduced at the trial of twenty-two leading Nazis an affidavit by a German assistant who said he had helped boil down the bodies, and who admitted using some of the soap.

The German assistant said a soap factory, located at Danzig, obtained its first bodies from a psychiatric hospital where the Nazis killed the mentally unfit.

Information about Spain Will Be Made Public by the United States

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP) — Secretary of State Byrnes disclosed today that the United States plans to make public information about Spain which it obtains from captured German documents.

He told a news conference that he could not say when such a publication would be issued.

Allied personnel are examining tons of the captured Nazi papers, he said. The United States report, he added, will deal with matters other than Spain.

Answering a series of questions dealing with the diplomatic situation in almost every quarter of the globe, Byrnes also made these reports:

1. There is no chance of establishing a civilian administration in the American zone of occupied Germany by June.

2. The United States will continue to ship tires, farm machinery and other equipment to Argentina.

He said this was being done because President Truman had requested Argentina to increase its shipments of wheat to Europe.

3. The United States has discussed separately with France, Russia, and Britain the question of splitting

Income Tax Primer

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP) — Most wage earners with the income of less than $5,000 will use their withholding receipts as 1945 income tax returns because they are easy to make out.

A comparatively few less-than-$5,000 wage earners with unusually large deductions can save tax money by using the long form 1040 as a return. However, a vast majority will pay less tax if they use the withholding receipts or the short form 1040. These two simplified returns automatically provide deductions amounting to ten per cent of income.

So unless you can claim deductions amounting to more than ten per cent of your income, there's no point in using the long form as a return. Deductions are allowed for certain kinds of taxes, interest, charitable contributions, losses from fire, storm and theft, and extraordinary medical expenses.

On the long form you may itemize and claim all allowable deductions. So if they amount to more than ten per cent of your income, you probably will save money by using the long form.

When Congress provided the automatic deduction of ten per cent for use on the short form and withholding receipt, it was estimated that eight out of ten taxpayers ordinarily do not have allowable deductions totaling more than ten per cent of their income.

A few wage-earners can save on their tax by using the short form 1040 instead of the withholding receipts. They are persons who in connection with their work have traveling expenses and "reimbursed expenses". These traveling expenses and "reimbursed expenses" may be deducted on the short form to reduce taxable income.

You itemize actual traveling and "reimbursed expenses" on a separate sheet of paper, subtract from your total pay and allowances for expenses, etc., and enter the balance as your income in Item 2 of form 1040. You attach the itemized list to your return.

You are not allowed to deduct any expenses on the withholding receipt.

Welfare Obligations Decreased in January

BALTIMORE, Feb. 19 (AP)—Obligations incurred by the state department of welfare decreased slightly in January, but generally remained in the vicinity of the reconversion peak reached in December, figures released today by J. Milton Patterson, director, indicated.

The January figure for all types of public assistance was $715,332, or a drop of $4,930 from December.

The sharp increase in the department's caseload for December caused Patterson to predict a half-million dollar deficit for the fiscal year if the trend continued.

Additional money was subsequently made available to the department from the governor's emergency fund by the board of public works to avert the threatened deficit.

The January statistics showed decreased expenditures for old age assistance, public assistance to the needy blind, and foster home care.

Small increases were made in expenditures for aid to dependent children and general public assistance.

STRIKE OF PHONE WORKERS AUTHORIZED

Parties Are Still Deadlocked on Wages, Union Security and Maintenance of Membership; Conciliator Says Management Offers Proposal which Union Would Not Accept

DETROIT, Feb. 19 (AP)—Another General Motors and CIO united Auto Workers conference broke up late today with the parties still deadlocked on wages, union security and maintenance of membership.

They will meet again at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Federal Mediator James F. Dewey said most of this afternoon's four-hour session was spent in a discussion of the union security clause in the proposed new contract.

Dewey said that the two sides recessed at one time and that management representatives meeting among themselves came up with a proposal on union security that was not agreed to by the union.

The mediator said he asked both sides to schedule extended negotiating sessions but that they declined. Dewey said they told him it was "more expeditious" to spend the interval between meetings in separate conferences within their own groups.

Dewey was asked if the two sides were closer together. He replied:

Wages Not Major Issue

"They're always closer together. In things like this we just keep on talking until ultimately both sides say 'yes.'"

Dewey, answering questions at a press conference following the adjournment, said that "at this stage of the game he personally favored longer meetings."

The mediator indicated that only the three principal issues of among nineteen original issues are still blocking a settlement of the nine-teen-day old strike.

Asked if the wage issue is still a major one, Dewey said, "it comes up now and then all along—most of the time."

However, Dewey stressed that wages were not the major issue.

The session was the thirty-sixth negotiating conference in the strike that began Nov. 21 and the windup indicated the two sides were not much nearer an agreement than several days ago. Only last weekend it appeared a settlement was close when Saturday and Sunday sessions were held for the first time.

The strike that cut off more than half the industriy's car production capacity has kept 175,000 hourly rated workers idle for ninety-one days and cost them $102,830,000 in wages according to union estimates.

Want Promotions and Seniority

The disputants were still apart on the issues of promotions and transfers and maintenance of union membership as the negotiations resumed today. The union wants promotions and transfers made on the basis of seniority when ability, merit and capacity are equal and demands inclusion of a membership maintenance clause in the working contract.

UAW-CIO spokesmen charged the corporation wants to drop both these provisions inserted in the last contract by War Labor Board directive. GM cancelled the contract last Dec. 10. Also remaining to be agreed upon is the amount of the wage increase. GM has offered eighteen and one-half cents an hour and the union is demanding nineteen and one-half cents, the amount recommended by a presidential fact finding board.

The board also recommended reinstatement of the old contract.

Adjournment today for one week was the National Labor Relations Board hearing into union charges that GM had refused to bargain in good faith in the negotiations preceding and following the start of the present strike.

Convicted of Murder

SANTA CRUZ, Calif., Feb. 19. (AP)—After a bizarre murder trial—a case without a trace of a body—Thomas H. McMonigle, 31, a bus driver, was convicted today of the kidnap-murder of 15-year-old Thora Chamberlain.

The verdict, reached in forty-three minutes, was first degree murder with the death sentence mandatory since no leniency was recommended.

However, under California law, he is to be tried again by the same jury on his plea of innocent by reason of insanity.

One Carrier Air Service Proposed For Pittsburgh

By CHARLES CROASDALE

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 19 (AP)—Capt. Eddie V. Rickenbacker, World War 1 ace and president of Eastern Airlines, testified at the Civil Aeronautics Board's Middle Atlantic case today that Eastern Airlines' proposed additional stops on its Roanoke (Va) Akron (O) segment would provide Pittsburgh with its first one-carrier service to the south.

Declaring that Pittsburgh is the largest eastern city not having such service, Rickenbacker said the proposed leg would provide transportation direct to Miami, Fla., eliminating the dog-leg to Washington on existing routes, and might be used later to generate Pittsburgh traffic to Atlanta, Ga., and other southern points.

Eastern would enter into competition with Pennsylvania-Central airlines on part of the same leg from Youngstown, O., to Pittsburgh.

Rickenbacker said the traffic between these points justified the cab in certifying one and possibly two more carriers to handle it.

(This line is a segment of Eastern's Detroit-Miami route).

On New York-Washington routes: Allentown, Bethlehem, Easton, Lancaster and Reading, Pa.; Annapolis and Easton, Md.; Asbury Park, Long Branch, Red Bank, Bridgeton, Millville, Vineland, New Brunswick and Trenton, N. J.; Dover and Wilmington, Del.

(This leg is a section of a trunk running north from New York to Boston and extending south from Washington in two branches, one to Miami, the other to San Antono and Brownsville, Tex.)

The company contends a restriction limiting its Boston traffic to trips originating or terminatng south of Richmond, Va., or west of Charleston, W. Va., is a handicap to Eastern in competition with Am-

Police Recover Bodies after Blast

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 19 (AP)—The police reported two bodies recovered this afternoon from the ruins of a fourteen-family apartment building which was wrecked by an explosion here at an early hour today.

Capt. James Cripps, in charge of a police detail, said the two bodies were unidentified. Another body was reported by rescue workers trapped in the debris.

Capt. Cripps said he believed there were "four or five bodies" in the wreckage.

The explosion, followed by fire, sent thirty-eight others of the fifty-six occupants, all negroes, to the hospital for treatment of burns or injuries. Nine were seriously hurt.

The three-story building is a unit of the extensive St. Bernard avenue housing project operated by the Housing Authority of New Orleans.

Eight or ten persons were listed today as missing, J. Gilbert Scheib, executive director of the Housing authority, said this did not mean necessarily that all the missing were in the building at the time of the explosion.

"Some may be safe, but they have not checked with our offices," Scheib said.

Campbell Palfrey, state fire marshal, said the explosion, which occurred shortly after 6:30 a. m., resulted apparently from "an accumulation of gas."

Killion Asserts Pauley Assisted In Soliciting Funds

Asserts Airline Head Balked at Supporting F.D.R. for Re-election

By FRANCIS J. KELLY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP)—George Killion, treasurer of the Democratic national committee, told senators today of an unsuccessful attempt to solicit campaign funds in 1944 from W. A. Patterson, president of United Airlines.

He said that Edwin W. Pauley, President Truman's nominee for undersecretary of the navy and former party treasurer, backed him up in the solicitation, carried on by telephone.

It fell flat, Killion related, when Patterson said he wasn't interested in contributing a twenty-five-cent piece to the re-election of Franklin Roosevelt."

"I subsequently learned that the hostesses on Patterson's airline were wearing Dewey buttons," Killion added ruefully.

Deny Threats Made

The party treasurer denied under questioning that he or Pauley had made any threats of retaliation if Patterson did not contribute.

Senator Tobey (R-NH), who has led the examination of Pauley and other witnesses before the Senate Naval committee, asked Killion if he did not tell Patterson not to be too hasty, that "the party remembers its friends and its enemies."

Killion said no," that would be foreign to his way of doing business.

Later, when Harry J. March, vice president and secretary of the Signal Oil and Gas Company, was on the stand, Tobey told of a series of secret conferences he said he had with two representatives of the Standard Oil Company of California. He identified one of them as Ted Peterson, a vice president.

Tobey said the Standard men discussed with him both the Pauley nomination and the current supreme court suit involving the question of whether the federal or the state governments own title to submerged tidelands, some of which produce oil.

Tydings Criticizes Tobey

Tobey quoted the Standard Oil men as telling him that after one of the conferences, March called them to his hotel room, greeting them with the salutation "et tu, Brute"—the phrase Julius Caesar is supposed to have uttered to Brutus upon his stabbing.

March said it didn't happen that way at all: that he merely inquired why the Pauley hearing should be mixed up with the tidelands affair.

Senator Tydings (D-Md) criticized the range of Tobey's questioning. He declared the afternoon session had been "futile" and that Tobey was conducting nothing more than "a fishing expedition."

"I hope from now on we'll have something that has some relationship with Mr. Pauley," he said.

Before Killion was called, Tobey had demanded to be sworn as a witness himself but was not allowed to testify.

300 Indians Burn U. S. Flag, Beat Up Sergeant in Bombay

By MILTON KELLY

BOMBAY, Feb. 19 (AP)—A crowd of 300 Indians, many of them wearing the uniform of the Royal Indian Navy, today burned an American flag in the streets and attacked an unidentified U. S. army sergeant during a wave of demonstrations which swept the city.

One Indian leader who declined to give his name said men aboard the sloop Narbada had hauled down the Union Jack, burned it, and put up for a time the flag of the Indian Congress Party.

He said the demonstrations were a strike in protest against what Indians contended was racial and color discrimination in the British naval service. Another Indian said the attack against the American flag was touched off by a rumor that two Indian naval men had been shot for demonstrating.

Members of the crowd ripped the flag from the U. S. Information Service Office, and then set it afire. Others in the group attacked the sergeant, who had a jeep parked nearby, hitting him on the shoulders with a shovel and clubs. He leaped from the jeep and escaped, apparently without serious injury.

The wave of demonstrations, in which some British officers were attacked in the streets, subsided tonight. Observers said despite the attack on the U. S. flag, the demonstrations were aimed mainly against British authority.

Walter D. Shackleton, in charge of the U.S.I.S. officers, said he had informed the American Consultate and Ralph Block, principal public affairs officer of the information service at New Delhi, of the incident, and that he was awaiting instructions concerning filing an official protest with the Indian and British government.

The mob, one of several which surged through the streets shouting political slogans, also attacked several British and Indian officers with clubs, the British army public relations office said. Four British officers took refuge in Lloyd's bank after being beaten.

House Group Asks Ford To Air His Quarrel with OPA

By FRANCIS M. Le MAY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19—(AP)—The automobile price war between OPA and Henry Ford II was set today for a full congressional airing, as the House Banking committee asked Young Ford to appear personally and present his side of the argument.

Tempers flashed in the committee when Chester Bowles, newly appointed economic stabilizer, said the Ford Motor Company first made an "outrageous" request for a price increase, and then accused OPA of holding up automobile production.

Rep. Buffett (R-Neb) interposed: "Did Congress give you the right to browbeat Mr. Ford?"

OPA Rapped Ford

The waspish interchange occurred after Bowles told the committee that the Ford Company last summer asked "an outrageous increase" of fifty-five per cent in the price of its cars, over prewar levels. He added: "I have no idea what price he (Ford) would ask if there was no price control."

OPA finally allowed the Ford Company an average increase of about six per cent at the manufacturer's level, and granted a boost of about two per cent at retail.

The Banking commitee hearing on legislation to extend OPA's life another year beyond June 30 blew its top after Rep. Patman (D-Tex) asked Bowles to comment on statements by young Ford, executive director of the Ford Company, that price controls are hindering automobile production.

OPA issued a statement last week saying "it appears that Henry Ford II has joined the fourth annual attack on price control. It is launched every year at just about this time by the few selfish groups which have worked continuously to undermine the American people's bulwark against economic disaster."

Bowles yesterday added the National Association of Manufacturers to his list of "irresponsible pressure" groups seeking removal of price control.

He told the committee, in answer

Seek Relief from Chicago Ordinance and Right To Drive Own Machines

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 19 (AP)—Running into increasingly bad weather as they sped eastward from Pittsburgh tonight, members of the 350-car Chicago-to-Washington taxi caravan were finding tough sledding on the last leg of their hop to the capital.

The vanguard of the caravan tonight was ploughing its way through twelve-inch snow 110 miles east of Pittsburgh. Those who attempted to break the trip for the night were, for the most, unable to find hotel rooms.

The caravan is made up of veterans and their families driving their cabs to Washington to seek relief from a Chicago city ordnance which limits the number of taxis to 3,000 — most of which are owned by two companies. The vets want the right to drive their own machines.

There was only an inch or two of snow in Pittsburgh as the cream-and-white taxis passed through but the fall deepened rapidly east of here along the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

At Bedford, ninety miles east, the snow was nine inches deep and at Breezewood interchange, twelve inches. The earliest drivers passing through Breezewood asked the way to Hagerstown, Md. Some were reported by state police to have stopped overnight at a service station eight miles east of Irwin, Pa.

State police said a few of the cars had broken down or skidded off the road but that none had got in serious trouble.

Most of the caravan already had passed through Pittsburgh tonight. A group of 148 cars arrived shortly before noon today. At dusk, another group of 142 cars, re-formed on Pittsburgh's south side and left the city in a single line. Other cars went through singly or in small clusters.

Many of the late arrivals would have stayed overnight but no hotel rooms were available. At Bedford, Pa., only five or six of the veterans' families could find sleeping accommodations.

Indications were that by morning, the caravan would be bedded down over most of the state, with part

Long Use of New Diet by Diabetics Improves Health, Lengthens Life

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, Feb. 19 (AP) — Fifteen years use of a diet that improves the health and lengthens the life of diabetics was reported to the Kings County Medical Association here tonight by Dr. I. M. Rabinowitch, associate professor of medicine at McGill university, Montreal.

The results are based on treatment of about 5,000 persons. The diet furnishes meals with virtually the amount of sweets and starches in an ordinary person's intake instead of cutting them way down. In most diabetic diets the sweets are reduced and fats substituted. Dr. Rabinowitch said that his experience indicates that fats are bad for diabetics.

The secret of success of this diet is in keeping the calories down to enough to maintain a person's best weight. This averages 2,000 to 2,500 calories daily, and occasionally goes higher. Dr. Rabinowitch said that most people habitually eat more calories than they need. His diet gives three regular meals, with three in-between meals, each of the latter containing a small amount of starch equalling one slice of bread.

He reported that the patients who have taken the diet consistently show several advantages, after some years, over those taking most other diabetic diets. One advantage is that about seventy-five per cent of such people do not require insulin. With all diets there always are some persons who do not need insulin. But with the other diets he said fifty to eighty per cent generally have to take this remedy.

Another advantage Dr. Rabinowitch said is that among those on his high carbohydrate diet who must take insulin, the average dose is lower than in other diets.

A third advantage is less hardening of the arteries. He reported that with rare exceptions no one, re-

Clark Says 22 Americans Suspected Of Treason Being Hunted in Europe

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP) — Attorney General Tom Clark said today that twenty-two Americans suspected of wartime treason are being hunted in Europe.

Expressing his determination "to bring every single American who played the Axis game swiftly to trial," Clark told a reporter that the suspects are reported to have broadcast for the Nazis from Berlin, Munich, Vienna and Paris.

The attorney general disclosed that he plans to send a special representative to Europe soon to survey investigations of Americans reported to have collaborated with the Nazis and Fascists.

These investigations were started in January by three Justice department attorneys, Clyde L. Gooch of Salisbury, N. C., Samuel Ely of Bassett, Nebr., and Victor Woerheide, St. Louis.

Clark said Timothy A. McInerny, the department's director of public information, will fly to Europe to expedite the collection of evidence against the twenty-two suspects and supervise the manhunt.

"No effort will be spared in apprehending these suspects," Clark said, "because we must show the world that we are not sentimentalists where the crime of high trea-

Pope Will Make World Broadcast This Morning

Will Give Position of Catholic Church on Uneasy Global Situation

By EDMUND LAURA

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 18 (AP)—Vatican attaches said tonight they understood Pope Pius XII would broadcast to the world tomorrow a major pronouncement on the position of the Roman Catholic church in the uneasy global situation.

The pontiff, they said, was expected to speak at 11:30 a. m., E.S.T. from the papal throne in the historic hall of benedictions where the newly created cardinals, including four from the United States, will gather to receive their first insignia of office.

Congratulations poured in today from all parts of the world to the thirty-two new princes of the church who were made cardinals at a precedent-setting consistory yesterday.

The new cardinals, including those from the United States, spent the morning receiving felicitations from be-ribboned members of the diplomatic corps and members of the Roman nobility.

Spellman Makes Broadcast

This afternoon Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York broadcast an address from the North American College in Rome, eulogizing the pope and expressing his gratitude for being elevated to the purple.

The other new United States Cardinals—John Cardinal Glennon, of St. Louis, Samuel Cardinal Stritch, of Chicago and Edward Cardinal Mooney, of Detroit—extended blessings to members of their archdiocese.

"It is with pleasure that I extend blessings to all my good friends in St. Louis," Glennon said. "I am remembering them these days in Rome, which is associated with so many saints who through the years made this city their home."

Strict and Mooney sent similar letters to their archdioceses, but the letters were not available here.

The pontiff's address will come after he places birettas on the heads of twenty-nine of the new cardinals in a colorful ceremony. Two of the thirty-two were unable to come to Rome for the ceremonies because of illness and a third, Jose Cardinal Caro Rodriguez of Chile, became ill yesterday after he was notified of his election and is not expected to attend.

The pope will speak in reply to the dean of the new cardinals, Gregory Peter Cardinal Agagianian, patriarch of Cicilia in Armenia.

Agagianian's address will be an expression of gratitude on behalf of all the new cardinals for their elevation to the purple. Normally each new prince of the church would speak, but there are so many of them this time—the largest number in history—that the Vatican decided the dean would speak for all.

Normally, too, the pontiff's reply would be only a eulogy of the virtues of the newly elected members of the sacred college.

Vatician sources said, however, that the pope was so preoccupied with the state of the world in this troubled postwar period that he had decided to use the occasion for an address along broader lines.

The number of new cardinals in Rome for the ceremonies was raised

Dr. McDonald Urges Wide Dissemination Of Atomic Data

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP) — The Senate Atomic Energy committee was told today that "it is inevitable that a network of spies will infest our country from a nation that fears us."

Dr. Ralph McDonald of the National Education Association made that forecast amid these other occurrences:

1. The White House declined to comment on a published report that the FBI has given President Truman a document naming more than 100 persons as cooperating with a foreign spy ring seeking atomic secrets here and in Canada.

2. The House committee on Un-American Activities discussed the spy operations reported from Canada but decided against making an investigation at present. Rep. Rankin (D-Miss) of the committee demanded an inquiry.

3. President Truman was officially disclosed to be selecting a board of five or six civilians to appraise the results of the forthcoming atomic bomb on warships in the Pacific. This panel apparently would be in addition to the seven-man board of army, navy and civilian personnel already planned.

Dr. McDonald held that secrecy would prove no defense against "a totalitarian power" bent on atomic warfare. He urged that basic scientific knowledge be disseminated as widely as possible among American scientists and said that "our best safeguard in the event of an atomic war would be through the great progress our own scientists would make by continuous effective experimentation."

Mrs Harper Sibley, president of the United Council of Church Women, another witness, urged that the United States reveal all its atomic bomb secrets now as a gesture of good faith to other nations.

Executive Board Given Authority To Order Nationwide Walkout

Will Continue Bargaining with Company and All Efforts Will Be Made To Settle Dispute, NFTW President Asserts; Resolution Is Adopted by Vote of 121,997 to 30,761

Telephone Strike In Philadelphia Is Settled

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 19 (AP) — A United States conciliator brought to a speedy end today a twenty-hour strike of 1,000 American Telephone and Telegraph Company workers, averting at least temporarily a threatened nationwide telephone tieup.

In Memphis, Tenn., the federation of long lines telephone workers had stated it would call a strike if the Philadelphia dispute was not settled within twenty-four hours.

Federal Conciliator Peter J. Manno announced the settlement after a twelve-hour closed session with representatives of Local 203 of the union and of A. T. and T., with no time off for meals.

The dispute centered around three employes the union contended were promoted without having seniority rights.

Central figure was Mrs. Helen Sullivan, a non-union member, who was raised from the post of telephone supervisor to assistant chief operator over twenty-four others with higher seniority rights, the union contended.

J. E. Dingman, supervisor of employe relations for A. T. and T., said the negotiators agreed to the following compromises:

1. A. T. and T. will investigate the promotion of the three workers.

2. By Thursday the union will notify A. T. and T. by written statement of its grievances and the groups will meet again Monday to discuss the grievances.

3. Providing the company has found that Mrs. Sullivan is to be retained in her new position because of merit, the union will concur. In the meantime, Dingman declared, "she will not function pending this investigation."

Out-of-state phone service to and from Philadelphia was resumed early this afternoon. For twenty hours there was nothing but emergency service for persons calling points outside of Pennsylvania. Calls within the state's borders were handled by Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania Workers.

Internal Struggle Simmers in China

By SPENCER MOOSA

CHUNGKING, Feb. 19 (AP) — China's internal struggle between government and Communists—eased by January's truce—simmered anew today over the question of control in Russian-occupied Manchuria.

Chou En-Lai, the Communists' truce negotiator, flew off to party headquarters at Yenan for discussions with leader Mao Tse-Tung. The Communists seek recognition of their forces controlling scattered areas in Manchuria, and want to limit the number of government troops sent there.

Foreign Minister Wang Shih-Chieh was in protracted conference Monday night with Chiang Chung-Kuo, the generalissimo's elder son and special commissioner for foreign affairs in Manchuria, and Chang Kai-Ngau, Chungking's director of economic affairs in Manchuria.

Wang had just returned from Nanking, where he was reported to have delivered to the generalissimo Russia's reply to China's inquiry about Soviet plans for withdrawal from Manchuria.

Ho Ping Pao, newspaper mouthpiece of the Chinese army, charged the Communists were engaged in troop movements inside Manchuria in violation of the truce signed January 10.

By BEVERLY R. YOUNG

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 19 (AP)—The nation's 250,000 organized telephone workers set up the machinery for a coast-to-coast strike today to be set in motion when "all avenues" of peaceful negotiation are closed.

Joseph A. Beirne, 35-year-old president of the Independent National Federation of Telephone Workers, announced: "We will continue bargaining with the company and all efforts will be made to settle the dispute."

Beirne made his statement to newsmen shortly after the federation's fifty autonomous unions granted the executive board authority to call a nation strike whenever it "considers proper."

Vote Is Onesided

The resolution, adopted by a vote of 121,997 to 30,761, also directed that when a strike is called "all other affiliates respect all picket lines." Seven unions, representing 26,913 members, failed to vote.

The federation includes local and long distance operators, maintenance, construction, research and manufacturing employes.

Beirne said the telephone workers in further negotiations "might consider a re-discussion of their minimum wage demands in the light of the settlements in the steel and automobile industries."

Union demands, directed chiefly to the far-flung system of the American Telephone and Telephone Comgraph Company, are for a $10 weekly increase. A sixty-five cent hourly minimum rate and a return to the forty-hour week.

The A.T.&T. has reported offers to increase wages of all operators $5 a week and grant other employes raises ranging from $3 to $6.

Labor department statistics for November reported that telephone workers in all branches of the industry average a little more than $1 an hour.

Will Not Dilly Dally

A union spokesman said the current wage scale for operators is: in smaller towns, $18 to $20 weekly as a starting wage and $26 to $28 maximum; in larger towns, $24 to $26 as a starting wage and $38 maximum.

The resolution, empowering the executive board to call a general walkout, also gave the officials the right "to secure, if possible, a peaceful and satisfactory settlement of all disputes."

"If bargaining with the Bell system will prevent strike action," Beirne said, "we would be willing to bargain with them," adding "there is no indication that Bell is willing to bargain with us."

The youthful federation president asserted further that "there will be no dilly-dallying around on the strike questions."

Soap Nazis Made From Human Bodies Placed in Evidence

NEURENBERG, Feb. 19 (AP)—The Russian prosecution today charged the Nazis made soap from the bodies of their victims, and exhibited a ninety-minute film showing the mass murders of thousands of men, women and children.

Col. L. N. Smirnov, assistant Russian prosecutor, introduced at the trial of twenty-two leading Nazis an affidavit by a German assistant who said he had helped boil down the bodies, and who admitted using some of the soap.

The German assistant said a soap factory, located at Danzig, obtained its first bodies from a psychiatric hospital where the Nazis killed the mentally unfit.

Information about Spain Will Be Made Public by the United States

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP) — Secretary of State Byrnes disclosed today that the United States plans to make public information about Spain which it obtains from captured German documents.

He told a news conference that he could not say when such a publication would be issued.

Allied personnel are examining tons of the captured Nazi papers, he said. The United States report, he added, will deal with matters other than Spain.

Answering a series of questions dealing with the diplomatic situation in almost every quarter of the globe, Byrnes also made these reports:

1. There is no chance of establishing a civilian administration in the American zone of occupied Germany by June.

2. The United States will continue to ship tires, farm machinery and other equipment to Argentina.

He said this was being done because President Truman had requested Argentina to increase its shipments of wheat to Europe.

3. The United States has discussed separately with France, Russia, and Britain the question of splitting

Voters Split on Which Party Is Better Able To Handle Problems

Republicans Register Progress in Convincing Public It Can Take Care of Certain Matters Better than Democrats, Survey Reveals

By DR. GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., February 19—Which political party do voters of the country think is better able to handle such important problems as reducing strikes, encouraging new business, keeping wages and the farmers' income up, maintaining high profits for business, keeping taxes from getting too high?

More than 200 field reporters for the Institute have been probing voters and voter thinking on these issues during recent days. Questioned on which party is better able to handle eight different problems, voters give the Republicans the advantage on three, the Democrats the advantage on three, and neither party the advantage on the remaining two.

The weight of voter opinion is with the Republican party on such problems as keeping taxes from getting too high, keeping business profits up, and encouraging new business.

The Democratic party is given the edge on the handling of such problems as keeping workers' wages high, maintaining a high income for farmers, and the problems of world affairs.

GOP Makes Gains

It is a toss-up in the voters' minds as to which party would be better able to handle the job of reducing strikes and labor trouble and the job of running the government efficiently.

Since October, when a similar survey was made, the Republicans have made progress in convincing voters of their ability to handle the latter two problems. In the October survey, the Democrats held the advantage as the party better able to handle these problems.

The same thing holds true for the problem of keeping taxes from getting too high. While today, the weight of opinion favors the G.O.P., in October it favored the Democratic Party.

Voters in today's survey were asked:

"As you feel today, which political party—the Democratic or Republican—can handle each of these problems better?"

The problems and the votes:

Those in Which Democratic Party Has Advantage	Dem.	Rep.	No dif.
Dealing with world affairs	49%	28%	23%
Keeping wages high	60	21	19
Keeping farmers' income high	56	25	19

Those in Which G.O.P. Has Advantage	Dem.	Rep.	No dif.
Encouraging new business to start	36%	43%	21%
Keeping taxes from getting too high	32	44	24
Keeping business profits high	24	56	20

Those in Which Opinion is Evening Divided	Dem.	Rep.	No dif.
Reducing strikes and labor trouble	38%	36%	26%
Running the government efficiently	37	38	25

The opinion vote on these questions ranged from ten to fourteen per cent.

Opinions Differ

While the Republican party has registered some gains in the above questions since October, the findings underline the Republican party problem for convincing the voters that it represents primarily the interests of the common man.

Voters incline to think that the Republican party is the one to handle the problems having to do with business and finance. The Democratic party is viewed as the one better able to keep wages up for workers and income up for farmers; it is thus viewed as primarily the party which represents the people.

An earlier poll showed that only one in very ten questioned throughout the country felt that the below-average income people are the main interest of the Republican party. A majority—fifty-seven per cent—felt it is largely interested in the people of above-average income.

Income Tax Primer

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP) — Most wage earners with the income of less than $5,000 will use their withholding receipts as 1945 income tax returns because they are easy to make out.

A comparatively few less-than-$5,000 wage earners with unusually large deductions can save tax money by using the long form 1040 as a return. However, a vast majority will pay less tax if they use the withholding receipts or the short form 1040. These two simplified returns automatically provide deductions amounting to ten per cent of income.

So unless you can claim deductions amounting to more than ten per cent of your income, there's no point in using the long form as a return. Deductions are allowed for certain kinds of taxes, interest, charitable contributions, losses from fire, storm and theft, and extraordinary medical expenses.

On the long form you may itemize and claim all allowable deductions. So if they amount to more than ten per cent of your income, you probably will save money by using the long form.

When Congress provided the automatic deduction of ten per cent for use on the short form and withholding receipt, it was estimated that eight out of ten taxpayers ordinarily do not have allowable deductions totaling more than ten per cent of their income.

A few wage-earners can save on their tax by using the short form 1040 instead of the withholding receipts. They are persons who in connection with their work have traveling expenses and "reimbursed expenses". These traveling expenses and "reimbursed expenses" may be deducted on the short form to reduce taxable income.

You itemize actual traveling and "reimbursed expenses" on a separate sheet of paper, subtract from your total pay and allowances for expenses, etc., and enter the balance as your income in Item 2 of form 1040. You attach the itemized list to your return.

You are not allowed to deduct any expenses on the withholding receipt.

Welfare Obligations Decreased in January

BALTIMORE, Feb. 19 (AP)—Obligations incurred by the state department of welfare decreased slightly in January, but generally remained in the vicinity of the reconversion peak reached in December, figures released today by J. Milton Patterson, director, indicated.

The January figure for all types of public assistance was $715,332, or a drop of $4,930 from December.

The sharp increase in the department's caseload for December caused Patterson to predict a half-million dollar deficit for the fiscal year if the trend continued.

Additional money was subsequently made available to the department from the governor's emergency fund by the board of public works to avert the threatened deficit.

The January statistics showed decreased expenditures for old age assistance, public assistance to the needy blind, and foster home care.

Small increases were made in expenditures for aid to dependent children and general public assistance.

No Agreement Here With Mr. Kent

THIS NEWSPAPER cannot find agreement with the assertion by Frank R. Kent, "Baltimore Sun" columnist, that the Pauley-Ickes business will blow over in due time and be forgotten with no more resulting damage to the Truman administration than the incident of Eddie (Paving Blocks) Flynn was to Mr. Roosevelt.

It is not the kind of thing that can be "blown over" and it will not be forgotten, nor will the notorious Flynn incident be forgotten in future political evaluations.

The Flynn incident was a blunder but it was glossed over by the Roosevelt administration because Mr. Roosevelt held the reins much tighter—and they were much strong-er reins. But the Pauley-Ickes case was a series of blunders, four in chief, and there will be many and loud repercussions if Pauley is pushed through and no fewer if he isn't.

Mr. Truman blundered four times in this case and the way things look he is about to add to the number. First, there was the nomination of Pauley to be undersecretary of the navy with prospects of his becoming navy secretary. Second, there was the mistake of pressing for confirmation after opposition developed in Congress and the people had time to think over the thing. Third, there was the disparagement of Mr. Ickes with the abrupt and discourteous acceptance of the latter's logical resignation. Then, fourth, there was the error of Mr. Truman's avoidance of consultation with Mr. Ickes after the latter's testimony about Pauley.

As one commentator has noted, that is a record of mistakes hard to equal and a sequence that ends in a blow to public confidence not easily underestimated. Right now efforts are being made to unearth the advisers responsible for it. Democratic senators are credited with more political intelligence than to condone such a series of blunders. The suspicion is that it was the work of "the Missouri crowd" of politicians and the inevitable result of Mr. Truman's provincialism with respect to home-state selections.

But, wherever the blame rests, the incident is not as Mr. Kent suggests, something that will soon be forgotten. In fact, we shall hear much more about it and of a nature that will not make good listening for Democratic ears.

The Unity Essential For Securing Peace

THIS is Brotherhood week—in the new atomic age. Here is a challenge worthy of Americans. Can we work together with our neighbors at home and abroad, and enjoy an era of peace and prosperity such as the world has ever known? Or shall we muff the peace and plunge the world into complete destruction? In a few months or years we may no longer have the choice. Just now it's still up to us.

We know we must get along with other nations, in spite of the fact that their languages, their customs, and even their political systems are different from our own. This may not be as difficult as it sounds. For friendship begins at home, and America is a great laboratory. We have already learned to understand and respect many different people—the neighbors down the block who attend a different church, the folks on the next street who use strange seasonings in their food, the little colored boy with equal educational opportunity.

War brought the people of this country closer together than ever before. We worked together, Catholic, Protestant and Jew; white, black and yellow; native and foreign-born. Together we defeated the enemy in spite of every effort to divide us. As President Truman puts it: "The armies of the United Nations won a conclusive victory over the forces of tyranny which exploited racial and religious hatred to divide the world and destroy freedom."

Brotherhood week reminds us that we must maintain this unity if we are to win the peace. The conquest of the atom heralds unheard-of-wonders—or swift and total destruction. Tomorow we will live in "one world—or none." Either we work together as equal citizens of that world, or there will be nothing left to work in.

What world-citizenship can mean is demonstrated in the realm of medicine where the practical benefits of brotherhood are felt by every one of us. An Englishman developed the vaccination for smallpox; a French chemist produced the cure for rabies; the discoveries of a Japanese and a German guard our children from diphtheria; pellagra is being cured today because of the researches of an Austrian. These men—and thousands like them of every race and creed—never thought in terms of national boundaries, religious groupings or racial differences. They were servants of all mankind.

Such is the harvest of brotherhood—the only harvest that can bring us lasting peace.

Callous Disregard Of the Public

NO ONE in the current industrial mess has said "the public be damned" in so many words, as a railroad tycoon once exclaimed when needled by a pestiferous interviewer. But actions speak louder than words. In the present situation there is a singularly callous disregard of the public interest.

One of the basic human rights is the right to work and earn a living. By tying up strategic industries and refusing to yield even if the difference in the dispute is only a penny an hour, thousands connected with the dispute are made idle daily.

In big cities the transportation of the inhabitants has been blockaded, their fuel supplies shut off, medical aid and hospitalization impeded, the cutting off of electrical power threatened or actually accomplished, and a general interference with public utilities practiced which results in inconvenience and menace to the public health. Goods for which the public has long waited are tied up in quarrels which could have been settled long ago and in which there is little if any merit.

The public is long-suffering. But there is still more of it than there is of any high-pressure minority. And the public, when it is the victim of a "be damned" policy, usually wakes up. This is still a republic, many persons hope, and in a practicing republic the majority doesn't eternally get the dirty end of the deal.

Maj. De Seversky and The Atomic Bomb

MAJ. ALEXANDER P. De SEVERSKY continues strong in the belief that the atomic bomb isn't what it has been cracked up to be and that people have been unduly frightened over it.

Recently in "Reader's Digest" he set forth these views following a personal inspection of the damage caused at Hiroshima and Nagasaki, where he was unable to find no evidence of buildings destroyed instantly by tremendous heat, as has been destroyed.

Now Maj. De Seversky expresses doubts that a bomb of the same type exploded at equivalent height over a fleet would do material damage.

If an atomic bomb hit a battleship directly it probably would destroy it, the aviation expert told the Senate Atomic committee. He added, however, that a conventional high explosive bomb also could sink a battleship with a direct hit.

De Seversky said the atomic bomb "is not as fantastic as most people imagine," and that there appears to be "considerable hysteria" about the been reported.

"We should keep our feet on the ground and approach it in a more sensible way," he commented.

Certainly, he said, if an atomic bomb were to drop on either New York or Chicago not all inhabitants would be wiped out.

Many hope the major is right about all this and that the atomic bomb is not the destroyer it has been supposed to be. But even so, there are the fearful possibilities involved—bigger and better (if that is a proper word) atomic bombs can now be made.

Clothing That Should Be on Men's Backs

THAT price is at the bottom of much of the trouble about supply in the country today—and will continue to be until competitive price fixing is restored—is indicated by a survey showing that 750,000 men's suits are in warehouses awaiting OPA price concessions.

Clothing industry unions were granted two wage increases, one of nine per cent which was absorbed by the industry and another of twenty-three per cent which the industry says it can not absorb.

The suits are made and ready for the market. Veterans returning home from war cannot buy satisfactory civilian garb. Manufacturers refuse to take a loss on the garments.

OPA directives so effectively place a brake upon the incentive to produce in so many instances that production will likely continue to be inadequate in those fields until there is some correction or the system of free competition and enterprise is restored. But some measure of control will be essential until supply catches up with demand.

Democratic big-wigs must be pretty well scared over the party outlook in view of the remark by Senator Tom Connally that "of course Ickes's resignation is going to hurt the party. From now on the loss of even one vote hurts." That is certainly a come-down from the customary Democratic forecast.

Maybe the Senate in confirming George E. Allen as a director of the RFC, thus giving him official status in the administration, felt that a wisecracker was needed to fill in the gap now existing in administration circles occasioned by the passing of its most famous one.

FRIENDLINESS

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

I know of no other pursuit that pays so great a dividend in hope, happiness, and perhaps, in heaven itself, than our everyday Friendliness. I look upon it as man's greatest asset. If it could only be made a universal virtue—and applied by all, what a world we would make it! That one triumph would forever solve the atomic bomb business—because no one would fear it.

Nothing is more natural, or inborn, than this Friendliness. It is all through Nature. Be alone in the forest, or in some beautiful isolated spot, and before you know it, there will appear friendly birds and creatures of the wild, gathering about you, just to offer and to gain, this Friendliness.

For years I have experienced this at my summer Nova Scotia island retreat. Each year I return to my little friends, the red squirrels, and they remember me by immediately taking peanuts from my hands and sitting on my knee to enjoy them. Many times I have gone to my workshop, half a mile from the Lodge, hardly arriving before one of the more friendly ones, would be there, and up on my bench!

We seek out those of our kind who are friendly. They nourish us in many a way. They boost our spirit. They add to our appreciation of all things beautiful and wholesome. They add zest to whatever we do.

Friendliness is not only spoken, it is felt. And Friendliness that is felt is the most wonderful. It doesn't have to be explained. It's just there, and it flows right through you. Henry Ford once said of a friend of his: "You are being led, I feel it. You have faith, I feel it. You have God in you, I feel it."

We know our friends the moment we meet them, though never before contacted. Like water immediately mixing with water, and being one, so with Friendliness—it becomes a part of all Friendliness.

We must be a friend in order to attract one. Then it is that Friendliness blossoms and blooms! And it radiates in all directions. So often you hear the phrase: "What a lot of friends he has!" That's just the evidence that he is one.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Canadian Spy Story "Broke" when Russia Ordered Agent Home, Drew Pearson Says

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19. — The leak which sprang the big spy story in Canada came when the Soviet ordered home one of its agents. He had been in Canada for some time, had come to like Canadians, and was not sympathetic with certain Soviet tactics.

He suspected also that his government was aware of his changed viewpoint and that this was the reason for his abrupt order to return. Soviet officials suspected of straying from the narrow path sometime have been liquidated following their return, and this may have influenced the agent's confession.

This particular agent was fortunate in having his family with him in Canada. If they had been in Russia they would have been subject to retaliation. Therefore he surrendered himself to Canadian authorities and revealed one of the most amazing networks of foreign intrigue in recent history. British secret intelligence worked for weeks in tracking down every segment of information. Special agents were even sent from Washington and London.

Since then, the Russian has been in constant custody of the Canadian mouted police. His whereabouts are kept a strict secret, and he has been moved frequently from one place to another.

The Canadians want no repetition of the case in which Krivitsky, former high official in the Soviet secret service, was found murdered in a hotel near the Union station in Washington, D. C. He had made the unforgiveable mistake of writing his memoirs for the Saturday Evening Post.

Forrestal Forgot

Secretary of the Navy Forrestal made one error when he issued his statement supporting Ed Pauley and saying that President Roosevelt originally wanted Pauley appointed. The mistake was that he had forgotten several talks he had with congressmen some time ago, in which he expressed himself as 100 per cent opposed to Pauley.

What happened, according to the story Forrestal told congressmen, was that after the last elections Pauley had asked FDR to appoint him secretary of the navy. FDR countered that he thought Forrestal was doing a good job, whereupon Pauley hastened to explain that he would be quite willing to become undersecretary of the navy, serving under Forrestal.

When Roosevelt discussed the matter with Forrestal, the latter was vigorously opposed. He had favored Charles Thomas, Los Angeles, an executive of a clothing chain, as his undersecretary, but, because of West coast congressional opposition, later proposed his old Wall street friend, Struve Hensel.

And despite Forrestal's statement to the press favoring Pauley, close friends say Hensel is still his personal candidate for the job which Truman wants to give Ed Pauley. The admirals, however, are against Hensel, fearing he will institute certain unpopular reforms, including the appointment of a civilian as judge advocate.

While Forrestal may have told Truman at Potsdam that he was "agreeable" to Pauley as undersecretary, there is no question but that he said the opposite to congressional friends.

In fact, while lunching with Secretary Ickes very recently, Forrestal asked:

"Are you going to fight Pauley?"

"I won't initiate anything," replied Ickes, "but I'll tell the truth, and it won't help him much."

"That's about the way I feel," replied the secretary of the Navy.

Undemocratic Mr. Adamson

It was two Republicans, Gerald Landis, of Indiana, and Karl Mundt, of South Dakota, who did most to put the skids under letter-writing Ernie Adamson, "undemocratic" counsel of the House Un-American Activities committee.

At a closed-door session of the committee, Landis demanded that Adamson produce a copy of a letter he had written to this columnist taking exception to the use of the phrase "make democracy live."

"I understand that Mr. Adamson has written a letter to Drew Pearson taking exception to his use of the phrase 'make democracy live.' I wonder if the members of the committee might be privileged to see the letter Mr. Adamson has written in their name."

The letter was produced. Whereupon it developed that no member of the committee had ever seen it.

"If things like this are going to happen," remarked Rep. Landis, "we'll have to keep closer watch on our counsel. I, for one, have never been in favor of running this committee like the Dies committee."

Chairman Wood, of Georgia, emphatically agreed with Landis, adding that he, too, had been disturbed by "Adamson's letter to Pearson."

Landis then moved that all future letters be approved by the chairman or someone else authorized to speak for the committee. This was unanimously agreed.

Note—Congressman Mundt, of South Dakota, while not present at this meeting, also took occasion to rebuke Adamson vigorously.

Capital Chaff

Henry Kaiser is up in arms over the strange fact that the RFC is delaying the sale of government aluminum plants to United States independent companies so as to give a Dutch and a Swiss company, allied with American smelting, time to bid on them .... Assistant Secretary of the Navy John Sullivan, who was passed over when Truman appointed Ed Pauley, will soon resign. A good man lost for the hottest political potato in Washington.... Sgt. Al Schmidt, whose heroism on Guadalcanal was the inspiration for last year's fine movie, "Pride of the Marines," will be the Democratic candidate for the state Senate from the Eighth senatorial district of Pennsylvania. Schmidt, blinded while he and two other marines held off and killed over 800 Japs to stall a night attack on Guadalcanal, will be a running-mate of Congressman Bill Green, another ex-GI.

Negro Vote Wavers

The politicians will tell you that political events are cumulative. In other words, one event won't lose an election, but several of them taken together, will.

For instance, both Democratic and Republican politicoes agree that Mrs. Truman's "why not?" crack about the race question and the DAR, in itself would not lose her husband the negro vote.

But when this event is followed by the southern filibuster against FEPC and the exit of Harold Ickes, chief negro champion of the old Roosevelt administration, then the picture changes.

Millions of negroes remember the day when Ickes invited Marian Anderson to sing on the steps of the Lincoln Memorial after the DAR had turned her down. They know of Ickes's appointment of a negro governor to the Virgin islands, which southern senators are now blocking, and his many speeches in negro centers during crucial days of past campaigns.

Result of all these events: Even more optimistic Democrats will admit that the strategic negro vote which once went solid for Roosevelt has now slipped to the GOP column.

Note — Politicans warned the White House that Sen. Joe O'Mahoney's record on the race question would hurt his appointment as secretary of the interior. O'Mahoney voted against the anti-lynching bill, against the anti-poll tax bill, and against stopping the FEPC filibuster.

NEW IN CONGRESS

ATTORNEY MRS. HELEN DOUGLAS MANKIN, 49, of Atlanta, Ga., has the distinction of being the first woman to represent the state of Georgia in the United States House of Representatives. She defeated seventeen men candidates to succeed Robert Ramspeck. He resigned his seat in the House to accept an executive position with the aviation industry.

Wallace's Espousal Of Steel Is Seen As Opening Wedge

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

Henry A. Wallace, secretary of commerce, has come out for the election to Congress of Johannes Steel, left wing radio commentator. The Communists and their mouthpiece, the New York Daily Worker, are helping Henry campaign for him. Or Henry is helping them.

The election is to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Samuel Dickstein from Congress to become a judge. Steel is running on the American Labor party ticket in the lower East Side New York district. His Democratic opponent is former Congressman Arthur G. Klein, and his Republican foe is Lieut. William S. Shea.

Drive Suspected

So, here we have a cabinet member appointed by President Truman coming out against the candidate of the Democratic party. Is this the opening wedge of a drive to nominate Wallace in 1948? "Climb out of our holes with Wallace and Bowles!"

Steel, as I said, is running for Congress with the help of Henry, Congressman Marcantonio, the "Abraham Lincoln" Brigade (which "fought" in the Spanish Civil war), and various pinks, reds, blacks and whites.

His campaign slogan is: "Put Steel in the Spine of Congress." Not bad. But by this he means forcing Congress to adopt the entire C.I.O., P.A.C. program, if not much more. He says we must prevent the "remnants of fascism from crawling out of their rat holes." (Explanation: in Steel's lingo anyone who opposes Communism of the New Deal is a "fascist.") He says, "the fumbling of the Truman administration at this time can become a catastrophe." Yet Wallace, a member of the Truman cabinet, supports Truman's critic. Figure it out!

"Leak" Is Recalled

Remember, too, that one of Wallace's hired hands "leaked" a flock of figures that set off the strike demands last fall for higher wages to be paid out of profits, not without honor save in their own country!

A few years back Henry wrote a book, "America Must Choose." He is still choosing and his present choice is Steel, which in Russian means "Stalin." Meantime, while urging Communist-supported congressmen who would liquidate business, Henry is asking Congress to tax us for tens of millions of dollars more to build up his department of Commerce as the friend of little business, new business, not busy-enough-business, and all poor souls who need a friend in business-like Washington.

Is Mr. Truman in the "middle of a swift stream," as Dr. Wirt once said of Truman's predecessor?

Then, as another part of the puzzle, consider Curmudgeon Harold Ickes breaking a lance (or harpoon) for Truth, Honor, and Right in the innards of Mr. Truman's nominee for under-secretary of the navy, Edwin W. Pauley. In his most impish, crimpy and screwmatic manner, Mr. Ickes said that Mr. Pauley said it would be real nice and worth $300,000 to the Democratic war chest if Ickes dampened his passion for justice by not filing suit against California and divers oil companies with respect to tide water petroleum. As the Navy department has lots to do with oil since Teapot Dome days, Ickes implies that this underwater oil would not be quite safe in the hands of Under-Secretary Pauley. Too underhanded all around, he thinks.

In justice to Pauley, he denies said allegations and opines that the allegator, Ickes, defectively remembers something that was never said on land or sea. Anyway, Mr. Roosevelt, who first selected Pauley, was the godfather of the "$1,000 Club," whose members were to have the privilege of being consulted by the chief on matters of great pith and moment.

So, it may be nothing but good clean fun between two equally honest politicians. But there are those who think they see nothing funny under Truman's bed. Hon. Ickes and Hon. Wallace are the New Deal's Old Guard. The Curmudgeon will be 74 in 1948, but Hon. Wallace will be at the zippy age of 60, and with lots of Steel injected in the Spine of Congress, Henry's frustrated youth (in 1944) may bloom and blossom once again, especially if he works with the Daily Worker.

Spy System Is Not Confined to Russia, Lawrence Reminds

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—There's an old saying that people in glass houses shouldn't throw stones. The American people can hardly blame the Russians for their efforts to ferret out secrets from the Canadian government or any other government when the United States government is making preparations to use a world-wide spy system itself. The use of espionage in wartime has always been recognized as on a parity with the other deviations from a moral code between enemy countries but the concept of peaceful nations spying on one another when they are supposed to be friendly is something that cannot be denounced just when it is applied by Russia.

The plans of the American government are no less ambitious than those of other governments today. A world-wide spy system for the United States has actually been advocated before congressional committees and undoubtedly government funds will be provided for the purpose.

War Habits Cling

The extent to which the habits of the war period are carrying over to peacetime is no better illustrated than in the plan of the American government to enter the propaganda field and spread our officially colored views in all parts of the world. The recent controversy between the press associations and the department of State as to the supply of news to the department to be incorporated in its foreign broadcasts is really of secondary importance compared to the openly announced purpose of the Washington government to conduct an official propaganda machine.

There are some observers who see little difference between the communist and fascist propaganda machines, on the one hand, which in the last decade or more have received optional sanction by governments in Europe and the plan of the American government likewise to adopt propaganda methods so as to put across a certain viewpoint in foreign lands.

Integrity Involves Separation

But it will be contended that it is essential to get the American viewpoint known in foreign countries and that the American news agencies do not penetrate all countries. These American news associations have built up a reputation for integrity—and integrity means complete separation from the influence of any government or from the receiving of governments funds.

In the few places in the world where the American press associations do not cover, and indeed in all countries, there is no reason why American embassies and legations should not furnish to newspapers there copies of all official texts and any information needed by the press to answer questions concerning American policies.

But this is a far different thing from a propaganda broadcast in which the United States government agencies would be sending out certain statements which the listener could be asked to believe are authentic and which, if presented between bulletins of the press associations, could hurt the prestige of news disseminating companies by creating the impression that the Goebbel's technique has finally prevailed in the democratic countries.

Editorial Work Unnecessary

Plenty of information about the United States can be distributed through official channels, but there is no necessity for the American government to go into the business of distributing news or of giving out interpretations of news which it will not sponsor officially. During the war, broadcasts of an editorial nature were written to influence opinion in foreign countries and psychological warfare, as it was then called, was generally conceded to be desirable as a means of stirring up revolt in enemy countries and shortening the war.

But in peacetime it is not the function of the American government to attempt to influence public opinion in other countries through the questionable methods of broadcast propaganda which the United States itself so often has denounced whether it emanated from Moscow or Berlin.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

If you want to furnish your home, get a new car, an electric toaster, a trip to Paris, a date with a chorus girl, new clothes, or even get married . . . just drop around to your nearest radio station. These days the programs are giving away everything but advertising agency vice-presidents!

The radio show of the future will probably just do away with all entertainment and for thirty minutes will broadcast nothing but the crinkling sound of a studio audience stuffing their pockets full of twenty-dollar bills.

One program caused a little trouble by giving away nylon stockings. The first time they announced free nylons, 8,000 women listening at home tore up their loudspeakers trying to get at 'em.

And another show is giving away so many automobiles, the CIO started to organize the announcer.

And these days arbitious parents who want their children to have the better things in life don't encourage them to work hard and get into business or a profession . . . they just tell them to go out and get on "Take It or Leave It" or "Meet The Missus."

One program is actually giving away brides. Every week a couple is married with a sponsor. They have a real radio wedding. Instead of throwing rice the guests toss corn. (And it's a nice market for my old scripts.) The bride doesn't wear a regular train. As she starts down the aisle, the sound man turns on a recording of a train passing through Kansas City. And when the groom finally says, "I do," the minister shouts, "You've got your girl. Want to try for two?"

The Fine Art of the Apothecary has not been lost

● The old apothecary of other years was a mysterious and romantic figure. Under his magic influence roots, herbs, and minerals were turned into pills, extracts, and plasters. The doctor's prescriptions were filled, the patient's health and comfort restored. Although much of the mystery with which he was surrounded has vanished, the fine art of the apothecary has not been lost. A visit to our prescription department will convince the most skeptical that his function is an important adjunct to modern medical practice. Voters Split on Which Party Is Better Able To Handle Problems

Republicans Register Progress in Convincing Public It Can Take Care of Certain Matters Better than Democrats, Survey Reveals

By DR. GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., February 19—Which political party do voters of the country think is better able to handle such important problems as reducing strikes, encouraging new business, keeping wages and the farmers' income up, maintaining high profits for business, keeping taxes from getting too high?

More than 200 field reporters for the Institute have been probing voters and voter thinking on these issues during recent days. Questioned on which party is better able to handle eight different problems, voters give the Republicans the advantage on three, the Democrats the advantage on three, and neither party the advantage on the remaining two.

The weight of voter opinion is with the Republican party on such problems as keeping taxes from getting too high, keeping business profits up, and encouraging new business.

The Democratic party is given the edge on the handling of such problems as keeping workers' wages high, maintaining a high income for farmers, and the problems of world affairs.

GOP Makes Gains

It is a toss-up in the voters' minds as to which party would be better able to handle the job of reducing strikes and labor trouble and the job of running the government efficiently.

Since October, when a similar survey was made, the Republicans have made progress in convincing voters of their ability to handle the latter two problems. In the October survey, the Democrats held the advantage as the party better able to handle these problems.

The same thing holds true for the problem of keeping taxes from getting too high. While today, the weight of opinion favors the G.O.P., in October it favored the Democratic Party.

Voters in today's survey were asked:

"As you feel today, which political party—the Democratic or Republican—can handle each of these problems better?"

The problems and the votes:

Those in Which Democratic Party Has Advantage	Dem.	Rep.	No dif.
Dealing with world affairs	49%	28%	23%
Keeping wages high	60	21	19
Keeping farmers' income high	56	25	19

Those in Which G.O.P. Has Advantage	Dem.	Rep.	No dif.
Encouraging new business to start	36%	43%	21%
Keeping taxes from getting too high	32	44	24
Keeping business profits high	24	56	20

Those in Which Opinion is Evening Divided	Dem.	Rep.	No dif.
Reducing strikes and labor trouble	38%	36%	26%
Running the government efficiently	37	38	25

Opinions Differ

While the Republican party has registered some gains in the above questions since October, the findings underline the Republican party problem for convincing the voters that it represents primarily the interests of the common man.

Voters incline to think that the Republican party is the one to handle the problems having to do with business and finance. The Democratic party is viewed as the one better able to keep wages up for workers and income up for farmers; it is thus viewed as primarily the party which represents the people.

An earlier poll showed that only one in very ten questioned throughout the country felt that the below-average income people are the main interest of the Republican party. A majority—fifty-seven per cent—felt it is largely interested in the people of above-average income.

Trapper Ambrose Catches 40 Foxes

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Feb. 19 (AP)—Outfoxing the foxes is an old habit of Trapper F. S. Ambrose.

Coming up with one of the largest fox catches by a single individual in the history of Washington county—a total of forty red and grey pelts since October—Ambrose has pocketed $80 in bounties awarded by the board of county commissioners.

He collected his haul on and around the preserve of the Woodmont Rod and Gun Club where during the same period he also trapped 105 skunks and two mink.

Known himself as "Mr. Fox," Ambrose uses a special bait which he describes as a combination of cat meat and a potent concoction he mixes himself. From a distance of several thousand feet, Bre'r Fox finds himself irresistably attracted to the trap, Ambrose declares — and then it's too late.

Henry P. Bridges, secretary-treasurer of the Woodmont club, describing the menace of the foxes, said that during the past year, they had killed 1,700 quail, 1,000 cock muttant pheasants, 125 chickens, twelve muscovy ducks, a large number of young turkeys and cleaned the preserve of rabbits.

MEANS OF INCREASING SHAD PRODUCTION DISCUSSED BY OFFICIALS

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 19—(AP)—State and federal officials got together today to prepare tentative plans for tackling research on Maryland waters fish—especially on means of increasing shad production.

Members of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service and state fisheries officials settled among other things a program for tagging shad en route to their river spawning beds.

A board of natural resources spokesman said that preliminary studies indicated that since 1941 when the state restricted the number of shad nets to fishermen, the number of shad escaping to spawn in the rivers had increased.

The nature of the problem of production, he said was shown in shad catch figures.

In 1890 approximately 12,000,000 pounds of shad were caught in state waters, while in 1940 this poundage had dropped to approximately 500,000.

With each return to the spawning ground, the weight of the shad increases considerably, the spokesman said, so that although the same number of fish may be caught in two years, the year in which the older shad are caught yields greater food products.

Now the federal and state agencies have decided to pool their research ideas for a full scale attack on the problem of producing more shad. Further conferences will be held to round out the program which had its beginning today.

Gain Is Shown In Tax Receipts

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19—(AP)—Treasury department figures today showed a gain of more than $30,500,000 in income tax receipts for Maryland and District of Columbia during the calendar year 1945 over 1944.

A total of $981,483,642 was collected last year, as against $950,841,912 in 1944.

Other combined figures for Maryland and the district were:

Corporation income taxes: Normal and surtaxes $94,328,810; excess profits taxes $229,154,640.

Miscellaneous internal revenue: $242,731,778.

Employment taxes: $44,888,497.

The total of all collections for Maryland and the district in 1945 was $1,269,103,919, as compared with $1,223,881,572 in 1944.

Railroad Merger Is Approved by Directors

CLEVELAND, Feb. 19—(AP)—Directors of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway and the Pere Marquette railway, meeting here today, unanimously approved and signed an agreement of merger embodying the terms and conditions for uniting the two roads.

The boards also named Robert J. Bowman to be president of the combined C. and O.-Pere Marquette railway upon consummation of the merger. He would succeed Carl E. Newton, who last month announced his resignation as C. and O. president to return to the practice of law which he left in 1942 to head the C. and O. in the war emergency.

Newton's resignation becomes effective at the company's annual meeting April 23, when the merger agreement will be submitted to C. and O. stockholders.

No Agreement Here With Mr. Kent

THIS NEWSPAPER cannot find agreement with the assertion by Frank R. Kent, "Baltimore Sun" columnist, that the Pauley-Ickes business will blow over in due time and be forgotten with no more resulting damage to the Truman administration than the incident of Eddie (Paving Blocks) Flynn was to Mr. Roosevelt.

It is not the kind of thing that can be "blown over" and it will not be forgotten, nor will the notorious Flynn incident be forgotten in future political evaluations.

The Flynn incident was a blunder but it was glossed over by the Roosevelt administration because Mr. Roosevelt held the reins much tighter—and they were much stronger reins. But the Pauley-Ickes case was a series of blunders, four in chief, and there will be many and loud repercussions if Pauley is pushed through and no fewer if he isn't.

Mr. Truman blundered four times in this case and the way things look he is about to add to the number. First, there was the nomination of Pauley to be undersecretary of the navy with prospects of his becoming navy secretary. Second, there was the mistake of pressing for confirmation after opposition developed in Congress and the people had time to think over the thing. Third, there was the disparagement of Mr. Ickes with the abrupt and discourteous acceptance of the latter's logical resignation. Then, fourth, there was the error of Mr. Truman's avoidance of consultation with Mr. Ickes after the latter's testimony about Pauley.

As one commentator has noted, that is a record of mistakes hard to equal and a sequence that ends in a blow to public confidence not easily underestimated. Right now efforts are being made to unearth the advisers responsible for it. Democratic senators are credited with more political intelligence than to condone such a series of blunders. The suspicion is that it was the work of "the Missouri crowd" of politicians and the inevitable result of Mr. Truman's provincialism with respect to home-state selections.

But, wherever the blame rests, the incident is not as Mr. Kent suggests, something that will soon be forgotten. In fact, we shall hear much more about it and of a nature that will not make good listening for Democratic ears.

The Unity Essential For Securing Peace

THIS is Brotherhood week—in the new atomic age. Here is a challenge worthy of Americans. Can we work together with our neighbors at home and abroad, and enjoy an era of peace and prosperity such as the world has ever known? Or shall we muff the peace and plunge the world into complete destruction? In a few months or years we may no longer have the choice. Just now it's still up to us.

We know we must get along with other nations, in spite of the fact that their languages, their customs, and even their political systems are different from our own. This may not be as difficult as it sounds. For friendship begins at home, and America is a great laboratory. We have already learned to understand and respect many different people—the neighbors down the block who attend a different church, the folks on the next street who use strange seasonings in their food, the little colored boy with equal educational opportunity.

War brought the people of this country closer together than ever before. We worked together, Catholic, Protestant and Jew; white, black and yellow; native and foreign-born. Together we defeated the enemy in spite of every effort to divide us. As President Truman puts it: "The armies of the United Nations won a conclusive victory over the forces of tyranny which exploited racial and religious hatred to divide the world and destroy freedom."

Brotherhood week reminds us that we must maintain this unity if we are to win the peace. The conquest of the atom heralds unheard-of-wonders—or swift and total destruction. Tomorow we will live in "one world—or none." Either we work together as equal citizens of that world, or there will be nothing left to work in.

What world-citizenship can mean is demonstrated in the realm of medicine where the practical benefits of brotherhood are felt by every one of us. An Englishman developed the vaccination for smallpox; a French chemist produced the cure for rabies; the discoveries of a Japanese and a German guard our children from diphtheria; pellagra is being cured today because of the researches of an Austrian. These men—and thousands like them of every race and creed—never thought in terms of national boundaries, religious groupings or racial differences. They were servants of all mankind.

Such is the harvest of brotherhood—the only harvest that can bring us lasting peace.

Callous Disregard Of the Public

NO ONE in the current industrial mess has said "the public be damned" in so many words, as a railroad tycoon once exclaimed when needled by a pestiferous interviewer. But actions speak louder than words. In the present situation there is a singularly callous disregard of the public interest.

One of the basic human rights is the right to work and earn a living. By tying up strategic industries and refusing to yield even if the difference in the dispute is only a penny an hour, thousands connected with the dispute are made idle daily.

In big cities the transportation of the inhabitants has been blockaded, their fuel supplies shut off, medical aid and hospitalization impeded, the cutting off of electrical power threatened or actually accomplished, and a general interference with public utilities practiced which results in inconvenience and menace to the public health. Goods for which the public has long waited are tied up in quarrels which could have been settled long ago and in which there is little if any merit.

The public is long-suffering. But there is still more of it than there is of any high-pressure minority. And the public, when it is the victim of a "be damned" policy, usually wakes up. This is still a republic, many persons hope, and in a practicing republic the majority doesn't eternally get the dirty end of the deal.

Maj. De Seversky and The Atomic Bomb

MAJ. ALEXANDER P. De SEVERSKY continues strong in the belief that the atomic bomb isn't what it has been cracked up to be and that people have been unduly frightened over it.

Recently in "Reader's Digest" he set forth these views following a personal inspection of the damage caused at Hiroshima and Nagasaki, where he was unable to find no evidence of buildings destroyed instantly by tremendous heat, as has been destroyed.

Now Maj. De Seversky expresses doubts that a bomb of the same type exploded at equivalent height over a fleet would do material damage.

If an atomic bomb hit a battleship directly it probably would destroy it, the aviation expert told the Senate Atomic committee. He added, however, that a conventional high explosive bomb also could sink a battleship with a direct hit.

De Seversky said the atomic bomb "is not as fantastic as most people imagine," and that there appears to be "considerable hysteria" about the been reported.

"We should keep our feet on the ground and approach it in a more sensible way," he commented.

Certainly, he said, if an atomic bomb were to drop on either New York or Chicago not all inhabitants would be wiped out.

Many hope the major is right about all this and that the atomic bomb is not the destroyer it has been supposed to be. But even so, there are the fearful possibilities involved—bigger and better (if that is a proper word) atomic bombs can now be made.

Clothing That Should Be on Men's Backs

THAT price is at the bottom of much of the trouble about supply in the country today—and will continue to be until competitive price fixing is restored—is indicated by a survey showing that 750,000 men's suits are in warehouses awaiting OPA price concessions.

Clothing industry unions were granted two wage increases, one of nine per cent which was absorbed by the industry and another of twenty-three per cent which the industry says it can not absorb.

The suits are made and ready for the market. Veterans returning home from war cannot buy satisfactory civilian garb. Manufacturers refuse to take a loss on the garments.

OPA directives so effectively place a brake upon the incentive to produce in so many instances that production will likely continue to be inadequate in those fields until there is some correction or the system of free competition and enterprise is restored. But some measure of control will be essential until supply catches up with demand.

Democratic big-wigs must be pretty well scared over the party outlook in view of the remark by Senator Tom Connally that "of course Ickes's resignation is going to hurt the party. From now on the loss of even one vote hurts." That is certainly a come-down from the customary Democratic forecast.

Maybe the Senate in confirming George E. Allen as a director of the RFC, thus giving him official status in the administration, felt that a wisecracker was needed to fill in the gap now existing in administration circles occasioned by the passing of its most famous one.

FRIENDLINESS

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

I know of no other pursuit that pays so great a dividend in hope, happiness, and perhaps, in heaven itself, than our everyday Friendliness. I look upon it as man's greatest asset. If it could only be made a universal virtue—and applied by all, what a world we would make it! That one triumph would forever solve the atomic bomb business—because no one would fear it.

Nothing is more natural, or inborn, than this Friendliness. It is all through Nature. Be alone in the forest, or in some beautiful isolated spot, and before you know it, there will appear friendly birds and creatures of the wild, gathering about you, just to offer and to gain, this Friendliness.

For years I have experienced this at my summer Nova Scotia island retreat. Each year I return to my little friends, the red squirrels, and they remember me by immediately taking peanuts from my hands and sitting on my knee to enjoy them. Many times I have gone to my workshop, half a mile from the Lodge, hardly arriving before one of the more friendly ones, would be there, and up on my bench!

We seek out those of our kind who are friendly. They nourish us in many a way. They boost our spirit. They add to our appreciation of all things beautiful and wholesome. They add zest to whatever we do.

Friendliness is not only spoken, it is felt. And Friendliness that is felt is the most wonderful. It doesn't have to be explained. It's just there, and it flows right through you. Henry Ford once said of a friend of his: "You are being led, I feel it. You have faith, I feel it. You have God in you, I feel it."

We know our friends the moment we meet them, though never before contacted. Like water immediately mixing with water, and being one, so with Friendliness—it becomes a part of all Friendliness.

We must be a friend in order to attract one. Then it is that Friendliness blossoms and blooms! And it radiates in all directions. So often you hear the phrase: "What a lot of friends he has!" That's just the evidence that he is one.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19. — The leak which sprang the big spy story in Canada came when the Soviet ordered home one of its agents. He had been in Canada for some time, had come to like Canadians, and was not sympathetic with certain Soviet tactics.

He suspected also that his government was aware of his changed viewpoint and that this was the reason for his abrupt order to return. Soviet officials suspected of straying from the narrow path sometime have been liquidated following their return, and this may have influenced the agent's confession.

This particular agent was fortunate in having his family with him in Canada. If they had been in Russia they would have been subject to retaliation. Therefore he surrendered himself to Canadian authorities and revealed one of the most amazing networks of foreign intrigue in recent history. British secret intelligence worked for weeks in tracking down every segment of information. Special agents were even sent from Washington and London.

Since then, the Russian has been in constant custody of the Canadian mouted police. His whereabouts are kept a strict secret, and he has been moved frequently from one place to another.

The Canadians want no repetition of the case in which Krivitsky, former high official in the Soviet secret service, was found murdered in a hotel near the Union station in Washington, D. C. He had made the unforgiveable mistake of writing his memoirs for the Saturday Evening Post.

Forrestal Forgot

Secretary of the Navy Forrestal made one error when he issued his statement supporting Ed Pauley and saying that President Roosevelt originally wanted Pauley appointed. The mistake was that he had forgotten several talks he had with congressmen some time ago, in which he expressed himself as 100 per cent opposed to Pauley.

What happened, according to the story Forrestal told congressmen, was that after the last elections Pauley had asked FDR to appoint him secretary of the navy. FDR countered that he thought Forrestal was doing a good job, whereupon Pauley hastened to explain that he would be quite willing to become undersecretary of the navy, serving under Forrestal.

When Roosevelt discussed the matter with Forrestal, the latter was vigorously opposed. He had favored Charles Thomas, Los Angeles, an executive of a clothing chain, as his undersecretary, but, because of West coast congressional opposition, later proposed his old Wall street friend, Struve Hensel.

And despite Forrestal's statement to the press favoring Pauley, close friends say Hensel is still his personal candidate for the job which Truman wants to give Ed Pauley. The admirals, however, are against Hensel, fearing he will institute certain unpopular reforms, including the appointment of a civilian as judge advocate.

While Forrestal may have told Truman at Potsdam that he was "agreeable" to Pauley as undersecretary, there is no question but that he said the opposite to congressional friends.

In fact, while lunching with Secretary Ickes very recently, Forrestal asked:

"Are you going to fight Pauley?"

"I won't initiate anything," replied Ickes, "but I'll tell the truth, and it won't help him much."

"That's about the way I feel," replied the secretary of the Navy.

Undemocratic Mr. Adamson

It was two Republicans, Gerald Landis, of Indiana, and Karl Mundt, of South Dakota, who did most to put the skids under letter-writing Ernie Adamson, "undemocratic" counsel of the House Un-American Activities committee.

At a closed-door session of the committee, Landis demanded that Adamson produce a copy of a letter he had written to this columnist taking exception to the use of the phrase "make democracy live."

"I understand that Mr. Adamson has written a letter to Drew Pearson taking exception to his use of the phrase 'make democracy live.' I wonder if the members of the committee might be privileged to see the letter Mr. Adamson has written in their name."

The letter was produced. Whereupon it developed that no member of the committee had ever seen it.

"If things like this are going to happen," remarked Rep. Landis, "we'll have to keep closer watch on our counsel. I, for one, have never been in favor of running this committee like the Dies committee."

Chairman Wood, of Georgia, emphatically agreed with Landis, adding that he, too, had been disturbed by "Adamson's letter to Pearson."

Landis then moved that all future letters be approved by the chairman or someone else authorized to speak for the committee. This was unanimously agreed.

Note—Congressman Mundt, of South Dakota, while not present at this meeting, also took occasion to rebuke Adamson vigorously.

Capital Chaff

Henry Kaiser is up in arms over the strange fact that the RFC is delaying the sale of government aluminum plants to United States independent companies so as to give a Dutch and a Swiss company, allied with American smelting, time to bid on them . . . . Assistant Secretary of the Navy John Sullivan, who was passed over when Truman appointed Ed Pauley, will soon resign. A good man lost for the hottest political potato in Washington. . . . Sgt. Al Schmidt, whose heroism on Guadalcanal was the inspiration for last year's fine movie, "Pride of the Marines," will be the Democratic candidate for the state Senate from the Eighth senatorial district of Pennsylvania. Schmidt, blinded while he and two other marines held off and killed over 800 Japs to stall a night attack on Guadalcanal, will be a running-mate of Congressman Bill Green, another ex-GI.

Negro Vote Wavers

The politicians will tell you that political events are cumulative. In other words, one event won't lose an election, but several of them taken together, will.

For instance, both Democratic and Republican politicoes agree that Mrs. Truman's "why not?" crack about the race question and the DAR, in itself would not lose her husband the negro vote.

But when this event is followed by the southern filibuster against FEPC and the exit of Harold Ickes, chief negro champion of the old Roosevelt administration, then the picture changes.

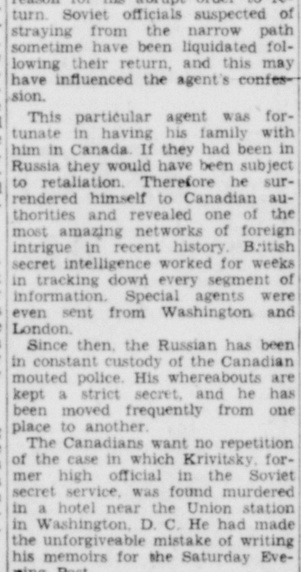

Millions of negroes remember the day when Ickes invited Marian Anderson to sing on the steps of the Lincoln Memorial after the DAR had turned her down. They know of Ickes's appointment of a negro governor to the Virgin islands, which southern senators are now blocking, and his many speeches in negro centers during crucial days of past campaigns.

Result of all these events: Even more optimistic Democrats will admit that the strategic negro vote which once went solid for Roosevelt has now slipped to the GOP column.

Note — Politicans warned the White House that Sen. Joe O'Mahoney's record on the race question would hurt his appointment as secretary of the interior. O'Mahoney voted against the anti-lynching bill, against the anti-poll tax bill, and against stopping the FEPC filibuster.

NEW IN CONGRESS

ATTORNEY MRS. HELEN DOUGLAS MANKIN, 49, of Atlanta, Ga., has the distinction of being the first woman to represent the state of Georgia in the United States House of Representatives. She defeated seventeen men candidates to succeed Robert Ramspeck. He resigned his seat in the House to accept an executive position with the aviation industry.

Wallace's Espousal Of Steel Is Seen As Opening Wedge

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

Henry A. Wallace, secretary of commerce, has come out for the election to Congress of Johannes Steel, left wing radio commentator. The Communists and their mouthpiece, the New York Daily Worker, are helping Henry campaign for him. Or Henry is helping them.

The election is to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Samuel Dickstein from Congress to become a judge. Steel is running on the American Labor party ticket in the lower East Side New York district. His Democratic opponent is former Congressman Arthur G. Klein, and his Republican foe is Lieut. William S. Shea.

Drive Suspected

So, here we have a cabinet member appointed by President Truman coming out against the candidate of the Democratic party. Is this the opening wedge of a drive to nominate Wallace in 1948? "Climb out of our holes with Wallace and Bowles!"

Steel, as I said, is running for Congress with the help of Henry, Congressman Marcantonio, the "Abraham Lincoln" Brigade (which "fought" in the Spanish Civil war), and various pinks, reds, blacks and whites.

His campaign slogan is: "Put Steel in the Spine of Congress." Not bad. But by this he means forcing Congress to adopt the entire C.I.O., P.A.C. program, if not much more. He says we must prevent the "remnants of fascism from crawling out of their rat holes." (Explanation: in Steel's lingo anyone who opposes Communism of the New Deal is a "fascist.") He says, "the fumbling of the Truman administration at this time can become a catastrophe." Yet Wallace, a member of the Truman cabinet, supports Truman's critic. Figure it out!

"Leak" Is Recalled

Remember, too, that one of Wallace's hired hands "leaked" a flock of figures that set off the strike demands last fall for higher wages to be paid out of profits, not without honor save in their own country!

A few years back Henry wrote a book, "America Must Choose." He is still choosing and his present choice is Steel, which in Russian means "Stalin." Meantime, while urging Communist-supported congressmen who would liquidate business, Henry is asking Congress to tax us for tens of millions of dollars more to build up his department of Commerce as the friend of little business, new business, not busy-enough-business, and all poor souls who need a friend in business-like Washington.

Is Mr. Truman in the "middle of a swift stream," as Dr. Wirt once said of Truman's predecessor?

Then, as another part of the puzzle, consider Curmudgeon Harold Ickes breaking a lance (or harpoon) for Truth, Honor, and Right in the innards of Mr. Truman's nominee for under-secretary of the navy, Edwin W. Pauley. In his most impish, crimpy and screwmatic manner, Mr. Ickes said that Mr. Pauley said it would be real nice and worth $300,000 to the Democratic war chest if Ickes dampened his passion for justice by not filing suit against California and divers oil companies with respect to tide water petroleum. As the Navy department has lots to do with oil since Teapot Dome days, Ickes implies that this underwater oil would not be quite safe in the hands of Under-Secretary Pauley. Too underhanded all around, he thinks.

In justice to Pauley, he denies said allegations and opines that the alligator, Ickes, defectively remembers something that was never said on land or sea. Anyway, Mr. Roosevelt, who first selected Pauley, was the godfather of the "$1,000 Club," whose members were to have the privilege of being consulted by the chief on matters of great pith and moment.

So, it may be nothing but good clean fun between two equally honest politicians. But there are those who think they see nothing funny under Truman's bed. Hon. Ickes and Hon. Wallace are the New Deal's Old Guard. The Curmudgeon will be 74 in 1948, but Hon. Wallace will be at the zippy age of 60, and with lots of Steel injected in the Spine of Congress, Henry's frustrated youth (in 1944) may bloom and blossom once again, especially if he works with the Daily Worker.

Spy System Is Not Confined to Russia, Lawrence Reminds

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—There's an old saying that people in glass houses shouldn't throw stones. The American people can hardly blame the Russians for their efforts to ferret out secrets from the Canadian government or any other government when the United States government is making preparations to use a world-wide spy system itself. The use of espionage in wartime has always been recognized as on a parity with the other deviations from a moral code between enemy countries but the concept of peaceful nations spying on one another when they are supposed to be friendly is something that cannot be denounced just when it is applied by Russia.

The plans of the American government are no less ambitious than those of other governments today. A world-wide spy system for the United States has actually been advocated before congressional committees and undoubtedly government funds will be provided for the purpose.

War Habits Cling

The extent to which the habits of the war period are carrying over to peacetime is no better illustrated than in the plan of the American government to enter the propaganda field and spread our officially colored views in all parts of the world. The recent controversy between the press associations and the department of State as to the supply of news to the department to be incorporated in its foreign broadcasts is really of secondary importance compared to the openly announced purpose of the Washington government to conduct an official propaganda machine.

There are some observers who see little difference between the communist and fascist propaganda machines, on the one hand, which in the last decade or more have received optional sanction by governments in Europe and the plan of the American government likewise to adopt propaganda methods so as to put across a certain viewpoint in foreign lands.

Integrity Involves Separation

But it will be contended that it is essential to get the American viewpoint known in foreign countries and that the American news agencies do not penetrate all countries. These American news associations have built up a reputation for integrity—and integrity means complete separation from the influence of any government or from the receiving of governments funds.

In the few places in the world where the American press associations do not cover, and indeed in all countries, there is no reason why American embassies and legations should not furnish to newspapers there copies of all official texts and any information needed by the press to answer questions concerning American policies.

But this is a far different thing from a propaganda broadcast in which the United States government agencies would be sending out certain statements which the listener could be asked to believe are authentic and which, if presented between bulletins of the press associations, could hurt the prestige of news disseminating companies by creating the impression that the Goebbel's technique has finally prevailed in the democratic countries.

Editorial Work Unnecessary

Plenty of information about the United States can be distributed through official channels, but there is no necessity for the American government to go into the business of distributing news or of giving out interpretations of news which it will not sponsor officially. During the war, broadcasts of an editorial nature were written to influence opinion in foreign countries and psychological warfare, as it was then called, was generally conceded to be desirable as a means of stirring up revolt in enemy countries and shortening the war.

But in peacetime it is not the function of the American government to attempt to influence public opinion in other countries through the questionable methods of broadcast propaganda which the United States itself so often has denounced whether it emanated from Moscow or Berlin.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

If you want to furnish your home, get a new car, an electric toaster, a trip to Paris, a date with a chorus girl, new clothes, or even get married . . . just drop around to your nearest radio station. These days the programs are giving away everything but advertising agency vice-presidents!

The radio show of the future will probably just do away with all entertainment and for thirty minutes will broadcast nothing but the crinkling sound of a studio audience stuffing their pockets full of twenty-dollar bills.

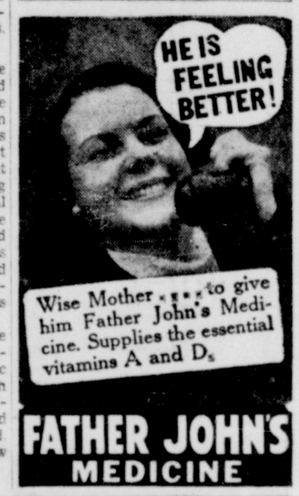

One program caused a little trouble by giving away nylon stockings. The first time they announced free nylons, 8,000 women listening at home tore up their loudspeakers trying to get at 'em.

And another show is giving away so many automobiles, the CIO started to organize the announcer.

And these days arbitious parents who want their children to have the better things in life don't encourage them to work hard and get into business or a profession . . . they just tell them to go out and get on "Take It or Leave It" or "Meet The Missus."

One program is actually giving away brides. Every week a couple is married with a sponsor. They have a real radio wedding. Instead of throwing rice the guests toss corn. (And it's a nice market for my old scripts.) The bride doesn't wear a regular train. As she starts down the aisle, the sound man turns on a recording of a train passing through Kansas City. And when the groom finally says, "I do," the minister shouts, "You've got your girl. Want to try for two?"

The Fine Art of the Apothecary has not been lost

● The old apothecary of other years was a mysterious and romantic figure. Under his magic influence roots, herbs, and minerals were turned into pills, extracts, and plasters. The doctor's prescriptions were filled, the patient's health and comfort restored. Although much of the mystery with which he was surrounded has vanished, the fine art of the apothecary has not been lost. A visit to our prescription department will convince the most skeptical that his function is an important adjunct to modern medical practice. Morton Sarubin Weds Miss Phyllis E. Peskin

Rabbi Aaron Lefkowitz, Long Beach, N. J., Officiates at Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Phyllis E. Peskin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morton W. Peskin, Buckingham road, The Dingle, to Morton Sarubin, son of Edwin L. Sarubin, Baltimore, took place in Baltimore, yesterday.

Beneath a canopy of similax, white and pale yellow snapdragons erected in the assembly room of the Belvedere hotel, which was arranged as a chapel, the wedding was solemnized in a formal ceremony at 7 o'clock with Rabbi Aaron Lefkowitz, Long Beach, N. J., former rabbi of B'er Chayim Congregation, this city, officiating.

Mrs. Richard Leeds, New York, the bride's former roomate at Pine Manor, Wellesley, Mass., was her matron of honor and only attendant. Mr. Sarubin served as best man for his son, whose ushers were Morton Peskin, Jr., Arthur Friedland, this city, brother and cousin of the bride; Harvey Blumenthal, Washington, D. C., and Louis Miller, Baltimore.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Marjorie Lehman sang several selections, including "I Love You Truly," accompanied by John Leaderer and his six piece orchestra.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a white satin gown trimmed with white beads and fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, long sleeves and full sweeping train. Her fingertip length veil of French illusion was held by a tiny band of braided satin adorned with two pearl studs. She carried a white Bible and corsage of white orchids.

Her matron of honor wore a royal blue crepe costume with a rhinestone band as a headress. Her corsage was of natural orchids. Mrs. Peskin chose a French blue crepe gown for her daughter's wedding, with which she wore rhinestone jewelry and long doe skin gloves matching her corsage of pale pink orchids.

The bride is a graduate of Allegany high school and of Pine Manor, Wellesly, Mass. She was a senior at the University of Maryland, majoring in English, until the Christmas holidays when she did not return because of her approaching marriage.

Mr. Sarubin is a graduate of the Polytechnic Institute of Baltimore and the University of Maryland. He served in the army for two years and since his discharge, has been employed as vice president of the Regal Shop, Baltimore.

Immediately following the ceremony a wedding reception was held in the foyer of the twelfth floor of the hotel, which had been reserved for the wedding, and which was also decorated with smilax, white and pale yellow snapdragons. Afterwards a dinner and dance were held in the ball room, which had been converted into a bower of white and pale yellow flowers, decorated with candelabra of tall tapers. The all white tiered wedding cake, adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom centered the table. Leaderer's ten piece orchestra played during the dinner and for the dancing. Covers were laid for 300 guests.

Trapper Ambrose Catches 40 Foxes

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Feb. 19 (AP)—Outfoxing the foxes is an old habit of Trapper F. S. Ambrose.

Coming up with one of the largest fox catches by a single individual in the history of Washington county—a total of forty red and grey pelts since October—Ambrose has pocketed $80 in bounties awarded by the board of county commissioners.

He collected his haul on and around the preserve of the Woodmont Rod and Gun Club where during the same period he also trapped 105 skunks and two mink.

Known himself as "Mr. Fox," Ambrose uses a special bait which he describes as a combination of cat meat and a potent concoction he mixes himself. From a distance of several thousand feet, Brer Fox finds himself irresistably attracted to the trap, Ambrose declares — and then it's too late.

Henry P. Bridges, secretary-treasurer of the Woodmont club, describing the menace of the foxes, said that during the past year, they had killed 1,700 quail, 1,000 cock muttant pheasants, 125 chickens, twelve muscovy ducks, a large number of young turkeys and cleaned the preserve of rabbits.

MEANS OF INCREASING SHAD PRODUCTION DISCUSSED BY OFFICIALS

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 19—(AP)—State and federal officials got together today to prepare tentative plans for tackling research on Maryland waters fish—especially on means of increasing shad production.

Members of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service and state fisheries officials settled among other things a program for tagging shad en route to their river spawning beds.

A board of natural resources spokesman said that preliminary studies indicated that since 1941 when the state restricted the number of shad nets to fishermen, the number of shad escaping to spawn in the rivers had increased.

The nature of the problem of production, he said was shown in shad catch figures.

In 1890 approximately 12,000,000 pounds of shad were caught in state waters, while in 1940 this poundage had dropped to approximately 500,000.

With each return to the spawning ground, the weight of the shad increases considerably, the spokesman said, so that although the same number of fish may be caught in two years, the year in which the older shad are caught yields greater food products.

Now the federal and state agencies have decided to pool their research ideas for a full scale attack on the problem of producing more shad. Further conferences will be held to round out the program which had its beginning today.

Individual income taxes: Normal and surtaxes $245,397,623; taxes withheld on wages and salaries, $412,602,568.

Miscellaneous internal revenue: $242,731,778.

The total of all collections for Maryland and the district in 1945 was $1,269,103,919, as compared with $1,223,881,572 in 1944.

Beneath a canopy of similax, white and pale yellow snapdragons erected in the assembly room of the Belvedere hotel, which was arranged as a chapel, the wedding was solemnized in a formal ceremony at 7 o'clock with Rabbi Aaron Lefkowitz, Long Beach, N. J., former rabbi of B'er Chayim Congregation, this city, officiating.

Mrs. Richard Leeds, New York, the bride's former roomate at Pine Manor, Wellesley, Mass., was her matron of honor and only attendant. Mr. Sarubin served as best man for his son, whose ushers were Morton Peskin, Jr., Arthur Friedland, this city, brother and cousin of the bride; Harvey Blumenthal, Washington, D. C., and Louis Miller, Baltimore.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Marjorie Lehman sang several selections, including "I Love You Truly," accompanied by John Leaderer and his six piece orchestra.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a white satin gown trimmed with white beads and fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, long sleeves and full sweeping train. Her fingertip length veil of French illusion was held by a tiny band of braided satin adorned with two pearl studs. She carried a white Bible and corsage of white orchids.

Her matron of honor wore a royal blue crepe costume with a rhinestone band as a headress. Her corsage was of natural orchids. Mrs. Peskin chose a French blue crepe gown for her daughter's wedding, with which she wore rhinestone and long doe skin gloves matching her corsage of pale pink orchids.

The bride is a graduate of Allegany high school and of Pine Manor, Wellesly, Mass. She was a senior at the University of Maryland, majoring in English, until the Christmas holidays when she did not return because of her approaching marriage.

Mr. Sarubin is a graduate of the Polytechnic Institute of Baltimore and the University of Maryland. He served in the army for two years and since his discharge, has been employed as vice president of the Regal Shop, Baltimore.

Immediately following the ceremony a wedding reception was held in the foyer of the twelfth floor of the hotel, which had been reserved for the wedding, and which was also decorated with smilax, white and pale yellow snapdragons. Afterwards a dinner and dance were held in the ball room, which had been converted into a bower of white and pale yellow flowers, decorated with candelabra of tall tapers. The all white tiered wedding cake, adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom centered the table. Leaderer's ten piece orchestra played during the dinner and for the dancing. Covers were laid for 300 guests.

Mr. Sarubin and his wife left by plane for a three weeks wedding trip to Miami, Fla., and Havana, Cuba. For traveling Mrs. Sarubin wore a navy blue and gold suit, with topper to match. Upon their return they will reside at 6503 Park Heights avenue.

THE GREATEST SIN

I doubt if we will be greatly blamed when the final payoff comes, for our failures. After all, the one who made us probably has a pretty fair notion of our limitations and won't hold us too accountable when we reach beyond them.

Nor do I expect—and this is going to raise plenty of gripes—that we will be overly rewarded for our successes. There's really no reason why we should—there's little enough return for the goodness and the glory and the power that have been lavished upon us. Even if we have "done our best" it's probably poor pickings in comparison to what we might have done.

Nor—though this may brand me as another heretic—do I think that we're going to be too greatly punished for our mistakes. . .even our conscious mistakes. For they are rooted in the same poor soil as our failures and they largely spring not from malice but from our ignorance, our fear, our childish resentments.

But of one thing I am certain. We're going to get the works when the accounts are all in and there stand naked and shameless, for all the world to see—the record of the brave and decent things we might have done, but didn't.

Most of us believe that such "sins of omission" don't matter greatly. In fact we're inclined to think they're not only convenient but smart. Look at the awkward jams we've wriggled out of by some simple evasion. Look at the times we've avoided unpleasant entanglements just by professing to know nothing about the whole matter. Look at the financial complications and the domestic rumpuses we've avoided by refusing to mix in.

On the other hand, consider some of the other folk who have risked peace, prosperity and pocketbook by taking chances which they could so easily have bypassed. There was that young fellow, just out of the army, who wanted you to go good on his note. You had sense enough to refuse—said you had so many other obligations. But your brother-in-law stepped right in—let himself be taken for a ride. And was left holding the bag.

"Serves him right," you said to yourself. "Nobody but a fool would take chances like that."

And there was that neighbor who came to you for advice when she was having such trouble with her husband. Lucky for you, you remembered in time that it never pays to interfere between husbands and wives. It's a pity that your best friend didn't have as much common sense. Remember the mess she got herself into?

Yes, if you want to make a case of it, you can certainly defend the sins of omission. You can make a cautious creep-mousey life seem the most admirable sort of existence. But I wonder if it really is. I wonder if the fellow who always plays safe wins as much in the long run as he thought he would. You saved a few hundred dollars by not endorsing that poor chap's note—and your brother-in-law lost a few. But I'll wager he has more to show for the deal than you have today. He risked and he won something more valuable than dollars. . . he risked and he won a little of the very essence of life. He gave part of himself, part of his warmth and sympathy and understanding, and by the giving he became the greater. Nothing can ever take that greatness away from him. Nothing can ever shrink him into his original size. He grew and he grew for keeps—even though his bank book doesn't show it.

And there are the domestic brawls you have avoided. . .the bickerings and feuds and squabbles. They've kept the rest of the family in hot water for the whole year, that's true. But have you looked the family over on Thanksgiving or Christmas day—seen them eating around the old family table, cracking the old family jokes—and felt the bonds of warmth and affection that have drawn them closer together each year?

Sure, they have had a lot of rugged going. But didn't it pay? Didn't they buy for themselves an intimacy and a sense of blood ties that you'd give a lot to feel today as you sit lonely on the sidelines, you who would never be involved?

Funny, how your values change as the years go by. I used to think you'd be punished for the weak and wicked things you did, for the stupid blunders you committed.

But I've come to think that the worst acts of our lives are the things we didn't do. . .The risks we refused to take. . .The burdens we refused to share. . .The pain we didn't bear to lighten another fellow's load.

Knowing what I do about God—which is very little—I'll take my chances on my sins of commission. But I certainly have some powerful qualms when I think of my sins of omission which I never can blame on weakness or ignorance but solely on my cowardice and cussedness.

House Approves Bill To Pay Abbott $10,000

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP)—The House approved today a bill to pay $10,000 to Norman Abbott of Baltimore for injuries he received when struck by a coast guard automobile.

The measure, by Rep. Sasscer (D-Md), now goes to the Senate.

The accident, in which Abbott was seriously injured, occurred in Baltimore, March 26, 1944.

The air conditioning plant for the Capitol, Senate and House office buildings in Washington has a daily refrigerating capacity equivalent to the melting of a block of ice 50 feet by 50 feet.

OPA Committee Will Support Bowles's Program

BALTIMORE, Feb. 19 (AP)—Calling on Congress to extend price and rent controls beyond June 30, the Maryland OPA Labor Advisory committee has pledged full support to Economic Stabilization Director Chester Bowles and the new wage-price program.

Representatives of the AFL, CIO, and Railway brotherhoods, with a Maryland membership of approximately 350,000, adopted a resolution at the committee meeting yesterday, expressing "complete confidence" in Bowles's integrity and ability.

"It is only by the most determined co-operative effort on the part of all the people of this country—labor, management and the public—that we can hope to avoid a 'break through' of the stabilization line, which would bring a collapse of our whole economic structure and a resultant depression," the committee said.

THE GREATEST SIN

I doubt if we will be greatly blamed when the final payoff comes, for our failures. After all, the one who made us probably has a pretty fair notion of our limitations and won't hold us too accountable when we reach beyond them.

Nor do I expect—and this is going to raise plenty of gripes—that we will be overly rewarded for our successes. There's really no reason why we should—there's little enough return for the goodness and the glory and the power that have been lavished upon us. Even if we have "done our best" it's probably poor pickings in comparison to what we might have done.

Nor—though this may brand me as another heretic—do I think that we're going to be too greatly punished for our mistakes. . .even our conscious mistakes. For they are rooted in the same poor soil as our failures and they largely spring not from malice but from our ignorance, our fear, our childish resentments.

But of one thing I am certain. We're going to get the works when the accounts are all in and there stand naked and shameless, for all the world to see—the record of the brave and decent things we might have done, but didn't.

Most of us believe that such "sins of omission" don't matter greatly. In fact we're inclined to think they're not only convenient but smart. Look at the awkward jams we've wriggled out of by some simple evasion. Look at the times we've avoided unpleasant entanglements just by professing to know nothing about the whole matter. Look at the financial complications and the domestic rumpuses we've avoided by refusing to mix in.

On the other hand, consider some of the other folk who have risked peace, prosperity and pocketbook by taking chances which they could so easily have bypassed. There was that young fellow, just out of the army, who wanted you to go good on his note. You had sense enough to refuse—said you had so many other obligations. But your brother-in-law stepped right in—let himself be taken for a ride. And was left holding the bag.

"Serves him right," you said to yourself. "Nobody but a fool would take chances like that."

And there was that neighbor who came to you for advice when she was having such trouble with her husband. Lucky for you, you remembered in time that it never pays to interfere between husbands and wives. It's a pity that your best friend didn't have as much common sense. Remember the mess she got herself into?

Yes, if you want to make a case of it, you can certainly defend the sins of omission. You can make a cautious creep-mousey life seem the most admirable sort of existence. But I wonder if it really is. I wonder if the fellow who always plays safe wins as much in the long run as he thought he would. You saved a few hundred dollars by not endorsing that poor chap's note—and your brother-in-law lost a few. But I'll wager he has more to show for the deal than you have today. He risked and he won something more valuable than dollars. . . he risked and he won a little of the very essence of life. He gave part of himself, part of his warmth and sympathy and understanding, and by the giving he became the greater. Nothing can ever take that greatness away from him. Nothing can ever shrink him into his original size. He grew and he grew for keeps—even though his bank book doesn't show it.

And there are the domestic brawls you have avoided. . .the bickerings and feuds and squabbles. They've kept the rest of the family in hot water for the whole year, that's true. But have you looked the family over on Thanksgiving or Christmas day—seen them eating around the old family table, cracking the old family jokes—and felt the bonds of warmth and affection that have drawn them closer together each year?

Sure, they have had a lot of rugged going. But didn't it pay? Didn't they buy for themselves an intimacy and a sense of blood ties that you'd give a lot to feel today as you sit lonely on the sidelines, you who would never be involved?

Funny, how your values change as the years go by. I used to think you'd be punished for the weak and wicked things you did, for the stupid blunders you committed.

But I've come to think that the worst acts of our lives are the things we didn't do. . .The risks we refused to take. . .The burdens we refused to share. . .The pain we didn't bear to lighten another fellow's load.

Knowing what I do about God—which is very little—I'll take my chances on my sins of commission. But I certainly have some powerful qualms when I think of my sins of omission which I never can blame on weakness or ignorance but soiely on my cowardice and cussedness.

of its members, possibly, still moving, in search of either lodging or their goal.

The veterans left Massillon, Ohio, this morning and planned to push on to Washington without another stop but numerous breakdowns and poor driving weather forced a change in the schedule. Leaders called for a rendezvous at Bedford, Pa., 100 miles east of Pittsburgh, on the Pennsylvania Turnpike, for a regrouping.

Driving cabs carrying signs reading "we're tired of being pushed around", "monopoly! we just don't like!" and "we want cab licenses," the veterans became widely separated when the sleet storm was encountered near the West-Virginia-Pennsylvania state line.

Season's Heaviest

town, six at Oakland and six at Frederick.

State roads crews were manning fourteen snowplows in Frederick county, twelve in Washington county and eleven in both Allegany and Garrett counties.

At Grantsville, state police said, wind had started to blow "a little," drifting some county-maintained roads shut by 7:30 p. m.

Chaires said there was some drifting in the Keyser's ridge section of Garrett county, but said crews are plowing "all the time" and that roads in the district generally were in "fairly good shape."

Cindering of the worst spots will be undertaken thef irst thing in the morning if the snow has stopped, Chaires said last night, pointing out that the entire roads force is on the job. Once workers have had a chance for a few hours of rest the principal cindering task will be started.

No Accidents Reported

While no accidents were reported, state police said they received numerous reports of traffic being tied up on hilly roads, with at least fifty calls being received to Red hill on Route 40 a short distance east of Frostburg.

No accidents were reported in Cumberland but city police said many motorists were encountering difficulty on hills. Three city snowplows had been clearing streets since early yesterday afternoon.

Authorities reported ten inches of snow at Keyser, W. Va., and the Western Maryland railway dispatcher here said a foot of snow was reported at Deal, Pa., and at Big Pool, five inches at Thomas, W. Va., and ten inches at Williamsport. Pennsylvania Motor Police reported nine inches fell in parts of Bedford county.

For the most part, temperatures were in the neighborhood of 30 degrees, although Deal, Pa., recorded 22 at 11:30 p. m.

Buses Run Late

Blue Ridge buses were running from half an hour to two and a half hours late. No snow was reported west of Summit mountain on Route 40 and eastbound buses were arriving in Cumberland only half an hour behind schedule. Westbound buses, however, were running from one and a half to two and a half hours late.

Emery lines buses, leaving Cumberland almost on time, were fifty minutes late returning here from the trip to Piedmont, W. Va.

Cumberland and Westernport Transit Company buses largely were running on time and so were buses of the Reynolds lines serving Romney, W. Va., and Harrisonburg, Va., but Blue and White lines buses from Altoona, Pa., were an hour late arriving here.

Potomac Edison buses in Cumberland were running from fifteen to twenty minutes behind schedule. The Shriver avenue bus discontinued service on Piedmont avenue because of the slippery condition of that hilly street and ran only as far as Holland street.

Officials of inter-state bus firms serving Cumberland said that while road conditions were bad they were not bad enough to make it necessary to cancel scheduled runs.

The Baltimore and Ohio railroad reported its passenger trains arriving in Cumberland a little ahead of time. The B. and O. and Western Maryland railway said freight service was operating normally.

A spokesman for the Astor Cab Company, largest taxi concern in the city, said calls for service were unusually heavy and that 900 calls, ordinarily a twenty-four hour figure, had been handled in seventeen and one-half hours. He said the demand started to taper off shortly before midnight.

Schools Not To Close

Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, said last night he did not believe it would be necessary to close the schools of Allegany county because of the heavy snow.

At Oakland, F. E. Rathbun, superintendent of schools in Garrett county, likewise said he did not believe it would be necessary to close schools although in some communities he would leave it to the discretion of school principles and school bus drivers.

Judging from reports of Chaires, the railroads and state police, Allegany county appeared to be the hardest hit in the state. Cinder crews were busy at Bel Air, Conowingo and Randallstown where state police said roads were very slippery. Waterloo roads were wet from snow flurries. At Waldorf, rain was light. The weather was cloudy but there was no snow at Salisbury. Baltimore had rain, snow and some sleet.

The weather forecast for today was clear. Rain was reported last night at Elkins and Parsons, W. Va.

Pumps Are Being Installed

Chapman also announced that he expects delivery within the near future of a maintenance hangar, which should have been delivered February 15. He said shipment was delayed because of the steel strike.

The Standard Oil Company has started work on installing two gasoline pumps, one for 80-octane and one for 91-octane gas at the port, and David T. Ogilvie, local contractor, began work yesterday on the main building at the airport, which will be moved to a new location and will be remodeled to include an apartment for Chapman and his wife, a restaurant and a lobby. Steam heat will be installed, Chapman said.

The manager said he expects to confer with William J. Graham, Pittsburgh, who leased the airport from the city last November, regarding the purchase of several small hangars. Graham is expected to return from Miami, Fla., this week.

Equipment is being secured for a repair shop at the port, and over $1,200 worth of equipment has been purchased at the present time, Chapman said.

MacKenzie Home Damaged by Fire

An overheated hot air furnace yesterday caused damage estimated by firemen at between $2,000 to $3,000 to the home of Mrs. Edith V. MacKenzie, 725 Williams street, on Winifred road, and resulted in a collision as a local fire company sped to the blaze.

Central and East Side fire companies fought the fire after a South End Company No. 2 fire truck, called to the blaze at 1 p. m., collided with a Ford truck driven by Coyle W. O'Neil, at the intersection of Pennsylvania avenue and Oldtown road.

Nobody was injured in the crash, but the fire truck, driven by J. A. Jackson, will be taken to the garage today so that damages to the left side and front bumper can be repaired.

Discovers Blaze

Firemen said the blaze in the two-story frame house was burning fiercely when it was discovered by a neighbor. Efforts by neighbors to enter the home to recover part of the contents were impossible due to the heavy smoke and flame.

The fire fighters reported the fire worked upwards and had burned a slight hole in the attic floor before it could be checked.

Several rooms of the home were damaged, firemen said, and added that damage to furniture was serious.

Neighbors reported that Mrs. MacKenzie and her daughter had gone to town yesterday to select wallpaper for the home.

Was Jap Prisoner

Also living at the home but not present when the fire occurred was Mrs. MacKenzie's son, Staff Sgt. Luther M. MacKenzie, who was discharged last Friday from Woodrow Wilson hospital, Stanton, Va.

Sgt. MacKenzie returned to the United States late last year after his liberation from a Japanese prisoner of war camp. He had been held captive since the fall of Corregidor.

The local soldier enlisted in the army in January, 1940, and was dispatched to the Philippines in March of that year.

to thirty today with the belated arrival of the Hungarian primate, Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, who was delayed, his aide said, by the slowness of Russian authorities in giving him permissoin to leave Budapest.

Pope Is Praised

Mindszenty himself, landing at Ciampino airport at noon in a United States transport plane with Maj. Gen. William S. Keys, United States head of the Allied commission in Budapest, declined to discuss his difficulties with the Russians, but his aide said he had been promised an exit permit for Jan. 14 and had received it only yesterday.

The new cardinals were busy receiving formal "ad calorem" visits. The four from the United States arrived at the apostolic chancery at 9:30 a. m. (3:30 a. m. Eastern Standard Time) to receive a long line of diplomats and others in the famous "hall of the hundred days" —so called because the frescoes on the two-story walls were painted in 100 days by the famed painter, Giorgio Vasari.

Spellman celebrated early mass at the church of Santa Susanna, for twenty-eight years the American church in Rome. The church will be the titular see of Cardinal Mooney.

At 6:30 p. m. (12:30 p. m. Eastern Standard Time) the New York prelate made his broadcast from the American college which he and so many other American priests attended.

He said the dignity conferred upon him actually was conferred "on the church of New York of which I am on this occasion not so much the head as the representative."

Spellman paid tribute to the pope, declaring that "in the leadership of the world today, he is the only symbol and embodiment of wisdom without wile, fortitude without brute force, vigor without violence."

"To him," Spellman said, "come cries of men and of peoples, to him the eyes of the hungry, the naked, the oppressed, and from him come luminous counsel and boundless mercy."

to Patman's question, that young Ford made a statement that his company is losing $300 on each car it makes, but that the manufacturer did not point out that the company's production at the time was just a fraction of prewor capacity.

Cites Price Ceilings

"I don't think any intelligent manufacturer would ask for pricings on the basis of such low production," Bowles said.

He added that "it is inconceivable to me that Mr. Ford did not know OPA took off parts price ceilings in November, except those handled by dealers."

Saying he did not ordinarily disclose prices a manufacturer requests OPA to approve, Bowles told the committee that "because of the many statements made" he felt the committee should know what price Ford asked. He said this would be the "answer to why Mr. Ford wants ceilings lifted."

Then he said the Ford Company has a record for high wages and low prices, and commented: "I don't think this request (for a fifty-five per cent increase) was in line with the tradition of the Ford Company. I am sorry that young Ford has departed from that tradition.

gardless of age, in the past escaped hardening of arteries after having diabetes for five years or more. This applies to children, too.

Tonight he reported for the first time on diabetics who have had the disease for fifteen years or more using his diet. He said that thirty-eight per cent still were shown to be free from arterial hardening. He had reported previously of five and ten year patients, all with a marked reduction in hardening of arteries.

Dr. Rabinowitch said he believed that with rigid following of a good diet and use of insulin where necessary the lives of diabetics can be lengthened materially. At present statistics show that 'on the average diabetics' lives are fifteen to twenty years shorter than the average.

He warned against a great danger in a tendency which now is widespread to disregard diet in diabetes and rely on insulin. He declared that a careful diet, which was the only treatment before the discovery of insulin twenty-five years ago, still is as necessary as ever. The difference now is that the diet can be different and better. But, he said, a patient must follow his diet just as carefully as before insulin.

son is concerned. In no period of American history have Americans ever condoned treasonable acts. We do not intend to begin now."

The twenty-two suspects do not include the eight Americans indicted for treason in 1943 in connection with alleged broadcasts for the enemy. Of these, Clark said, four are in United States Army internment camps in Europe—Edward Delaney, of Olney, Ill., Douglas Chandler, of Baltimore, Constance Drexel, of Philadelphia, and Robert Best, of New York City. Army intelligence officers arrested Best in Austria last week.

Fred Kaltenbach, of Dubuque, Iowa, is believed held by the Russians in Germany, Clark said. Max Koischwitz, of New York City, is unofficially reported to have died in 1944, Jane Anderson, of Atlanta, is missing and Ezra Pound is in a Washington hospital. A federal court has declared Pound of unsound mind and unable to stand trial.

Chicago Youth Held On Theft Charge

A 19-year-old Chicago youth, arrested on a Blue Ridge bus in Frederick Monday morning, was committed to the county jail by Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., yesterday for action of the April grand jury on a charge of stealing a topcoat, a suitcase and its contents, an American Legion pin and an army discharge pin from Roy Satzer, Cumberland, here early Monday morning.

The youth, Raymond G. Branham, was jailed when he was unable to post bond.

In a statement made to State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris, Branham said he arrived in Cumberland on Sunday and met Satzer at the bus station here about 1 a. m. Monday.

Later, he said, he went to Satzer's residence to sleep, got up about 6 a. m. and took both pins and the topcoat. A key to a locker at the bus station was in the coat pocket, according to Branham, who added that he used the key to open the locker and take the suitcase.

About 8 a. m. Monday Branham boarded a bus and was on the way to Washington when he was arrested at Frederick by state police.

Branham was returned to Cumberland by County Investigator Terrence J. Boyle and Deputy Sheriff J. W. Radcliffe.

OPA Committee Will Support Bowles's Program

BALTIMORE, Feb. 19 (AP)—Calling on Congress to extend price and rent controls beyond June 30, the Maryland OPA Labor Advisory committee has pledged full support to Economic Stabilization Director Chester Bowles and the new wage-price program.

Representatives of the AFL, CIO, and Railway brotherhoods, with a Maryland membership of approximately 350,000, adopted a resolution at the committee meeting yesterday, expressing "complete confidence" in Bowles's integrity and ability.

"It is only by the most determined co-operative effort on the part of all the people of this country—labor, management and the public—that we can hope to avoid a 'break through' of the stabilization line, which would bring a collapse of our whole economic structure and a resultant depression," the committee said.

Purchase of Hose Dryer Discussed

By GEORGE DADDYSMAN

WESTERNPORT, Feb. 19 — The purchase of a hose dryer for use by the Potomac Fire company was discussed at the meeting of Mayor Milton McIntyre and the commissioners last night.

Chief William Mayles informed the officials that the fire company is considering the purchase of a hose dryer which would cost $450, if the town would pay half of the cost. This dryer is electrically operated and will dry 500 feet of fire hose in from four to six hours, twenty-five to fifty times faster than a hose tower.

Since the Oakland fire company has a dryer, it was decided to send representatives of the fire company and the mayor and commissioners to Oakland Sunday morning to inspect the dryer.

Carr Getty, town clerk, read a letter from George L. Hall, Baltimore, chief engineer of the state department of health, stating the surplus property administration has available for sale to public agencies surplus materials at a considerable saving in cost.

Such materials are available for purchase by municipalities and other similar public agencies. Complete details relating to procedure have not yet been worked out.

Getty was instructed to ask Hall to see that the town's name is placed on the information mailing list.

Two 14-Year-Old Girls Break Out Of Keyser Jail

Smash Padlock on Cell Door; Third Prisoner Refuses To Leave

KEYSER, W. Va., Feb. 19—No trace has been found late today of two 14-year-old girls being held as material witnesses who broke out of a Mineral county jail around 2 o'clock this morning after smashing a padlock on their cell door and cooly walking out of the place.

The two girls, one from Burlington, W. Va., and the other, who lives three miles outside of Keyser, woke up a third girl in their cell, Mabel Waybright, 18, prior to their departure and urged her to accompany them, authorities said.

The Waybright girl, who is scheduled to be turned loose in a day or two, refused to budge from the cell where she was found this morning at 8 o'clock when Mrs. O. A. Harman, the motherly matron appeared with breakfast trays for her three charges.

Believe Headed for Virginia

Prosecutor Vernon E. Rankin said today that authorities are of the opinion the two girls "hopped a coal truck" and headed for Virginia where one of the girls has relatives. Rankin said both girls have "poor records" with one being held on a delinquency charge in addition to being a material witness in a case now pending in court.

Rankin also said that he was of the opinion the girls received "outside help" in making their escape but declined to elucidate further.

Jailor Harmon said he locked up for the night around 11 p. m. Monday and that everything was in order at that time. The Waybright girl said she did not know how the two girls smashed the lock as they did not awaken her until they had the cell door open. Rankin said the girls might have used the heel of a shoe to smash the lock. Harman discounted a theory that they picked the lock with materials in their handbags which they had in their cells with them.

Well Behaved

With the cell door open, the two girls walked out of the jail into the Sheriff's office, sprung the lock on the outside door and walked out, authorities said. They have not been seen since.

Mr. and Mrs. Harman said the girls were "quite well behaved," since they were put in jail but added that the one girl was inclined to be "somewhat loud" at times.

Rankin said that authorities are on the lookout for the pair and said that both would probably be sent to reform school after they are apprehended.

of its members, possibly, still moving, in search of either lodging or their goal.

The veterans left Massillon, Ohio, this morning and planned to push on to Washington without another stop but numerous breakdowns and poor driving weather forced a change in the schedule. Leaders called for a rendezvous at Bedford, Pa., 100 miles east of Pittsburgh, on the Pennsylvania Turnpike, for a regrouping.

Driving cabs carrying signs reading "we're tired of being pushed around", "monopoly! we just don't like!" and "we want cab licenses," the veterans became widely separated when the sleet storm was encountered near the West-Virginia-Pennsylvania state line.

Season's Heaviest

town, six at Oakland and six at Frederick.

State roads crews were manning fourteen snowplows in Frederick county, twelve in Washington county and eleven in both Allegany and Garrett counties.

At Grantsville, state police said, wind had started to blow "a little," drifting some county-maintained roads shut by 7:30 p. m.

Chaires said there was some drifting in the Keyser's ridge section of Garrett county, but said crews are plowing "all the time" and that roads in the district generally were in "fairly good shape."

Cindering of the worst spots will be undertaken thef irst thing in the morning if the snow has stopped, Chaires said last night, pointing out that the entire roads force is on the job. Once workers have had a chance for a few hours of rest the principal cindering task will be started.

No Accidents Reported

While no accidents were reported, state police said they received numerous reports of traffic being tied up on hilly roads, with at least fifty calls being received to Red hill on Route 40 a short distance east of Frostburg.

No accidents were reported in Cumberland but city police said many motorists were encountering difficulty on hills. Three city snowplows had been clearing streets since early yesterday afternoon.

Authorities reported ten inches of snow at Keyser, W. Va., and the Western Maryland railway dispatcher here said a foot of snow was reported at Deal, Pa., and at Big Pool, five inches at Thomas, W. Va., and ten inches at Williamsport. Pennsylvania Motor Police reported nine inches fell in parts of Bedford county.

For the most part, temperatures were in the neighborhood of 30 degrees, although Deal, Pa., recorded 22 at 11:30 p. m.

Buses Run Late

Blue Ridge buses were running from half an hour to two and a half hours late. No snow was reported west of Summit mountain on Route 40 and eastbound buses were arriving in Cumberland only half an hour behind schedule. Westbound buses, however, were running from one and a half to two and a half hours late.

Emery lines buses, leaving Cumberland almost on time, were fifty minutes late returning here from the trip to Piedmont, W. Va.

Cumberland and Westernport Transit Company buses largely were running on time and so were buses of the Reynolds lines serving Romney, W. Va., and Harrisonburg, Va., but Blue and White lines buses from Altoona, Pa., were an hour late arriving here.

Potomac Edison buses in Cumberland were running from fifteen to twenty minutes behind schedule. The Shriver avenue bus discontinued service on Piedmont avenue because of the slippery condition of that hilly street and ran only as far as Holland street.

Officials of inter-state bus firms serving Cumberland said that while road conditions were bad they were not bad enough to make it necessary to cancel scheduled runs.

The Baltimore and Ohio railroad reported its passenger trains arriving in Cumberland a little ahead of time. The B. and O. and Western Maryland railway said freight service was operating normally.

A spokesman for the Astor Cab Company, largest taxi concern in the city, said calls for service were unusually heavy and that 900 calls, ordinarily a twenty-four hour figure, had been handled in seventeen and one-half hours. He said the demand started to taper off shortly before midnight.

Schools Not To Close

Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, said last night he did not believe it would be necessary to close the schools of Allegany county because of the heavy snow.

At Oakland, F. E. Rathbun, superintendent of schools in Garrett county, likewise said he did not believe it would be necessary to close schools although in some communities he would leave it to the discretion of school principles and school bus drivers.

Judging from reports of Chaires, the railroads and state police, Allegany county appeared to be the hardest hit in the state. Cinder crews were busy at Bel Air, Conowingo and Randallstown where state police said roads were very slippery. Waterloo roads were wet from snow flurries. At Waldorf, rain was light. The weather was cloudy but there was no snow at Salisbury. Baltimore had rain, snow and some sleet.

The weather forecast for today was clear. Rain was reported last night at Elkins and Parsons, W. Va.

Pumps Are Being Installed

Chapman also announced that he expects delivery within the near future of a maintenance hangar, which should have been delivered February 15. He said shipment was delayed because of the steel strike.

The Standard Oil Company has started work on installing two gasoline pumps, one for 80-octane and one for 91-octane gas at the port, and David T. Ogilvie, local contractor, began work yesterday on the main building at the airport, which will be moved to a new location and will be remodeled to include an apartment for Chapman and his wife, a restaurant and a lobby. Steam heat will be installed, Chapman said.

The manager said he expects to confer with William J. Graham, Pittsburgh, who leased the airport from the city last November, regarding the purchase of several small hangars. Graham is expected to return from Miami, Fla., this week.

Equipment is being secured for a repair shop at the port, and over $1,200 worth of equipment has been purchased at the present time, Chapman said.

MacKenzie Home Damaged by Fire

An overheated hot air furnace yesterday caused damage estimated by firemen at between $2,000 to $3,000 to the home of Mrs. Edith V. MacKenzie, 725 Williams street, on Winifred road, and resulted in a collision as a local fire company sped to the blaze.

Central and East Side fire companies fought the fire after a South End Company No. 2 fire truck, called to the blaze at 1 p. m., collided with a Ford truck driven by Coyle W. O'Neil, at the intersection of Pennsylvania avenue and Oldtown road.

Nobody was injured in the crash, but the fire truck, driven by J. A. Jackson, will be taken to the garage today so that damages to the left side and front bumper can be repaired.

Discovers Blaze

Firemen said the blaze in the two-story frame house was burning fiercely when it was discovered by a neighbor. Efforts by neighbors to enter the home to recover part of the contents were impossible due to the heavy smoke and flame.

The fire fighters reported the fire worked upwards and had burned a slight hole in the attic floor before it could be checked.

Several rooms of the home were damaged, firemen said, and added that damage to furniture was serious.

Neighbors reported that Mrs. MacKenzie and her daughter had gone to town yesterday to select wallpaper for the home.

Was Jap Prisoner

Also living at the home but not present when the fire occurred was Mrs. MacKenzie's son, Staff Sgt. Luther M. MacKenzie, who was discharged last Friday from Woodrow Wilson hospital, Stanton, Va.

Sgt. MacKenzie returned to the United States late last year after his liberation from a Japanese prisoner of war camp. He had been held captive since the fall of Corregidor.

The local soldier enlisted in the army in January, 1940, and was dispatched to the Philippines in March of that year.

to thirty today with the belated arrival of the Hungarian primate, Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, who was delayed, his aide said, by the slowness of Russian authorities in giving him permissoin to leave Budapest.

Pope Is Praised

Mindszenty himself, landing at Ciampino airport at noon in a United States transport plane with Maj. Gen. William S. Keys, United States head of the Allied commission in Budapest, declined to discuss his difficulties with the Russians, but his aide said he had been promised an exit permit for Jan. 14 and had received it only yesterday.

The new cardinals were busy receiving formal "ad calorem" visits. The four from the United States arrived at the apostolic chancery at 9:30 a. m. (3:30 a. m. Eastern Standard Time) to receive a long line of diplomats and others in the famous "hall of the hundred days" —so called because the frescoes on the two-story walls were painted in 100 days by the famed painter, Giorgio Vasari.

Spellman celebrated early mass at the church of Santa Susanna, for twenty-eight years the American church in Rome. The church will be the titular see of Cardinal Mooney.

At 6:30 p. m. (12:30 p. m. Eastern Standard Time) the New York prelate made his broadcast from the American college which he and so many other American priests attended.

He said the dignity conferred upon him actually was conferred "on the church of New York of which I am on this occasion not so much the head as the representative."

Spellman paid tribute to the pope, declaring that "in the leadership of the world today, he is the only symbol and embodiment of wisdom without wile, fortitude without brute force, vigor without violence."

"To him," Spellman said, "come cries of men and of peoples, to him the eyes of the hungry, the naked, the oppressed, and from him come luminous counsel and boundless mercy."

to Patman's question, that young Ford made a statement that his company is losing $300 on each car it makes, but that the manufacturer did not point out that the company's production at the time was just a fraction of prewor capacity.

Cites Price Ceilings

"I don't think any intelligent manufacturer would ask for pricings on the basis of such low production," Bowles said.

He added that "it is inconceivable to me that Mr. Ford did not know OPA took off parts price ceilings in November, except those handled by dealers."

Saying he did not ordinarily disclose prices a manufacturer requests OPA to approve, Bowles told the committee that "because of the many statements made" he felt the committee should know what price Ford asked. He said this would be the "answer to why Mr. Ford wants ceilings lifted."

Then he said the Ford Company has a record for high wages and low prices, and commented: "I don't think this request (for a fifty-five per cent increase) was in line with the tradition of the Ford Company. I am sorry that young Ford has departed from that tradition.

gardless of age, in the past escaped hardening of arteries after having diabetes for five years or more. This applies to children, too.

Tonight he reported for the first time on diabetics who have had the disease for fifteen years or more using his diet. He said that thirty-eight per cent still were shown to be free from arterial hardening. He had reported previously of five and ten year patients, all with a marked reduction in hardening of arteries.

Dr. Rabinowitch said he believed that with rigid following of a good diet and use of insulin where necessary the lives of diabetics can be lengthened materially. At present statistics show that on the average diabetics' lives are fifteen to twenty years shorter than the average.

He warned against a great danger in a tendency which now is widespread to disregard diet in diabetes and rely on insulin. He declared that a careful diet, which was the only treatment before the discovery of insulin twenty-five years ago, still is as necessary as ever. The difference now is that the diet can be different and better. But, he said, a patient must follow his diet just as carefully as before insulin.

son is concerned. In no period of American history have Americans ever condoned treasonable acts. We do not intend to begin now."

The twenty-two suspects do not include the eight Americans indicted for treason in 1943 in connection with alleged broadcasts for the enemy. Of these, Clark said, four are in United States Army internment camps in Europe—Edward Delaney, of Olney, Ill., Douglas Chandler, of Baltimore, Constance Drexel, of Philadelphia, and Robert Best, of New York City. Army intelligence officers arrested Best in Austria last week.

Fred Kaltenbach, of Dubuque, Iowa, is believed held by the Russians in Germany, Clark said. Max Koischwitz, of New York City, is unofficially reported to have died in 1944, Jane Anderson, of Atlanta, is missing and Ezra Pound is in a Washington hospital. A federal court has declared Pound of unsound mind and unable to stand trial.

Chicago Youth Held On Theft Charge

A 19-year-old Chicago youth, arrested on a Blue Ridge bus in Frederick Monday morning, was committed to the county jail by Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., yesterday for action of the April grand jury on a charge of stealing a topcoat, a suitcase and its contents, an American Legion pin and an army discharge pin from Roy Satzer, Cumberland, here early Monday morning.

The youth, Raymond G. Branham, was jailed when he was unable to post bond.

In a statement made to State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris, Branham said he arrived in Cumberland on Sunday and met Satzer at the bus station here about 1 a. m. Monday.

Later, he said, he went to Satzer's residence to sleep, got up about 6 a. m. and took both pins and the topcoat. A key to a locker at the bus station was in the coat pocket, according to Branham, who added that he used the key to open the locker and take the suitcase.

About 8 a. m. Monday Branham boarded a bus and was on the way to Washington when he was arrested at Frederick by state police.

Branham was returned to Cumberland by County Investigator Terrence J. Boyle and Deputy Sheriff J. W. Radcliffe.

Mother Prevents Girl from Having Friends and Fun

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Mothers, here's one for you to think about.

What do you think a young girl should do when her mother won't let her have any normal friendships or any normal tenn-age good times?

Here's the problem:

Dear Miss Fairfax:

"I am in my early teen age and I am a sophomore in high school. I had many friends, but as days and weeks go by, I am losing them because of my mother.

"I dare not bring my friends home evenings because my mother insults them. Most of all, I am not allowed to attend dances and basketball games at my high school. The only way I ever get out is by going to the movies once or sometimes twice a week. My mother sometimes goes with me, and then I do not dare speak to my friends.

"My father is different. He always tells me to go if I want to, but I don't go because it causes so much trouble.

"What would you do? Would you go? I can never tell my mother anything. She knows best, or thinks she does. I do all the work except maybe the dishes once in awhile. I do all the scrubbing, washing, ironing and dishes mostly, so I should be allowed some freedom, don't you think? What should I do? I have a very lonely life except for school.

"LONESOME."

I certainly do think you ought to have some freedom, and some fun, too. Lots of it. And I don't think you ought to have to fight your mother for it, either.

If you haven't been able to get your mother to see how unfair it is to make you work so hard and then to forbid your having good times with your friends, how about getting some help from your father? It seems to me he is the one who should take the whole thing up with your mother and work out with her some plan by which you could lead a more normal life.

You say your father tells you to go out with your friends if you want to, no matter what your mother says. Can't you make him see that you can hardly have any fun going out if it means a fight with your mother every time?

I would suggest that you ask your father to have a talk with your mother and insist that she allow you to attend a reasonable number of school dances and athletic events, as other high school girls do. Since he is on your side already, he should be willing to assume the responsibility of seeing that you get the freedom he evidently believes it is right for you to have.

And you mothers who are readers of this column—what do you think of this situation? What do you think a girl with such a problem could do to solve it? Let's have your suggestions.

Purchase of Hose Dryer Discussed

By GEORGE DADDYSMAN

WESTERNPORT, Feb. 19 — The purchase of a hose dryer for use by the Potomac Fire company was discussed at the meeting of Mayor Milton McIntyre and the commissioners last night.

Chief William Mayles informed the officials that the fire company is considering the purchase of a hose dryer which would cost $450, if the town would pay half of the cost. This dryer is electrically operated and will dry 500 feet of fire hose in from four to six hours, twenty-five to fifty times faster than a hose tower.

Since the Oakland fire company has a dryer, it was decided to send representatives of the fire company and the mayor and commissioners to Oakland Sunday morning to inspect the dryer.

Carr Getty, town clerk, read a letter from George L. Hall, Baltimore, chief engineer of the state department of health, stating the surplus property administration has available for sale to public agencies surplus materials at a considerable saving in cost.

Such materials are available for purchase by municipalities and other similar public agencies. Complete details relating to procedure have not yet been worked out.

Getty was instructed to ask Hall to see that the town's name is placed on the information mailing list.

Two 14-Year-Old Girls Break Out Of Keyser Jail

Smash Padlock on Cell Door; Third Prisoner Refuses To Leave

KEYSER, W. Va., Feb. 19—No trace has been found late today of two 14-year-old girls being held as material witnesses who broke out of a Mineral county jail around 2 o'clock this morning after smashing a padlock on their cell door and cooly walking out of the place.

The two girls, one from Burlington, W. Va., and the other, who lives three miles outside of Keyser, woke up a third girl in their cell, Mabel Waybright, 18, prior to their departure and urged her to accompany them, authorities said.

The Waybright girl, who is scheduled to be turned loose in a day or two, refused to budge from the cell where she was found this morning at 8 o'clock when Mrs. O. A. Harman, the motherly matron appeared with breakfast trays for her three charges.

Believe Headed for Virginia

Prosecutor Vernon E. Rankin said today that authorities are of the opinion the two girls "hopped a coal truck" and headed for Virginia where one of the girls has relatives. Rankin said both girls have "poor records" with one being held on a delinquency charge in addition to being a material witness in a case now pending in court.

Rankin also said that he was of the opinion the girls received "outside help" in making their escape but declined to elucidate further.

Jailor Harmon said he locked up for the night around 11 p. m. Monday and that everything was in order at that time. The Waybright girl said she did not know how the two girls smashed the lock as they did not awaken her until they had the cell door open. Rankin said the girls might have used the heel of a shoe to smash the lock. Harman discounted a theory that they picked the lock with materials in their handbags which they had in their cells with them.

Well Behaved

With the cell door open, the two girls walked out of the jail into the Sheriff's office, sprung the lock on the outside door and walked out, authorities said. They have not been seen since.

Mr. and Mrs. Harman said the girls were "quite well behaved," since they were put in jail but added that the one girl was inclined to be "somewhat loud" at times.

Rankin said that authorities are on the lookout for the pair and said that both would probably be sent to reform school after they are apprehended.

Early Day Common Law Cases Seen As Uncommon Now

Harris Relates Examples of Unusual Punishments to Rotarians.

Although the common law is the root of American jurisprudence, there were in early days many cases in the nation and state that can today be regarded as quite uncommon, Morgan C. Harris, state's attorney, told local Rotarians yesterday.

A few relicts of uncommon laws and punishments have continued until the present, although they are freakish exceptions, Harris said in the course of a talk as guest speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Rotarians at Central YMCA.

In order that his listeners might appreciate what is uncommon law, Harris explained the common law as consisting of the principles, usages and rules coming from court decisions derived from the mother country and used in conformity to constitutional prescriptions in all the states, and the District of Columbia, excepting Louisiana, the jurisprudence of which is derived from the civil law.

Unusual Punishments Cited

Many queer cases arising in Maryland were recited along with the cruel and unusual punishments inflicted for such offenses as speaking disrespectfully of legislators, perjury, sex crimes and even witchcraft. There is one Maryland case, in which a woman, Rebecca Fowler, was hanged for witchcraft, the victim having been convicted and executed in that manner in 1685, Harris noted. It was not until 1747 that this crime was abolished in England and it later was here.

The Maryland Declaration of Intentions law was cited as a relict of early uncommon laws. Immigration was fostered in those days and the present declarations law stems from like requirements then such as requiring three months' notice when one could depart from a community. Such restrictions came from the early indenture laws.

Required To Bring Whiskey

One "uncommon" law was that requiring indentured immigrants to bring with them to this country fifty-two gallons of whiskey each as part of their sustenance for a year.

Several amusing law cases arising in local courts and elsewhere in the state were related by the speaker.

In noting theg reat development of the common law in the last two centuries the speaker cited the fact that earlier some 200 offenses were listed as capital crimes and the fact that only two of them are now on the books.

A CHAMP RETIRES

IF YOU DOUBT the right of Louisa Kuhn to the title of Champion War Worker as she retires, just glance at her record. In her fifty-six years with the same company as a power press operator she has missed but two days of work because of illness. What kept her in tip-top shape until she suffered a heart attack recently was a daily two-and-a-half mile walk to work.

Fred Perry Will Manage Liberty

Fred Perry, formerly manager of the Olympic theater at Watertown, N. Y., since March 1943, has assumed his duties here as manager of the Liberty theater, North Liberty street, according to Reynold Wallach, Strand theater and manager in Cumberland for the Schine Enterprises.

Perry succeeds Leon Elliott, who was manager here only a short time, and was transferred to the Olympic in Watertown, due to illness in his family there.

Perry said last night he expects to move his family here. He is a veteran of World War I, and had three sons in World War II, two of whom are still in service overseas. One son was just recently discharged. Perry is an active member of the American Legion. His own post is Army and Navy Post No. 61, American Legion and Voiture No. 21, Forty and Eight, both at Watertown.

The new Liberty manager was active in civic affairs at Watertown, arranged weekly programs for the Red Cross at Pine Camp and conducted a number of War Bond shows.

Mr. Perry was associated with the Comerford Publix Theatrical Corporation in New York city before going to Watertown in 1943. He was also located in Watertown for some years before joining the Comerford chain to handle stock companies, vaudeville, musical revues and legitimate productions in Binghampton, Scranton, Bridgeport, Hartford, Norfolk and other cities.

Here's the problem:

Dear Miss Fairfax:

"I am in my early teen age and I am a sophomore in high school. I had many friends, but as days and weeks go by, I am losing them because of my mother.

"I dare not bring my friends home evenings because my mother insults them. Most of all, I am not allowed to attend dances and basketball games at my high school. The only way I ever get out is by going to the movies once or sometimes twice a week. My mother sometimes goes with me, and then I do not dare speak to my friends.

"My father is different. He always tells me to go if I want to, but I don't go because it causes so much trouble.

"What would you do? Would you go? I can never tell my mother anything. She knows best, or thinks she does. I do all the work except maybe the dishes once in awhile. I do all the scrubbing, washing, ironing and dishes mostly, so I should be allowed some freedom, don't you think? What should I do? I have a very lonely life except for school.

"LONESOME."

I certainly do think you ought to have some freedom, and some fun, too. Lots of it. And I don't think you ought to have to fight your mother for it, either.

If you haven't been able to get your mother to see how unfair it is to make you work so hard and then to forbid your having good times with your friends, how about getting some help from your father? It seems to me he is the one who should take the whole thing up with your mother and work out with her some plan by which you could lead a more normal life.

You say your father tells you to go out with your friends if you want to, no matter what your mother says. Can't you make him see that you can hardly have any fun going out if it means a fight with your mother every time?

I would suggest that you ask your father to have a talk with your mother and insist that she allow you to attend a reasonable number of school dances and athletic events, as other high school girls do. Since he is on your side already, he should be willing to assume the responsibility of seeing that you get the freedom he evidently believes it is right for you to have.

And you mothers who are readers of this column—what do you think of this situation? What do you think a girl with such a problem could do to solve it? Let's have your suggestions.

Ridgeley Upsets Moorefield High In 40-39 Battle

Ace Comer Gets 22 Points as Hawks Gain Revenge for Earlier Loss

Ridgeley high school's Blackhawks, defeated earlier in the season at Moorefield by the score of 35-17, sprang a surprise last evening by nosing out the Moorefield Yellowjackets in a return game on the Ridgeley court, 40 to 39.

It was a close battle all the way with Moorefield leading at the quarter, 14-13, the teams deadlocked at the halfway mark, 21-21, and the Hawks holding a four-point edge at the end of the third period, 32-28.

The victory was Ridgeley's fifth against three defeats in the conference but the setback failed to dislodge the Yellowjackets from second place because of the fact the latter have played 14 conference games against Piedmont's seven, and Ridgeley's eight.

Leaders in the conference stand as follows:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Piedmont	7	1	.875
Moorefield	11	3	.786
Keyser	5	2	.714
Ridgeley	5	3	.625

Ace Comer was the big show for the Blackhawks in last night's battle. He led the Ridgeley assault and accounted for more than half of the winning team's tallies by ringing up twenty-two points. Ace meshed eight fielders and connected six times in twelve tries at the charity line. Bill Brehany accounted for ten markers.

George Hott, Moorefield center, collected thirteen points to lead the scorers of the Hardy county team.

Keller, Moorefield guard, was banished on personal fouls in the final period.

Four Given Permission To Resume Racing if They Submit Names of New Trainers

BALTIMORE, Feb. 19 (AP) — In an unprecedented action, the Maryland Racing Commission announced today that four owners had been returned to "good standing" and might resume racing their horses as soon as they submit names of new trainers acceptable to the commission.

Present trainers for the stables of W. L. Brann, S. W. Labrot, Jr., and F. W. Page, all of Maryland, and E. D Talbert of Washington, D. C., remain under suspension pending the outcome of civil court actions to determine the legality of the commission's rules on stimulation.

They are E. A. Christmas, trainer for Brann; Clay Sutphin, trainer for Labrot; Robert F. Curran, trainer for Talbert, and C. O. Ferguson, trainer for Page.

Commission Chairman George P. Mahoney said the action was unprecedented because the owners usually are barred until final decision on the stimulation cases.

Morphine Found in Saliva

At hearings last December it was testified that evidence of morphine was found in the saliva samples taken from horses running at the Pimlico fall meeting.

Final commission action was withheld pending a decision by Circuit Judge Emery H. Niles on mandamus petitions filed by counsel for Christmas, Sutphin, Curran and the American Trainers Association. All attacked the commission rule holding trainers solely liable where evidence of stimulation was found.

"Inasmuch as the cases are now pending," Mahoney said, "the commission felt it was only fair to allow the owners — whom we don't hold responsible for any stimulation—to run their horses if they get new trainers.

"These cases may last some time, so we would be penalizing the owners right severely by continuing to bar them. They would be put to the expense of maintaining the horses without any possibility of realizing money from racing them."

Court Ruling Expected

After hearing demurrers filed by the attorney general's office earlier this month, Judge Niles said a decision could be expected in about ten days. It was reported that a court ruling might be made tomorrow.

Ferguson did not take court action, but the commission withheld final ruling in his case pending settlement of the mandamus petitions.

Christmas was charged with responsibility for alleged stimulation of New Challenge, who won the fourth race November 19, and Weathercock, second in the fourth race November 27.

Sutphin was suspended on similar charges in connection with Labrot's horse, Shak, winner of the sixth race November 19.

Talbert's horse, One Only, trained by Curran, ran fifth in the seventh race November 17.

Ferguson, under suspension on charges that Bully Gusher, who won the seventh November 19, was stimulated.

Middies Will Battle Mountaineers Tonight

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 19 (AP) — West Virginia's basketball coach Lee Patton brought his court-wise charges to the naval academy today to prepare for the contest with Navy tomorrow he predicted would be "difficult."

The Mountaineers filed into Dahlgren hall this afternoon for their final pre-game rehearsal. Coach Patton said they were "apparently in good shape" and were "trying to find the basket."

These same players haven't had much trouble with that little trick this season, having piled up an average of 70 points a game and taken 18 out of 19 games. Navy has averaged 52 points, winning 10 games and losing two.

Second's Pan Stops Towel

By C. V. BURNS

Bobby Porter, the local amateur lightweight trial horse, pulled the best one of the season at the conclusion of Monday night's boxing show at the state armory.

He jumped into the ring, walked over to Announcer Tom Conlon, and made it known that he desired to issue a challenge. But he forgot the name of the guy he wanted to fight so badly.

"What's that guy's name?" Bobby asked Conlon.

"I dunno," replied Tom, "who do you mean?"

As the crowd was filing out of the armory Porter was struggling with the "mike" trying to get his message to the patrons but it was all in vain.

Adding insult to injury, someone had disconnected the loud speaking apparatus, and there Bobby stood, whipped before he could throw a punch.

Jackie Klosterman, the slim red-thatched youngster, who prevented the local quartet of fisticuffers from drawing a blank in their matches with the Zan Athletic Club in Monday's show, is one of the most popular amateurs throwing leather in local shows.

It was his fifth start of the season and the manner in which he whipped Don Post, a boy who has figured in numerous shows in McKeesport, Pa., pleased his many followers. His triumph over the Morgantown featherweight was more convincing than "Skeets" Starkey's squeak over the Zan boxer in the same ring on January 14.

As one fan put it after Monday's fight:

If popularity was a snowflake Jack Klosterman would be a blizzard.

Edward Finzel, coach of the Beall high school basketball team, who has seen all of the county loop teams in action, picked his W.M.I. League all-star team after Allegany paid a visit to Frostburg last week.

Eddie placed Radcliffe and Brant at forwards; Bob Price at center, and Bachman and Shaw at guards.

By gosh, that's the Allegany team. And he wasn't joking, son.

W. Elliott Nefflen, the West Virginia American Legion's national executive committeeman, who has been quoted in recent days in connection with the fuss between John Stelle, national commander, and Gen. Omar N. Bradley, of the Veterans Administration, is none other than "Pete" Nefflen, formerly of Keyser, who refereed the Keyser Collegians' home games when the latter was the No. 1 independent basketball team of this section.

Nefflen, now an attorney in Charleston, served one term as West Virginia Department commander of the American Legion, a position now held by Ray Burg, of Kelly-Mansfield Post, of Piedmont.

Many thanks to Fred T. Small, manager of the Celanese plant, for the "Australian Sports News" bulletin he sent to us.

The item about Dinny Pails, who almost certainly will be named a member of the Australian tennis team to defend the Davis cup in the challenge round at Melbourne next December, is interesting.

Pails recently forced Jack Bromwich to play five sets to beat him for the Australian singles title at Adelaide.

Unconditional release of Joe "Ducky" Medwick by the Boston Braves brought back memories of the days when the flat-footed slugger, who wobbled like a duck, played with Wheeling and Scottdale of the Middle Atlantic League.

Medwick, still going to school, played his first organized ball with Wheeling in 1929, under the name of "Joe King." He appeared in 115 games with the Stogies as second baseman and hit .310. In 1930 he bobbed up in Scottdale's lineup but he dropped "King" in favor of his correct name. He was a terror that season, blasting the pellet at a .419 clip in 75 games, and belting 22 home runs. From Scottdale he moved on to Houston, of the Texas league, and thence to the Cardinals with whom he played eight seasons.

Joe was the National league's most valuable player in 1937 and was sold along with Curt Davis to Brooklyn for four players and $125,000 in 1940. In 1943 he went to the Giants on waivers and transferred to the Braves in 1945.

He was not quite 18 when he made his debut at Wheeling 17 years ago and he was 20 when he joined St. Louis.

Coach Honey Russell, of Manhattan college, New York city, says his managers are as green as his basketball players.

During a time out, the former pro cage star sent a water boy on the floor to tell the Jaspers their opponents had switched to a zone defense.

The youngster conveyed the information all right—but it was the referee he told.

Gov. Frank J. Davis, of the local Moose lodge, who went out and formed his own league after the Pen-Mar (now Bi-State) League boys slammed the door in his face, was one of the hottest baseball fans in town when the Colts were in the Middle Atlantic League.

The well known plumber blew a gasket during a recent baseball session here when he said fences were built around ball parks to keep the players from running away; not to keep the fans out.

A group of local amateur boxing enthusiasts were talking about unusual ring incidents the other night when the one concerning the second, who was hit in the pan with his own towel, was revived.

It seems that a local simon pure was taking a shellacking during a match in Washington, D. C., and after the lad had been floored several times one of his seconds tossed a towel into the ring to signify surrender.

The referee picked up the white flag and hurled it out of the ring right smack into the second's face.

"What's the idea?" inquired the handler, who figured his boy was slap-happy and might suffer an injury if the arbiter failed to halt the slaughter.

"You mind your own business," snapped the official, "I'll stop this bout when I think your boy has had enough."

"Gosh, was my face red after getting that bawling out before those ringsiders!" piped the second.

The basketball tournament season is just around the corner. We know of two organizations interested in putting on tournaments here.

Layton Beeman's Goals Turn Tide in Close Battle at Coney

LONACONING, Feb. 19—Central high school's Tigers, who shook a seven-game losing streak last week by defeating Barton, jolted Beall high school, of Frostburg, tonight in a W.M.I. League game by the score of 35 to 29.

The victory failed to pull Central out of the league cellar but the Tigers had company in Bruce high, which also has won two games and lost seven. These teams will battle it out Friday night in Westernport to determine which of the two shall finish the season in the anchor position.

Tonight's game was a thriller and was not decided until the final quarter after the figures were knotted at 23-23. Then three baskets in rapid succession by Layton Beeman turned the tide and the Tigers were never headed.

Central held a two-point lead at the quarter, 7-5 and retained this edge at the half, 12-10 and at the close of the third period, 21-19. Billy Farrady's goal tied it up at 21-21 early in the fourth period, and baskets by Bob Doyle and Charley Geis squared it again at 23-23. Then Beeman's fielders started Coach Frank Carrington's outfit on their way to victory.

Doyle le dthe Orange and Black offensive with seven fielders and a total of fifteen points while Beeman and Frizzell banged in eight points each. Geis was Beall's "big gun" with five field goals. The lineups:

Fort Hill and Barton Postpone League Tilt

The Fort Hill-Barton contest, scheduled last night in Barton, was postponed until next Wednesday, on account of yesterday's snowstorm which made highway travel hazardous.

Coach Bobby Cavanaugh announced last night that arrangements were made with Barton yesterday to call off last night's W. M. I. League game.

Bi-State Secretary Is Advised Westvaco Will Join Circuit

Westvaco will enter a team in the Bi-State Baseball League, making the loop an eight-club circuit, Carl "Pete" Dicken, secretary, announced last night.

Dicken said this information was relayed to him by William H. Lemmert, of Frostburg, vice president of the league.

Other teams in the circuit are Barton, Midland, Lonaconing, Frostburg and the Queen City Brewers, of Cumberland; Romney, W. Va., and Centerville, Pa.

Each club will be required to post forfeits of $50 each at a meeting to be held Sunday, March 3, at 2 p. m. at the home of Farrady Post, American Legion, Frostburg.

Dicken said the player limit for each club this year will be twenty-five.

Will Release Stidham

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 19. (AP)—The Marquette university athletic board voted tonight not to re-hire Football Coach Tom E. Stidham when his agreement with the school terminates March 1.

The Rev. Thomas F. Divine, S. J., board secretary, said the action was not a criticism of Stidham's record, but was due to "a conflict in policy."

Jenkins Joins Army

BALTIMORE, Feb. 19. (AP)—Lew Jenkins, former world's lightweight boxing champion, returned to Uncle Sam's forces for the third time today when he enlisted in the army.

The Cleveland Indians won eleven games and lost three under their home lights last season.

Piedmont Seeks Mineral County Honors Tonight

PVC Leaders Would Clinch Title if Victorious over Keyser

Leading contenders for the basketball championship of the Potomac Valley Conference will clash for the second time this season when Coach "Jeff" Baker's Piedmont Lions and Coach Fred Clark's Keyser Golden Tornado meet on the Piedmont high court at 8 o'clock.

Piedmont, victorious in its last six games, leads the circuit with seven wins and one defeat while Keyser has bagged five wins in seven conference starts.

This game is an important one for both clubs as a victory for the Lions will enable the Piedmont team to strengthen its grip on first place while a defeat will just about eliminate Keyser from the running for the title.

The Lions turned back Keyser on its home floor several weeks ago by the score of 30 to 27. Piedmont split even with Moorefield, which occupies the league runner-up berth while Keyser holds a 33-22 decision over Moorefield in their only meeting to date.

Keyser and Piedmont are among the topnotch scholastic teams in the tri-state district this season. The Lions have won 14 and lost 3 while Keyser has marked up 12 wins against 5 setbacks.

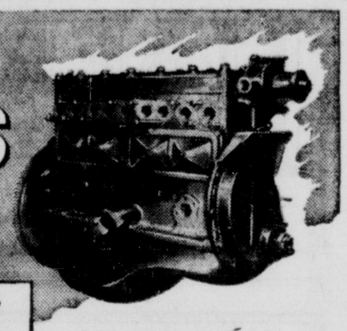

A Piedmont triumph tonight would give Baker's boys the championship of Mineral county in view of the fact that they've already scored two wins over Ridgeley, 31-24 and 29-13.

Dr. Dennis Burns Rice of Britton, S. D., plans to sell twenty fillies and 19 colts at the Delaware, Ohio trotting track next September.

Harris Relates Examples of Unusual Punishments to Rotarians

Although the common law is the root of American jurisprudence, there were in early days many cases in the nation and state that can today be regarded as quite uncommon, Morgan C. Harris, state's attorney, told local Rotarians yesterday.

A few relicts of uncommon laws and punishments have continued until the present, although they are freakish exceptions, Harris said in the course of a talk as guest speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Rotarians at Central YMCA.

In order that his listeners might appreciate what is uncommon law, Harris explained the common law as consisting of the principles, usages and rules coming from court decisions derived from the mother country and used in conformity to constitutional prescriptions in all the states, and the District of Columbia, excepting Louisiana, the jurisprudence of which is derived from the civil law.

Unusual Punishments Cited

Many queer cases arising in Maryland were recited along with the cruel and unusual punishments inflicted for such offenses as speaking disrespectfully of legislators, perjury, sex crimes and even witchcraft. There is one Maryland case, in which a woman, Rebecca Fowler, was hanged for witchcraft, the victim having been convicted and executed in that manner in 1685, Harris noted. It was not until 1747 that this crime was abolished in England and it later was here.

The Maryland Declaration of Intentions law was cited as a relict of early uncommon laws. Immigration was fostered in those days and the present declarations law stems from like requirements then such as requiring three months' notice when one could depart from a community. Such restrictions came from the early indenture laws.

Required To Bring Whiskey

One "uncommon" law was that requiring indentured immigrants to bring with them to this country fifty-two gallons of whiskey each as part of their sustenance for a year.

Several amusing law cases arising in local courts and elsewhere in the state were related by the speaker.

In noting theg reat development of the common law in the last two centuries the speaker cited the fact that earlier some 200 offenses were listed as capital crimes and the fact that only two of them are now on the books.

A CHAMP RETIRES

IF YOU DOUBT the right of Louisa Kuhn to the title of Champion War Worker as she retires, just glance at her record. She is 74, weighs eighty-five pounds, is deaf and dumb, but has maintained a production record at a Meriden, Conn., plant during three wars that matches any man in the company. In her fifty-six years with the same company as a power press operator she has missed but two days of work because of illness. What kept her in tip-top shape until she suffered a heart attack recently was a daily two-and-a-half mile walk to work.

Fred Perry Will Manage Liberty

Fred Perry, formerly manager of the Olympic theater at Watertown, N. Y., since March 1943, has assumed his duties here as manager of the Liberty theater, North Liberty street, according to Reynold Wallach, Strand theater and manager in Cumberland for the Schine Enterprises.

Perry succeeds Leon Elliott, who was manager here only a short time, and was transferred to the Olympic in Watertown, due to illness in his family there.

Perry said last night he expects to move his family here. He is a veteran of World War I, and had three sons in World War II, two of whom are still in service overseas. One son was just recently discharged. Perry is an active member of the American Legion. His own post is Army and Navy Post No. 61, American Legion and Voiture No. 21, Forty and Eight, both at Watertown.

The new Liberty manager was active in civic affairs at Watertown, arranged weekly programs for the Red Cross at Pine Camp and conducted a number of War Bond shows.

Mr. Perry was associated with the Comerford Publix Theatrical Corporation in New York city before going to Watertown in 1943. He was also located in Watertown for some years before joining the Comerford chain to handle stock companies, vaudeville, musical revues and legitimate productions in Binghampton, Scranton, Bridgeport, Hartford, Norfolk and other cities.

Reduction Is Ordered In Power Rates

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 19 (AP) — Virginia customers of the Appalachian Electric power Company will receive rate reductions beginning May 1 which will amount to $417,000 a year, the state corporation commission announced today.

The principal territory served by the company in this state is from Lynchburg west. A spokesman said similar reductions probably would be ordered by the West Virginia Utilities Commission for the company's customers in the neighboring state.

In the matter of the Petition of George Edward Currey to Change His Name vs. Ex Parte.

No. 18964 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of the petition in the above case is to change the name of George Edward Currey to that of George Edward Vannoy.

The petition states that the petitioner is thirty years of age, has been a resident of Cumberland for the past two years, and the reason the petitioner desires to have his name changed is because the name of Vannoy has been used by him for a long period of time, and because he is commonly known by the name of Vannoy and not by the name of Currey.

Les MacMitchell Given GI Award

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

NEW YORK, Feb. 19. (AP)—Leslie MacMitchell, postwar king of the milers, was named the outstanding GI performer in last Saturday night's New York Athletic Club games today as he began pointing for the one goal that always has escaped him—the National AAU indoor championship.

The former New York university star and ex-naval officer isn't making any predictions about his chances in the national AAU meet at Madison Square Garden this week-end but his record of four triumphs in as many starts this season stamps him as the logical choice in the mile.

MacMitchell appeared confident and promised his best possible performance after accepting the handsome three-foot trophy awarded at the weekly meeting of metropolitan track writers today by the NYAC Post of the American Legion.

He was selected as the foremost athlete among present and former service men—including representatives of the military and naval academies—by a committee of eleven newspapermen, polling seven first-place and three second-place votes for 44 points on a 5-3-1 basis.

Fred Sickinger, of Manhattan, who won the Halpin 880 for his fourth straight half-mile victory, placed second in the voting with 21 points. Tom Carey, of the New York Pioneer Club, 60-yard dash winner, was third with 15 points.

George Metkovich of the Boston Red Sox batted only .260 last season but his average for night games was .421, tops in the American League.

Pot O' Luck Rated Doubtful Starter

HIALEAH, Fla., Feb. 19 (AP) — Trainer Ben Jones said here today that Warren Wright's Pot O' Luck right now is rated a doubtful starter in the $50,000 added Widener of March 2 and that the stable is depending more on Armed for the mile and a quarter classic.

Pot O' Luck, whose 1945 triumphs included the Arlington Classic, the Lawrence Realization and Jockey Club Gold Cup, struck his right foreleg just above the ankle while playing last Thursday. The leg filled slightly and was still bandaged today, but Jones said it was not a serious injury and that the colt might be back in training by tomorrow or the next day. "He isn't lame but had to miss some of his training. It is still possible he'll go in the Widener, but at this time he's doubtful," said Jones.

Busher, seventh leading money winner of all time with $334,035, finished "out of the money" but once in twenty starts.

Ridgeley Upsets Moorefield High In 40-39 Battle

Ace Comer Gets 22 Points as Hawks Gain Revenge for Earlier Loss

Ridgeley high school's Blackhawks, defeated earlier in the season at Moorefield by the score of 35-17, sprang a surprise last evening by nosing out the Moorefield Yellowjackets in a return game on the Ridgeley court, 40 to 39.

It was a close battle all the way with Moorefield leading at the quarter, 14-13, the teams deadlocked at the halfway mark, 21-21, and the Hawks holding a four-point edge at the end of the third period, 32-28.

The victory was Ridgeley's fifth against three defeats in the conference but the setback failed to dislodge the Yellowjackets from second place because of the fact the latter have played 14 conference games, against Piedmont's seven, and Ridgeley's eight.

Leaders in the conference stand as follows:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Piedmont	7	1	.875
Moorefield	11	3	.786
Keyser	5	2	.714
Ridgeley	5	3	.625

Ace Comer was the big show for the Blackhawks in last night's battle. He led the Ridgeley assault and accounted for more than half of the winning team's tallies by ringing up twenty-two points. Ace meshed eight fielders and connected six times in twelve tries at the charity line. Bill Brehany accounted for ten markers.

George Hott, Moorefield center, collected thirteen points to lead the scorers of the Hardy county team.

Keller, Moorefield guard, was banished on personal fouls in the final period.

The girls' contest between Ridgeley and Moorefield ended in a 10-10 draw. Overtime periods are taboo in these contests. The lineups:

Four Given Permission To Resume Racing if They Submit Names of New Trainers

BALTIMORE, Feb. 19 (AP) — In an unprecedented action, the Maryland Racing Commission announced today that four owners had been returned to "good standing" and might resume racing their horses as soon as they submit names of new trainers acceptable to the commission.

Present trainers for the stables of W. L. Brann, S. W. Labrot, Jr., and F. W. Page, all of Maryland, and E. D Talbert of Washington, D. C., remain under suspension pending the outcome of civil court actions to determine the legality of the commission's rules on stimulation.

They are E. A. Christmas, trainer for Brann; Clay Sutphin, trainer for Labrot; Robert F. Curran, trainer for Talbert, and C. O. Ferguson, trainer for Page.

Commission Chairman George P. Mahoney said the action was unprecedented because the owners usually are barred until final decision on the stimulation cases.

Morphine Found in Saliva

At hearings last December it was testified that evidence of morphine was found in the saliva samples taken from horses running at the Pimlico fall meeting.

Final commission action was withheld pending a decision by Circuit Judge Emery H. Niles on mandamus petitions filed by counsel for Christmas, Sutphin, Curran and the American Trainers Association. All attacked the commission rule holding trainers solely liable where evidence of stimulation was found.

"Inasmuch as the cases are now pending," Mahoney said, "the commission felt it was only fair to allow the owners — whom we don't hold responsible for any stimulation—to run their horses if they get new trainers.

"These cases may last some time, so we would be penalizing the owners right severely by continuing to bar them. They would be put to the expense of maintaining the horses without any possibility of realizing money from racing them."

Court Ruling Expected

After hearing demurrers filed by the attorney general's office earlier this month, Judge Niles said a decision could be expected in about ten days. It was reported that a court ruling might be made tomorrow.

Ferguson did not take court action, but the commission withheld final ruling in his case pending settlement of the mandamus petitions.

Christmas was charged with responsibility for alleged stimulation of New Challenge, who won the fourth race November 19, and Weathercock, second in the fourth race November 27.

Sutphin was suspended on similar charges in connection with Labrot's horse, Shak, winner of the sixth race November 19.

Talbert's horse, One Only, trained by Curran, ran fifth in the seventh race November 17.

Ferguson, under suspension on charges that Bully Gusher, who won the seventh November 19, was stimulated.

Middies Will Battle Mountaineers Tonight

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 19 (AP) — West Virginia's basketball coach Lee Patton brought his court-wise charges to the naval academy today to prepare for the contest with Navy tomorrow he predicted would be "difficult."

The Mountaineers filed into Dahlgren hall this afternoon for their final pre-game rehearsal. Coach Patton said they were "apparently in good shape" and were "trying to find the basket."

These same players haven't had much trouble with that little trick this season, having piled up an average of 70 points a game and taken 18 out of 19 games. Navy has averaged 52 points, winning 10 games and losing two.

Second's Pan Stops Towel

By C. V. BURNS

Bobby Porter, the local amateur lightweight trial horse, pulled the best one of the season at the conclusion of Monday night's boxing show at the state armory.

He jumped into the ring, walked over to Announcer Tom Conlon, and made it known that he desired to issue a challenge. But he forgot the name of the guy he wanted to fight so badly.

"What's that guy's name?" Bobby asked Conlon.

"I dunno," replied Tom, "who do you mean?"

As the crowd was filing out of the armory Porter was struggling with the "mike" trying to get his message to the patrons but it was all in vain.

Adding insult to injury, someone had disconnected the loud speaking apparatus, and there Bobby stood, whipped before he could throw a punch.

Jackie Klosterman, the slim redthatched youngster, who prevented the local quartet of fisticuffers from drawing a blank in their matches with the Zan Athletic Club in Monday's show, is one of the most popular amateurs throwing leather in local shows.

It was his fifth start of the season and the manner in which he whipped Don Post, a boy who has figured in numerous shows in McKeesport, Pa., pleased his many followers. His triumph over the Morgantown featherweight was more convincing than "Skeets" Starkey's squeak over the Zan boxer in the same ring on January 14.

As one fan put it after Monday's fight:

If popularity was a snowflake Jack Klosterman would be a blizzard.

Edward Finzel, coach of the Beall high school basketball team, who has seen all of the county loop teams in action, picked his W.M.I. League all-star team after Allegany paid a visit to Frostburg last week.

Eddie placed Radcliffe and Brant at forwards; Bob Price at center, and Bachman and Shaw at guards.

By gosh, that's the Allegany team. And he wasn't joking, son.

W. Elliott Nefflen, the West Virginia American Legion's national executive committeeman, who has been quoted in recent days in connection with the fuss between John Stelle, national commander, and Gen. Omar N. Bradley, of the Veterans Administration, is none other than "Pete" Nefflen, formerly of Keyser, who refereed the Keyser Collegians' home games when the latter was the No. 1 independent basketball team of this section.

Nefflen, now an attorney in Charleston, served one term as West Virginia Department commander of the American Legion, a position now held by Ray Burg, of Kelly-Mansfield Post, of Piedmont.

Many thanks to Fred T. Small, manager of the Celanese plant, for the "Australian Sports News" bulletin he sent to us.

The item about Dinny Pails, who almost certainly will be named a member of the Australian tennis team to defend the Davis cup in the challenge round at Melbourne next December, is interesting.

Pails recently forced Jack Bromwich to play five sets to beat him for the Australian singles title at Adelaide.

Unconditional release of Joe "Ducky" Medwick by the Boston Braves brought back memories of the days when the flat-footed slugger, who wobbled like a duck, played with Wheeling and Scottdale of the Middle Atlantic League.

Medwick, still going to school, played his first organized ball with Wheeling in 1929, under the name of "Joe King." He appeared in 115 games with the Stogies as second baseman and hit .310. In 1930 he bobbed up in Scottdale's lineup but he dropped "King" in favor of his correct name. He was a terror that season, blasting the pellet at a .419 clip in 75 games, and belting 22 home runs. From Scottdale he moved on to Houston, of the Texas league, and thence to the Cardinals with whom he played eight seasons.

Joe was the National league's most valuable player in 1937 and was sold along with Curt Davis to Brooklyn for four players and $125,000 in 1940. In 1943 he went to the Giants on waivers and transferred to the Braves in 1945.

He was not quite 18 when he made his debut at Wheeling 17 years ago and he was 20 when he joined St. Louis.

Coach Honey Russell, of Manhattan college, New York city, says his managers are as green as his basketball players.

During a time out, the former pro cage star sent a water boy on the floor to tell the Jaspers their opponents had switched to a zone defense.

The youngster conveyed the information all right—but it was the referee he told.

Gov. Frank J. Davis, of the local Moose lodge, who went out and formed his own league after the Pen-Mar (now Bi-State) League boys slammed the door in his face, was one of the hottest baseball fans in town when the Colts were in the Middle Atlantic League.

The well known plumber blew a gasket during a recent baseball session here when he said fences were built around ball parks to keep the players from running away; not to keep the fans out.

A group of local amateur boxing enthusiasts were talking about unusual ring incidents the other night when the one concerning the second, who was hit in the pan with his own towel, was revived.

It seems that a local simon pure was taking a shellacking during a match in Washington, D. C., and after the lad had been floored several times one of his seconds tossed a towel into the ring to signify surrender.

The referee picked up the white flag and hurled it out of the ring right smack into the second's face.

"What's the idea?" inquired the handler, who figured his boy was slap-happy and might suffer an injury if the arbiter failed to halt the slaughter.

"You mind your own business," snapped the official, "I'll stop this bout when I think your boy has had enough."

"Gosh, was my face red after getting that bawling out before those ringsiders!" piped the second.

The basketball tournament season is just around the corner. We know of two organizations interested in putting on tournaments here.

Central Tigers Jolt Beall Five By 35-29 Score

LONACONING, Feb. 19—Central high school's Tigers, who shook a seven-game losing streak last week by defeating Barton, jolted Beall high school, of Frostburg, tonight in a W.M.I. League game by the score of 35 to 29.

The victory failed to pull Central out of the league cellar but the Tigers had company in Bruce high, which also has won two games and lost seven. These teams will battle it out Friday night in Westernport to determine which of the two shall finish the season in the anchor position.

Tonight's game was a thriller and was not decided until the final quarter after the figures were knotted at 23-23. Then three baskets in rapid succession by Layton Beeman turned the tide and the Tigers were never headed.

Central held a two-point lead at the quarter, 7-5 and retained this edge at the half, 12-10 and at the close of the third period, 21-19. Billy Farrady's goal tied it up at 21-21 early in the fourth period, and baskets by Bob Doyle and Charley Geis squared it again at 23-23. Then Beeman's fielders started Coach Frank Carrington's outfit on their way to victory.

Doyle le dthe Orange and Black offensive with seven fielders and a total of fifteen points while Beeman and Frizzell banged in eight points each. Geis was Beall's "big gun" with five field goals. The lineups:

Fort Hill and Barton Postpone League Tilt

The Fort Hill-Barton contest, scheduled last night in Barton, was postponed until next Wednesday, on account of yesterday's snowstorm which made highway travel hazardous.

Coach Bobby Cavanaugh announced last night that arrangements were made with Barton yesterday to call off last night's W. M. I. League game.

Bi-State Secretary Is Advised Westvaco Will Join Circuit

Westvaco will enter a team in the Bi-State Baseball League, making the loop an eight-club circuit, Carl "Pete" Dicken, secretary, announced last night.

Dicken said this information was relayed to him by William H. Lemmert, of Frostburg, vice president of the league.

Other teams in the circuit are Barton, Midland, Lonaconing, Frostburg and the Queen City Brewers, of Cumberland; Romney, W. Va., and Centerville, Pa.

Each club will be required to post forfeits of $50 each at a meeting to be held Sunday, March 3, at 2 p. m. at the home of Farrady Post, American Legion, Frostburg.

Dicken said the player limit for each club this year will be twenty-five.

Will Release Stidham

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 19. (AP)—The Marquette university athletic board voted tonight not to re-hire Football Coach Tom E. Stidham when his agreement with the school terminates March 1.

The Rev. Thomas F. Divine, S. J., board secretary, said the action was not a criticism of Stidham's record, but was due to "a conflict in policy."

Jenkins Joins Army

BALTIMORE, Feb. 19. (AP)—Lew Jenkins, former world's lightweight boxing champion, returned to Uncle Sam's forces for the third time today when he enlisted in the army.

The Cleveland Indians won eleven games and lost three under their home lights last season.

Piedmont Seeks Mineral County Honors Tonight

PVC Leaders Would Clinch Title if Victorious over Keyser

Leading contenders for the basketball championship of the Potomac Valley Conference will clash for the second time this season when Coach "Jeff" Baker's Piedmont Lions and Coach Fred Clark's Keyser Golden Tornado meet on the Piedmont high court at 8 o'clock.

Piedmont, victorious in its last six games, leads the circuit with seven wins and one defeat while Keyser has bagged five wins in seven conference starts.

This game is an important one for both clubs as a victory for the Lions will enable the Piedmont team to strengthen its grip on first place while a defeat will just about eliminate Keyser from the running for the title.

The Lions turned back Keyser on its home floor several weeks ago by the score of 30 to 27. Piedmont split even with Moorefield, which occupies the league runner-up berth while Keyser holds a 33-22 decision over Moorefield in their only meeting to date.

Keyser and Piedmont are among the topnotch scholastic teams in the tri-state district this season. The Lions have won 14 and lost 3 while Keyser has marked up 12 wins against 5 setbacks.

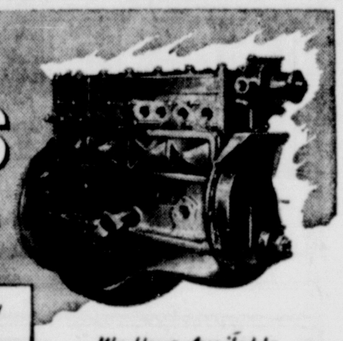

A Piedmont triumph tonight would give Baker's boys the championship of Mineral county in view of the fact that they've already scored two wins over Ridgeley, 31-24 and 29-13.

Dr. Dennis Burns Rice of Britton, S. D., plans to sell twenty fillies and 19 colts at the Delaware, Ohio trotting track next September.

Stoopnagle and Buddy Lester are set for Hildegarde's 8:30 NBC clambake.

Boundary Law Bill Becomes Law

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 19 (AP)—Governor Tuck signed Senate Bill 81 today, writing into law the Virginia-District of Columbia boundary line which Congress already has approved.

Virginia ratification of the line places the Washington National Airport in Virginia, with the status of a federal reservation, and gives the state the right to regulate the sale of alcoholic beverages and to tax motor vehicle gasoline at the airport.

The legislation also will clarify long-standing disputes on various questions of jurisdictions in law violations and other matters.

Petition Is Denied

BALTIMORE, Feb. 19 (AP)—The public service commission announced today it had dismissed a petition by Clarence J. Brown, doing business as Maryland Motor Lines, seeking permits to operate a charter bus service from Baltimore.

The order dismissing Brown's application said he "was not actively engaged as a bona fide operator on May 31, 1942," and was thus disqualified under the commission's interpretation of a law regulating charter services passed by the last legislature.

Robert Fludd (1574-1637), English physician and philosopher, also occupied himself with constructing odd mechanisms such as a self playing lyre.

Hats and Hairdos

AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

Before you invest in a spring bonnet with ribbon, flowers or fancy fruit, you'd better give some thought to your spring hairdo.

Because of the unusual hair styles of recent years, milliners have found it more important to work closely with hairdressers. Results have been open crown bonnets which permitted the top knot to peek through and curvettes or half hats which permitted the pompadour to climb as high as it liked.

This year, milliners are in a dither. Hats that were introduced to go with a short hair comb created quite a furor. Girls do not favor the short hairdos. Men prefer long hair styles.

But hairdressers and milliners seem to have united in their efforts to get the girls to cut their hair. How successful they will be remains to be seen.

Most hair stylists are now introducing one or two short hair styles with their fingers crossed. Milliners are prepared to go to town with hats designed for the short bob—if only the girls can be persuaded to cut their locks.

Some of the hairdressers like John Hall of New York are trying to strike a happy medium. One of John's shorter bobs is almost shoulder length (about 7 inches) with bangs. And, it should suit the fancy of the girl who wants to be able to put her hair on top again this summer. It will be long enough to achieve an upsweep and short enough to look well in the new hats created for the bobbed haired girl. With this young hairdo you can wear a bonnet, a halo hat or a perky sailor worn off the forehead.

Les MacMitchell Given GI Award

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

NEW YORK, Feb. 19. (AP)—Leslie MacMitchell, postwar king of the milers, was named the outstanding GI performer in last Saturday night's New York Athletic Club games today as he began pointing for the one goal that always has escaped him—the National AAU indoor championship.

The former New York university star and ex-naval officer isn't making any predictions about his chances in the national AAU meet at Madison Square Garden this week-end but his record of four triumphs in as many starts this season stamps him as the logical choice in the mile.

MacMitchell appeared confident and promised his best possible performance after accepting the handsome three-foot trophy awarded at the weekly meeting of metropolitan track writers today by the NYAC Post of the American Legion.

He was selected as the foremost athlete among present and former service men—including representatives of the military and naval academies—by a committee of eleven newspapermen, polling seven first-place and three second-place votes for 44 points on a 5-3-1 basis.

Fred Sickinger, of Manhattan, who won the Halpin 880 for his fourth straight half-mile victory, placed second in the voting with 21 points. Tom Carey, of the New York Pioneer Club, 60-yard dash winner, was third with 15 points.

Pot O' Luck Rated Doubtful Starter

HIALEAH, Fla., Feb. 19 (AP)—Trainer Ben Jones said here today that Warren Wright's Pot O' Luck right now is rated a doubtful starter in the $50,000 added Widener of March 2 and that the stable is depending more on Armed for the mile and a quarter classic.

Pot O' Luck, whose 1945 triumphs included the Arlington Classic, the Lawrence Realization and Jockey Club Gold Cup, struck his right foreleg just above the ankle while playing last Thursday. The leg filled slightly and was still bandaged today, but Jones said it was not a serious injury and that the colt might be back in training by tomorrow or the next day. "He isn't lame but had to miss some of his training. It is still possible he'll go in the Widener, but at this time he's doubtful," said Jones.

Busher, seventh leading money winner of all time with $334,035, finished "out of the money" but once in twenty starts.

HENRY ROSE

In memory of our daughter, Jo Ann, who died eight years ago, February 20, 1938.

Sad and sudden was the call,
Of one so dearly loved by all,
A bitter grief, a shock severe
It was to part with one so dear.

We often sit and think of you,
And speak of how you died,
To think you could not say good-bye
Before you closed your eyes.

Sadly missed by her parents.
MR. AND MRS. LEE POORBAUGH.

In loving memory of Guy T. Hite, who died February 20, 1944.

His smiling way and pleasant face
Are a pleasure to recall;
He had a kindly word for each,
And died beloved by all.

Some day we hope to meet him,
Some day, we know not when,
To clasp his hand in the better land,
Never to part again.

Sadly missed by his WIFE, DAUGHTERS AND GRANDSONS.

Stocks Tumble One to Nine Points In Sharpest Nose Dive in Six Years

NEW YORK, Feb. 19 (AP) — Stock market leaders today tumbled one to better than nine points, at the worst, in the sharpest nose-dive for nearly six years.

Transfers of 2,300,000 shares were the largest since Jan. 29.

Wall street advanced varied reasons for the relapse which got under way Monday. Among these was pessimism over prospects for maintenance of rigid governmental price controls, failure of the latest stabilization formula to quickly settle widespread strikes, the darkening outlook for first quarter earnings, belief the market had reached a climax in its lengthy climb to 15-year peaks and the desire of numerous customers to cash profits under the long-term capital gain tax advantage.

Among widest share losers were Norfolk and Western, off 11½ points on a few sales; Johns-Manville 7¼, Dow Chemical 6½, Bethlehem 5½ and Union Pacific, Goodrich and Eastern Air Lines 4½ each.

Among liveliest sprinters on the offside were Commonwealth and Southern, United Corporation, Columbia Gas and Aviation Corporation.

Casualties in the Curb were American Gas, Aireon, Raytheon, Electric Bond and Share and Humble Oil. Turnover here was 930,000 shares versus 900,000 yesterday.

Rail obligations were heavy in today's bond market with losses ranging up to more than 4 points. Industrials and utilities were narrowly lower.

Sales totaled $8,960,000 compared with $6,720,000 on Monday.

Feature of the United States government list was a rise of 2⅞ points for the treasury 2¾s of '65-'60 which closed at 118 23-32.

Governor-Actor Will Be a Guest On Radio Program

By JEAN MEEGAN

NEW YORK, Feb. 19 (AP) — Jim Davis, the cowboy actor who became governor of Louisiana, will be Frank Sinatra's guest star on CBS at 9 Wednesday night. His excellency will be reinforced by a five-piece hillbilly band.

Hoagy Carmichael, composer of "Star Dust", is booked for Kay Kyser's "College of Musical Knowledge" at 10 on NBC; the Andrews sisters will have "The Charioteers" a colored quartet on their 10:30 CBS show; Willie Mosconi, world's pocket billiard champion, is to appear on the Ellery Queen program at 7:30 on CBS; Melvyn Douglas will narrate a dramatic sketch, "Letter from Paul" at 11:30 on NBC; Col. Stoopnagle and Buddy Lester are set for Hildegarde's 8:30 NBC clambake.

"Duffy's Tavern" has been selected for the honor role of race relations of 1945 in a nationwide poll by the Schomburg collection of negro literature, a part of the New York Public Library. The program was cited for its dignified treatment of a negro character, "Eddie, the Waiter", played by Eddie Green.

Baby Snooks, the precocious brat created by Fanny Brice, heard on Sunday nights over CBS, will be twenty-five years old on March 3. A quarter of a century ago Moss Hart, who has since become famous as the author of "Lady in the Dark", "Winged Victory", and other Broadway hits, wrote the first Baby Snooks skit.

Boundary Law Bill Becomes Law

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 19 (AP)—Governor Tuck signed Senate Bill 81 today, writing into law the Virginia-District of Columbia boundary line which Congress already has approved.

Virginia ratification of the line places the Washington National Airport in Virginia, with the status of a federal reservation, and gives the state the right to regulate the sale of alcoholic beverages and to tax motor vehicle gasoline at the airport.

The legislation also will clarify long-standing disputes on various questions of jurisdictions in law violations and other matters.

Petition is Denied

BALTIMORE, Feb. 19 (AP)—The public service commission announced today it had dismissed a petition by Clarence J. Brown, doing business as Maryland Motor Lines, seeking permits to operate a charter bus service from Baltimore.

The order dismissing Brown's application said he "was not actively engaged as a bona fide operator on May 31, 1942," and was thus disqualified under the commission's interpretation of a law regulating charter services passed by the last legislature.

Robert Fludd (1574-1637), English physician and philosopher, also occupied himself with constructing odd mechanisms such as a self playing lyre.

Hats and Hairdos

AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

Before you invest in a spring bonnet with ribbon, flowers or fancy fruit, you'd better give some thought to your spring hairdo.

Because of the unusual hair styles of recent years, milliners have found it more important to work closely with hairdressers. Results have been open crown bonnets which permitted the top knot to peek through and curvettes or half hats which permitted the pompadour to climb as high as it liked.

This year, milliners are in a dither. Hats that were introduced to go with a short hair comb created quite a furor. Girls do not favor the short hairdos. Men prefer long hair styles.

But hairdressers and milliners seem to have united in their efforts to get the girls to cut their hair. How successful they will be remains to be seen.

Most hair stylists are now introducing one or two short hair styles with their fingers crossed. Milliners are prepared to go to town with hats designed for the short bob—if only the girls can be persuaded to cut their locks.

Some of the hairdressers like John Hall of New York are trying to strike a happy medium. One of John's shorter bobs is almost shoulder length (about 7 inches) with bangs. And, it should suit the fancy of the girl who wants to be able to put her hair on top again this summer. It will be long enough to achieve an upsweep and short enough to look well in the new hats created for the bobbed haired girl. With this young hairdo you can wear a bonnet, a halo hat or a perky sailor worn off the forehead.

SWEETHEART BANGS . . . A new bob designed by John Hall worn with a bonnet.

Eleven Snowplows Clear County Highways; No Accidents Reported; Buses Running Late

Snow ranging from ten to twelve inches in depth blanketed Allegany county at midnight last night and although light snow was still falling there were signs of a let up in the heaviest snow storm of the season.

State police reported highways very slippery and advised motorists not to drive unless absolutely necessary. In that event they were warned to use chains and drive with caution.

G. Bates Chaires, district engineer of the state roads commission, said eleven snowplows had been clearing highways in the county since 10 a. m. yesterday, shortly after the snow started to fall, and that all state roads were open.

Forty-eight plows were clearing roads in the four Western Maryland counties, Allegany, Garrett, Washington and Frederick, which comprise his district, Chaires said, adding that all roads crews will remain on the job through the night in order to keep highways open.

Twelve Inches at Frostburg

Henry Hart Post Is Nearing 2,000 Membership Goal

Veterans of Foreign Wars Discuss Annual Buddy Poppy Sale

Forty new members were admitted to Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, last night, bringing the local post's total membership to 1,913 paid up members, Commander John Fike reported after the bi-monthly meeting.

A number of the new members spoke briefly and thanked the veterans of the post for the privilege of joining and also for the work done here at home while the younger men were away. Several of the new members, all veterans of World War II, said they were especially grateful for cigaretes, and other things sent overseas by the VFW.

Aid Red Cross

Members present voted to contribute $25 to the Red Cross campaign.

Plans were discussed for the annual Buddy Poppy sale, and Edward C. Kilroy was named chairman of the committee on this project. This is his ninth year as chairman of this committee. The post always works in conjunction with VFW auxiliary on the Buddy Poppy project.

Reports Progress

Carl Ryan, Verner Winner and Robert Parks reported on the new drum corps. Considerable progress was indicated, Commander Fike said. The corps, which hopes to have a strength of 100 members, now has seventy-five enrolled and new equipment is expected to arrive in time for the regular Monday night rehearsal. All members of the drum corps must be members of the post and there will be no social memberships, it was indicated.

Commander Fike indicated that the goal of 2,000 members before the end of the fiscal year is in sight, and urged members to encourage returning and returned veterans to join the organization.

BIG FOUR RUBBER WAGE TALKS MAY AFFECT KELLY PLANT

Wage discussions which began in Washington, D. C., yesterday between representatives of four rubber companies and United Rubber Workers of America, CIO, may set a wage pattern for the rubber industry, including the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company here.

Representatives of the CIO United Rubber Workers and the U. S. Rubber, Firestone, Goodrich and Goodyear Rubber Companies will participate, along with Paul W. Fuller, of the federal conciliation service.

Announcement of the meeting followed the disclosure by Edgar L. Warren, chief of the conciliation service that an experimental office to handle only the problems of the rubber industry would be opened in Akron on March 1.

A union spokesman said a seven-point CIO program, built around demands for a 30-hour week and a wage increase of 30 cents hourly would be presented at the meeting.

According to a company spokesman the Kelly plant is not being included as a part of the Goodyear system, but it was admitted here that whatever is done in Washington is certain to affect all companies indirectly.

L. S. Buckmaster, URWA international president, when here recently, indicated nothing more would be done to settle the differences at Kelly until a national policy is established when the union here would insist on getting the full increase.

GI Pilot Training Program May Be Offered at Port

Chapman Says Approval of CAA Is Necessary; Inquiries Made

John Chapman, manager of the Cumberland Municipal airport, said yesterday that he has had several inquiries regarding a proposed GI pilot training program at the local airport.

Chapman said that approval of the Civil Aeronautics Administration and the county board of education if necessary before such a school can be opened, explaining that the school would be open to all discharged veterans of any branch of the service, not just to those who had served in the army and navy air forces.

In this connection, it was recalled that at a meeting last week with Paul N. Alexander of the Allegany Tool and Die Plant, and school men, Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of the county board of education, stated that he had been informed by city officials that the facilities of the airport would be made available to school officials in the event any aviation program is contemplated in the schools.

Kopp said Chapman had signified that he would co-operate in any educational program undertaken. However, it should be noted that this was merely one of a number of possibilities noted in passing when the men were discussing the various possibilities for the new trade school for veterans, and no action was taken. Kopp mentioned the proposal merely as a possibility that might be worth further study in setting up the proposed trade school.

Expenses Cited

Veterans enrolling for flight training under the GI Bill of Rights would be entitled to length of training in proportion to the amount of time they spent in service, plus one year. The limit would be four years of training, Chapman said.

A veteran of two years' service would thus be entitled to three years of training up to $500 a year. The Veterans Administration considers a school year to have thirty-four weeks.

In some cases, it was explained, the administration would authorize the expenditure of more than $500 a year for training but the period of eligibility would be decreased accordingly.

Some flight courses cost $15 an hour, and the $500 limit would be exceeded before the end of the thirty-four weeks, in which case the period of eligibility would be decreased to less than that amount of time if more than $500 was authorized, it was stated.

Chapman said that several local youths are taking flight lessons at the airport at a rate of $9 an hour. After they are ready to make solo flights, they may rent a plane at $7 an hour to complete the number of hours necessary for a private license, he said.

If the proposed school is established, training both for private pilot's licenses and for commercial flying licenses would be given, the manager said.

Herbert C. Wentz, a Cumberland man who served overseas as a pilot in the army air forces, will serve as an instructor, and Lt. Virgil Parker of the East Side fire department will act as a part-time instructor if the school is organized, Chapman said.

At present there are three airplanes at the port, a PT-19 army trainer, a Piper cruiser, and a J-3 Cub. Other ships have been ordered, the manager said.

He stated that when the school is organized, veterans may secure an application for training from the local office of the Veterans Administration, and send the application with a copy of their discharge papers to the regional of-

Short Shut-Down Is Scheduled for B & O Back Shop

Shortage of Materials Due to Strikes Will Affect 250 Men Here

The sharp falling off of business and the shortage of materials for repairing locomotives and cars due to strikes has made it necessary to suspend shop repair work in a number of cities on the B. & O. railroad network including Cumberland, the railroad announced yesterday.

In Cumberland, shop men will be furloughed starting Friday when the B. & O. backshops in South Cumberland will close down and remain closed until March 1.

Other cities affected are the Mt. Clare shops, Baltimore, 1,500 men; Glenwood, near Pittsburgh, 650 men; DuBois, Pa., 500 men; and Cumberland, 511 men.

"Others affected by this short shut-down include the heavy car repair forces at the Washington, Ind., shop, consisting of about 450 men", the railroad announced, adding that in addition about 1,100 men in various mechanical classifications would be furloughed February 21.

In Cumberland, it was announced that the layoff will affect approximately 250 shopmen but the railroad will keep 100 men on the job for maintenance, officials said. The layoff does not affect workers at the B. & O. roundhouse but a "slight furlough" was made in its force this week due to general railroad conditions, it was added.

The same situation prevails at the B. and O. Bolt and Forge shop where 24 men have been furloughed in recent days. This furlough was caused by material shortages of steel and a "slackening of business." The length of the furlough at the Bolt and Forge shop has not been determined, but in all probability will continue until the railroad obtains more material and business improves. Some of the men furloughed were displaced by returning veterans, it was added.

Meanwhile, the number of unemployed veterans has risen to 1,318 and is continuing on an upward trend, according to Patrick J. Carroll, manager of the local office of the U. S. Employment Service. He said most of the veterans unemployed did not have jobs prior to entering the service.

The total number of workers unemployed as registered at the USES has also increased to 2,839 men and women. This total includes veterans out of work, Carroll added. During the past two weeks a total of 496 war veterans signed for readjustment allowances because they are out of work. A total of 658 women are among the number of unemployed.

Carroll said the employment picture at this time is "not too good" and that at the end of January the number of unemployed veterans in Maryland had reached 14,000. Only 262 placements were made by the USES during the period between January 15 and February 15, Carroll said.

Kopp Sends Outline For Trade School To V. A. Officials

A twenty-one page outline covering nineteen courses to be taught in the countywide trade school for veterans now being contemplated for Allegany county was sent to the Veterans Administration in Baltimore last night by School Superintendent Charles L. Kopp.

Kopp said the survey will be included in a contract now being prepared by the Veterans Administration officials when approved.

The school superintendent also had a conference yesterday with partners at the Allegany tool and Die plant on Paca street.

State Commander Installs Ridgeley Legion Officers

New Post Gets Greetings from Cumberland and Piedmont Units

Officers of Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, American Legion of Ridegley, W. Va., were nistalled last nigfiht at the Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club. West Virginia Department Commander Ray Burg, of Piedmont, was the installing officer and guest speaker.

Congratulates Post

Commander Burg congratulated the post upon its progress and explained to them the principals of the American Legion. It is one of the most democratic organizations found anywhere he said, and has an enviable record in progress and constructive enterprise in thousands of communities.

Commander Burg urged the young Legionnaires to study the various projects of the legion and outlined the organization's child welfare program and other projects. He urged the membership as individuals to take an interest in the affairs of community, state and nation, and at this time to support the legion's plan for compulsory military training, by writing or contacting members of Congress, urging passing of this legislation.

Samuel A. Graham, commander of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion of this city and a delegation from Kelly-Mansfield Post, No. 55, American Legion of Piedmont, W. Va., were guests and brought greetings of these two veteran posts to the youngest post in the Tri-State area.

Seek Permanent Home

At the business session, at which Commander Fair presided, there was considerable discussion on a plan for finding a permanent home for the new post. The executive committee and the building and housing committee were instructed to find quarters and to study the local problem. It was indicated that there is already a suitable hall in Ridgeley which may be obtained. However, according to Adjutant Daily, the new post plans to construct its own place when conditions permit.

Knobley Mountain Post started out a few months ago with only twenty members, and last night it was reported that there are now sixty-five paid-up, active members in the new organization. A goal of 100 members by the end of March has been set. According to the post commander, there are about 500 eligible men in Ridgeley and vicinity who should be members.

Following the installation ceremony, address and business meeting, a buffet luncheon was served.

Present OPA Retail Produce Prices Are "Too Low," Local Grocer Says

A. E. Windish, operator of two local markets, said last night that retail OPA ceiling prices for fresh fruits and vegetables are "too low" to permit grocers to make a fair profit, with wholesale prices at their present level.

Windish addressed fifty members of the Independent Retail Food Dealers Association of Western Maryland at a regular meeting at Central YMCA yesterday evening. He is chairman of the vocational committee of the association.

George F. Garlitz, president, and Windish said they plan to contact the produce specialist of the state OPA office in Baltimore this week to present Windish's findings and to ask for a recheck of retail ceilings for fresh fruits and produce.

Windish cited figures computing the percentage of profit by comparing retail ceiling prices listed on this week's OPA community ceiling price list with wholesale prices listed on the reverse side of the OPA release.

He stated that the average per cent of profit is considerably less than that required to conduct a produce department profitably, citing a national survey made some time ago regarding the average cost at which such departments could be run at a profit.

Windish pointed out that spoilage of fruits and vegetables is high and that present OPA ceilings do not allow for that loss.

J. G. Jackson, secretary, was instructed to write a letter to Congressman Dudley G. Roe (D-Md) praising him for his statement last Saturday that "production is being stifled by the OPA and its senseless rules."

F. A. McGovern, manager of the local office of the Hygienic Sanitation Company, gave a short talk on pest control in grocery stores.

Garlitz presided at the meeting, which was attended by fifty mem-

Manager of Local Store Is Charged With Larceny

James Rowand Is Accused of Stealing Watch and Two Rings in 1943

James Okey Rowand, 36, manager of the Julian Goldman store, 65 Baltimore street, was arrested by county authorities yesterday afternoon and will be given a preliminary hearing in trial magistrates court this morning on a charge of grand larceny, State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris disclosed.

Harris said Rowand took two diamond rings worth $150 and a ladies wrist watch valued at $50 from Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Feeser, 312 Park street, while he was living at their home in 1943.

In a statement made yesterday to Harris and County Investigator Terrence J. Boyle, Rowand said when he moved from the Feeser home to a Feeser apartment he found the watch and rings among his personal belongings. He said he knew they belonged to the Feesers, according to the statement.

Gave Watch to Clerk

Later, about the middle of May, Rowand said, he gave the watch to a woman clerk in the store and had her sell the rings, returning the money to him.

Harris said Rowand came to Cumberland April 14, 1943, from Milwaukee, Wis., where he was manager of another Julian Goldman store, and first lived at a Cumberland hotel.

In his statement, Rowand told Harris he had arranged for an apartment owned by Mr. and Mrs. Feeser, but that after he stayed at the hotel for awhile they suggested he come and live at their home until the apartment was vacant.

Rowand said he moved in with the Feesers about April 20, 1943, and stayed there until May 1 when the apartment was vacant and he moved in.

It was then, Rowand said, that he found the rings and watch in his personal belongings.

He added that he gave the watch as a present to a clerk at the store and at the same time, believed to be about the middle of May 1943, gave her the rings and suggested that she see if anyone would buy them.

Received $60

The clerk was able to sell them, Romand stated, adding that she gave him $60 which he said he put in his pocket.

A native of Fairmont, W. Va., Rowand told Harris he had never been in any previous trouble.

Rowand was taken into custody at the store yesterday by Boyle and after making the statement to him and Harris was taken to the county jail to await the preliminary hearing today. Maximum sentence in Maryland for grand larceny is fifteen years in the penitentiary.

Government Plans May Stop School Construction

Kopp Expresses Concern over Possible Delay in County Program

Government plans to stop virtually all commercial and public works construction in order to make way for the veterans housing program yesterday were viewed with concern by School Superintendent Charles L. Koop who is anxious to start construction of three new high schools in Allegany county as soon as conditions permit.

According to recent developments in Washington, in addition to halting everything but essential construction outside of the housing field, the program aims to channel building materials into dwelling units which, for the most part, will cost not more than $6,000.

While regulations have not as yet been issued in Washington, information given out thus far indicates that new schools may be placed on the deferred list unless old schools burn down.

Kopp said yesterday he was anxious to get started on the building programs contemplated at Lonaconing, Mt. Savage and Ellerslie as soon as possible. The school board has approximately $800,000 on hand for the proposed projects.

While no contracts have been signed as yet, citizens' committees in both Lonaconing and Mt. Savage concur with the school board regarding proposed locations for the new schools and an "understanding" has been reached.

According to tentative plans, the

Demand for 51-Gauge Hose Brings Police Aid when Nylons Go on Sale

Because the demand for sheer fifty-one-gauge rayon hose became so violent, one Cumberland store refuses to sell still scarce nylon stockings unless minions of the law are present to maintain order.

Some 500 customers crowded into the six by thirty-feet Ormond shop on Baltimore street the last week in January and noisily and none-too-politely demanded fifty-one gauge hose.

One man jammed the cash register and prohibited clerks from ringing up additional sales until his purchase was completed. Customers surged in back of the display cases; others jostled and pushed so much that bottles in the store next door rattled and shook on the shelves.

Seeks Police Help

Only quick work prevented all the show cases in the store from being overturned.

That decided Mrs. Schell Miller, manager of the shop. If fifty-one gauge rayons are so fought over, she decided, then the battle for nylons would be one to top all others.

Mrs. Miller sought the help of Chief of Police Oscar A. Eyerman, and as a result two policemen and sometimes three stand guard when nylons are placed on sale.

"We sell nylons every day," Mrs. Miller said, "but only when there's a policeman around. Naturally, that limits the number of nylons we sell every day because the policemen maintain order only one hour a day."

Stands Guard at Door

One officer stands guard at the door to the shop when nylons go on sale, and another policeman takes up a vantage point at the corner of Baltimore and South Centre streets, maintaining order in the line of nylon-seekers that frequently extends almost as far as Dexter place.

The officers permit only a limited number of customers in the store at a time, and, Mrs. Miller says, results have been very satisfactory.

Simeon W. Green Seeks Re-election As Commissioner

Chairman of County Board Is Now Completing His Second Term

Simeon W. Green, chairman of the board of county commissioners for the last eight years, announced yesterday that he would seek re-election and filed his papers with the board of election supervisors.

In announcing that he will again be a candidate for the board, Commissioner Green stated, "I have never used the taxpayer's money to try and re-elect myself and I have always made my decisions for the benefit of all the people in the county."

Green, a Republican, also declared, "I have never tried to play politics to assure my re-election when the interests of the taxpayers were at stake. If I am re-elected I will continue to look after the interests of the taxpayers at all times."

Named by Nice

Green, who is now completing his second term as commissioner, served one term as a member of the Frostburg city council and was appointed president of the board of election supervisors by the late Gov. Harry Nice.

Commissioner Green was born in Lonaconing but has lived in Frostburg, where he has been a Chevrolet dealer since 1927. Prior to moving to Frostburg he lived in Cumberland for three years.

He is a veteran of World War I and served overseas with the combat engineers for seventeen months where he saw heavy action at Belleau Woods and at Verdun. Green was wounded while serving with the engineer unit.

Member of Legion

Some of the organizations he belongs to include the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans, Elks Lodge, Frostburg, the Masons, Junior Order of American Mechanics and the Frostburg Republican Club.

He makes his home at 78 Hill street, Frostburg.

Kopp Is Named To Make Survey Of School Needs

Six Superintendents Will Study State Vocational Requirements

Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools in Allegany county, Monday was appointed one of six school men in the state to make a statewide survey of vocational needs in the school system.

Other superintendents named to the special committee by State Superintendent Thomas G. Pullen, Jr., are Theodore Boston, Dorchester county; Clarence Cooper, Baltimore county; Gardner Shugart, Prince Georges county; B. C. Willis, Washington county; and Charles F. Willis, Harford county.

The committee was named at a meeting of school superintendents in Pullen's offices where the school heads were informed of the latest regulations with regard to the disposal of surplus property owned by the government.

Wants Visual Equipment

Kopp said yesterday that the Allegany county school system could use a number of items on the surplus property list when the items become available. These items include industrial arts equipment, machine tools, visual education equipment, sound machines, microscopes, equipment related to physics, chemistry and other scientific subjects, furniture, typewriters, business machines, desks, files and cabinets.

Kopp, who has been impressed by certain phases of the visual education programs in army schools, said he was especially anxious to secure as much sound and visual equipment as possible.

Report on Health Program

There is also a possibility that some radar equipment may be available eventually although Kopp said it is too early as yet to say definitely.

The superintendents who attended the meeting also heard a report on the new health and physical education program including a report on the new "screening method" in pupil health work now being tried out in four Allegany county schools.

Minter and Eves Attend Recruiting Promotion Dinner

Civic Groups Are Asked To Aid in Army Recruiting Drive

S. Russ Minter, president of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce and Roy W. Eves, president of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, attended a recruiting promotion dinner in the Emerson hotel, Baltimore, this week.

Maj. Gen. Manton S. Eddy, commanding general of the Third Service Command, spoke on the need for men in military service, and asked for support and co-operation of civic groups in all communities in the Third Service Command.

Volunteers Needed

The general outlined the importance of encouraging more volunteer enlistments in the army. He quoted Secretary of War Patterson, "securing and guarding our victory is the most important peacetime job ever assigned to the United States Army. The future of our country and of the world depends on how well this assignment is carried out. We need volunteers to do the job—and do it right."

Gen. Eddy outlined the opportunities of the army as a career and stressed the importance of "securing a maximum number of voluntary enlistments in the army," to release men who have had long and ardous service and to build up the regular army to an adequate strength.

Asks Local Aid

Gen. Eddy had his entire staff with him at the dinner, and he appealed to the civic leaders assembled to encourage young men in their home towns to enlist in the army. Minter said there were about seventy-five at the dinner, including representatives of civic groups from Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia.

Minter said he will make a report on the meeting at the next session of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

In memory of our daughter, Jo Ann, who died eight years ago, February 20, 1938.

Sad and sudden was the call.
Of one so dearly loved by all,
A bitter grief, a shock severe
It was to part with one so dear.

We often sit and think of you,
And speak of how you died,
To think you could not say good-bye
Before you closed your eyes.

Sadly missed by her parents,
MR. AND MRS. LEE POORBAUGH.

In loving memory of Guy T. Hite, who died February 20, 1944.

His smiling way and pleasant face
Are a pleasure to recall;
He had a kindly word for each,
And died beloved by all.

Some day we hope to meet him,
Some day, we know not when,
To clasp his hand in the better land,
Never to part again.

Sadly missed by his WIFE, DAUGHTERS AND GRANDSONS.

Stocks Tumble One to Nine Points In Sharpest Nose Dive in Six Years

NEW YORK, Feb. 19 (AP) — Stock market leaders today tumbled one to better than nine points, at the worst, in the sharpest nose-dive for nearly six years.

Transfers of 2,300,000 shares were the largest since Jan. 29.

Wall street advanced varied reasons for the relapse which got under way Monday. Among these was pessimism over prospects for maintenance of rigid governmental price controls, failure of the latest stabilization formula to quickly settle widespread strikes, the darkening outlook for first quarter earnings, belief the market had reached a climax in its lengthy climb to 15-year peaks and the desire of numerous customers to cash profits under the long-term capital gain tax advantage.

Among widest share losers were Norfolk and Western, off 11⅛ points on a few sales; Johns-Manville 7¼, Dow Chemical 6½, Bethlehem 5½ and Union Pacific, Goodrich and Eastern Air Lines 4½ each.

Among liveliest sprinters on the offside were Commonwealth and Southern, United Corporation, Columbia Gas and Aviation Corporation.

Casualties in the Curb were American Gas, Aireon, Raytheon, Electric Bond and Share and Humble Oil. Turnover here was 930,000 shares versus 900,000 yesterday.

Rail obligations were heavy in today's bond market with losses ranging up to more than 4 points. Industrials and utilities were narrowly lower.

Sales totaled $8,960,000 compared with $6,720,000 on Monday.

Feature of the United States government list was a rise of 2⅞ points for the treasury 2½s of '65-'60 which closed at 118 23-32.

Eleven Snowplows Clear County Highways; No Accidents Reported; Buses Running Late

Snow ranging from ten to twelve inches in depth blanketed Allegany county at midnight last night and although light snow was still falling there were signs of a let up in the heaviest snow storm of the season.

State police reported highways very slippery and advised motorists not to drive unless absolutely necessary. In that event they were warned to use chains and drive with caution.

G. Bates Chaires, district engineer of the state roads commission, said eleven snowplows had been clearing highways in the county since 10 a. m. yesterday, shortly after the snow started to fall, and that all state roads were open.

Forty-eight plows were clearing roads in the four Western Maryland counties, Allegany, Garrett, Washington and Frederick, which comprise his district, Chaires said, adding that all roads crews will remain on the job through the night in order to keep highways open.

Twelve Inches at Frostburg

Veterans of Foreign Wars Discuss Annual Buddy Poppy Sale

Forty new members were admitted to Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, last night, bringing the local post's total membership to 1,913 paid up members, Commander John Fike reported after the bi-monthly meeting.

A number of the new members spoke briefly and thanked the veterans of the post for the privilege of joining and also for the work done here at home while the younger men were away. Several of the new members, all veterans of World War II, said they were especially grateful for cigaretes, and other things sent overseas by the VFW.

Aid Red Cross

Members present voted to contribute $25 to the Red Cross campaign.

Plans were discussed for the annual Buddy Poppy sale, and Edward C. Kilroy was named chairman of the committee on this project. This is his ninth year as chairman of this committee. The post always works in conjunction with VFW auxiliary on the Buddy Poppy project.

Reports Progress

Carl Ryan, Verner Winner and Robert Parks reported on the new drum corps. Considerable progress was indicated, Commander Fike said. The corps, which hopes to have a strength of 100 members, now has seventy-five enrolled and new equipment is expected to arrive in time for the regular Monday night rehearsal. All members of the drum corps must be members of the post and there will be no social memberships, it was indicated.

Commander Fike indicated that the goal of 2,000 members before the end of the fiscal year is in sight, and urged members to encourage returning and returned veterans to join the organization.

BIG FOUR RUBBER WAGE TALKS MAY AFFECT KELLY PLANT

Wage discussions which began in Washington, D. C., yesterday between representatives of four rubber companies and United Rubber Workers of America, CIO, may set a wage pattern for the rubber industry, including the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company here.

Representatives of the CIO United Rubber Workers and the U. S. Rubber, Firestone, Goodrich and Goodyear Rubber Companies will participate, along with Paul W. Fuller, of the federal conciliation service.

Announcement of the meeting followed the disclosure by Edgar L. Warren, chief of the conciliation service that an experimental office to handle only the problems of the rubber industry would be opened in Akron on March 1.

A union spokesman said a seven-point CIO program, built around demands for a 30-hour week and a wage increase of 30 cents hourly would be presented at the meeting.

According to a company spokesman the Kelly plant is not being included as a part of the Goodyear system, but it was admitted here that whatever is done in Washington is certain to affect all companies indirectly.

L. S. Buckmaster, URWA international president, when here recently, indicated nothing more would be done to settle the differences at Kelly until a national policy is established when the union here would insist on getting the full increase.

GI Pilot Training Program May Be Offered at Port

Chapman Says Approval of CAA Is Necessary; Inquiries Made

John Chapman, manager of the Cumberland Municipal airport, said yesterday that he has had several inquiries regarding a proposed GI pilot training program at the local airport.

Chapman said that approval of the Civil Aeronautics Administration and the county board of education if necessary before such a school can be opened, explaining that the school would be open to all discharged veterans of any branch of the service, not just to those who had served in the army and navy air forces.

In this connection, it was recalled that at a meeting last week with Paul N. Alexander of the Allegany Tool and Die Plant, and school men, Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of the county board of education, stated that he had been informed by city officials that the facilities of the airport would be made available to school officials in the event any aviation program is contemplated in the schools.

Kopp said Chapman had signified that he would co-operate in any educational program undertaken. However, it should be noted that this was merely one of a number of possibilities noted in passing when the men were discussing the various possibilities for the new trade school for veterans, and no action was taken. Kopp mentioned the proposal merely as a possibility that might be worth further study in setting up the proposed trade school.

Expenses Cited

Veterans enrolling for flight training under the GI Bill of Rights would be entitled to length of training in proportion to the amount of time they spent in service, plus one year. The limit would be four years of training, Chapman said.

A veteran of two years' service would thus be entitled to three years of training up to $500 a year. The Veterans Administration considers a school year to have thirty-four weeks.

In some cases, it was explained, the administration would authorize the expenditure of more than $500 a year for training but the period of eligibility would be decreased accordingly.

Some flight courses cost $15 an hour, and the $500 limit would be exceeded before the end of the thirty-four weeks, in which case the period of eligibility would be decreased to less than that amount of time if more than $500 was authorized, it was stated.

Chapman said that several local youths are taking flight lessons at the airport at a rate of $9 an hour. After they are ready to make solo flights, they may rent a plane at $7 an hour to complete the number of hours necessary for a private license, he said.

If the proposed school is established, training both for private pilot's licenses and for commercial flying licenses would be given, the manager said.

Herbert C. Wentz, a Cumberland man who served overseas as a pilot in the army air forces, will serve as an instructor, and Lt. Virgil Parker of the East Side fire department will act as a part-time instructor if the school is organized, Chapman said.

At present there are three airplanes at the port, a PT-19 army trainer, a Piper cruiser, and a J-3 Cub. Other ships have been ordered, the manager said.

He stated that when the school is organized, veterans may secure an application for training from the local office of the Veterans Administration, and send the application with a copy of their discharge papers to the regional of-

HONEYMOONED IN JAPAN—When Capt. James S. Stafford and Lt. Grace Weber were the first Americans to be married at Nagoya, the Japanese press played up the event, using both a picture and a story. Capt. and Mrs. Stafford arrived home in Cumberland Monday night where they are staying with Mrs. Stafford's father, Albert L. Weber, vice president of the South Cumberland Planing Mill, who lives at 504 Oldtown road. Above, Capt. and Mrs. Stafford are shown reading the account of the wedding in the Nagoya paper to Mr. Weber. After their wedding the couple spent their honeymoon at a hotel in Kyoto. Capt. Stafford, whose home is in Grafton, W. Va., first met his wife when they were attending Potomac State college, Keyser.

Short Shut-Down Is Scheduled for B & O Back Shop

Shortage of Materials Due to Strikes Will Affect 250 Men Here

The sharp falling off of business and the shortage of materials for repairing locomotives and cars due to strikes has made it necessary to suspend shop repair work in a number of cities on the B. & O. railroad network including Cumberland, the railroad announced yesterday.

In Cumberland, shop men will be furloughed starting Friday when the B. & O. backshops in South Cumberland will close down and remain closed until March 1.

Other cities affected are the Mt. Clare shops, Baltimore, 1,500 men; Glenwood, near Pittsburgh, 650 men; DuBois, Pa., 500 men; and Cumberland, 511 men.

"Others affected by this short shut-down include the heavy car repair forces at the Washington, Ind., shop, consisting of about 450 men", the railroad announced, adding that in addition about 1,100 men in various mechanical classifications would be furloughed February 21.

In Cumberland, it was announced that the layoff will affect approximately 250 shopmen but the railroad will keep 100 men on the job for maintenance, officials said. The layoff does not affect workers at the B. & O. roundhouse but a "slight furlough" was made in its force this week due to general railroad conditions, it was added.

The same situation prevails at the B. and O. Bolt and Forge shop where 24 men have been furloughed in recent days. This furlough was caused by material shortages of steel and a "slackening of business." The length of the furlough at the Bolt and Forge shop has not been determined, but in all probability will continue until the railroad obtains more material and business improves. Some of the men furloughed were displaced by returning veterans, it was added.

Meanwhile, the number of unemployed veterans has risen to 1,318 and is continuing on an upward trend, according to Patrick J. Carroll, manager of the local office of the U. S. Employment Service. He said most of the veterans unemployed did not have jobs prior to entering the service.

The total number of workers unemployed as registered at the USES has also increased to 2,839 men and women. This total includes veterans out of work, Carroll added. During the past two weeks a total of 496 war veterans signed for readjustment allowances because they are out of work. A total of 658 women are among the number of unemployed.

Carroll said the employment picture at this time is "not too good" and that at the end of January the number of unemployed veterans in Maryland had reached 14,000. Only 262 placements were made by the USES during the period between January 15 and February 15, Carroll said.

Present OPA Retail Produce Prices Are "Too Low," Local Grocer Says

A. E. Windish, operator of two local markets, said last night that retail OPA ceiling prices for fresh fruits and vegetables are "too low" to permit grocers to make a fair profit, with wholesale prices at their present level.

Windish addressed fifty members of the Independent Retail Food Dealers Association of Western Maryland at a regular meeting at Central YMCA yesterday evening. He is chairman of the vocational committee of the association.

George F. Garlitz, president, and Windish said they plan to contact the produce specialist of the state OPA office in Baltimore this week to present Windish's findings and to ask for a recheck of retail ceilings for fresh fruits and produce.

Windish cited figures computing the percentage of profit by comparing retail ceiling prices listed on this week's OPA community ceiling price list with wholesale prices listed on the reverse side of the OPA release.

He stated that the average per cent of profit is considerably less than that required to conduct a produce department profitably, citing a national survey made some time ago regarding the average cost at which such departments could be run at a profit.

Windish pointed out that spoilage of fruits and vegetables is high and that present OPA ceilings do not allow for that loss.

J. G. Jackson, secretary, was instructed to write a letter to Congressman Dudley G. Roe (D-Md) praising him for his statement last Saturday that "production is being stifled by the OPA and its senseless rules."

F. A. McGovern, manager of the local office of the Hygienic Sanitation Company, gave a short talk on pest control in grocery stores.

Garlitz presided at the meeting, which was attended by fifty members.

The officers of the newly formed post, nearly all veterans of World War II, are Charles Fair, post commander; Jack Murrell, senior vice-commander; Eugene H. Commander Burg urged the young Legionnaires to study the various projects of the legion and outlined the organization's child welfare program and other projects. He urged the membership as individuals to take an interest in the affairs of community, state and nation, and at this time to support the legion's plan for compulsory military training, by writing or contacting members of Congress, urging passing of this legislation.

Samuel A. Graham, commander of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion of this city and a delegation from Kelly-Mansfield Post, No. 55, American Legion of Piedmont, W. Va., were guests and brought greetings of these two veteran posts to the youngest post in the Tri-State area.

Seek Permanent Home

At the business session, at which Commander Fair presided, there was considerable discussion on a plan for finding a permanent home for the new post. The executive committee and the building and housing committee were instructed to find quarters and to study the local problem. It was indicated that there is already a suitable hall in Ridgeley which may be obtained. However, according to Adjutant Daily, the new post plans to construct its own place when conditions permit.

Knobley Mountain Post started out a few months ago with only twenty members, and last night it was reported that there are now sixty-five paid-up, active members in the new organization. A goal of 100 members by the end of March has been set. According to the post commander, there are about 500 eligible men in Ridgeley and vicinity who should be members.

Following the installation ceremony, address and business meeting, a buffet luncheon was served.

James Rowand Is Accused of Stealing Watch and Two Rings in 1943

James Okey Rowand, 36, manager of the Julian Goldman store, 65 Baltimore street, was arrested by county authorities yesterday afternoon and will be given a preliminary hearing in trial magistrates court this morning on a charge of grand larceny, State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris disclosed.

Harris said Rowand took two diamond rings worth $150 and a ladies wrist watch valued at $50 from Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Feeser, 312 Park street, while he was living at their home in 1943.

In a statement made yesterday to Harris and County Investigator Terrence J. Boyle, Rowand said when he moved from the Feeser home to a Feeser apartment he found the watch and rings among his personal belongings. He said he knew they belonged to the Feesers, according to the statement.

Gave Watch to Clerk

Later, about the middle of May, Rowand said, he gave the watch to a woman clerk in the store and had her sell the rings, returning the money to him.

Harris said Rowand came to Cumberland April 14, 1943, from Milwaukee, Wis., where he was manager of another Julian Goldman store, and first lived at a Cumberland hotel.

In his statement, Rowand told Harris he had arranged for an apartment owned by Mr. and Mrs. Feeser, but that after he stayed at the hotel for awhile they suggested he come and live at their home until the apartment was vacant.

Rowand said he moved in with the Feesers about April 20, 1943, and stayed there until May 1 when the apartment was vacant and he moved in.

It was then, Rowand said, that he found the rings and watch in his personal belongings.

He added that he gave the watch as a present to a clerk at the store and at the same time, believed to be about the middle of May 1943, gave her the rings and suggested that she see if anyone would buy them.

Received $60

The clerk was able to sell them, Romand stated, adding that she gave him $60 which he said he put in his pocket.

A native of Fairmont, W. Va., Rowand told Harris he had never been in any previous trouble.

Rowand was taken into custody at the store yesterday by Boyle and after making the statement to him and Harris was taken to the county jail to await the preliminary hearing today. Maximum sentence in Maryland for grand larceny is fifteen years in the penitentiary.

Government Plans May Stop School Construction

Kopp Expresses Concern over Possible Delay in County Program

Government plans to stop virtually all commercial and public works construction in order to make way for the veterans housing program yesterday were viewed with concern by School Superintendent Charles L. Koop who is anxious to start construction of three new high schools in Allegany county as soon as conditions permit.

According to recent developments in Washington, in addition to halting everything but essential construction outside of the housing field, the program aims to channel building materials into dwelling units which, for the most part, will cost not more than $6,000.

While regulations have not as yet been issued in Washington, information given out thus far indicates that new schools may be placed on the deferred list unless old schools burn down.

Kopp said yesterday he was anxious to get started on the building programs contemplated at Lonaconing, Mt. Savage and Ellerslie as soon as possible. The school board has approximately $800,000 on hand for the proposed projects.

While no contracts have been signed as yet, citizens' committees in both Lonaconing and Mt. Savage concur with the school board regarding proposed locations for the new schools and an "understanding" has been reached.

According to tentative plans, the

Demand for 51-Gauge Hose Brings Police Aid when Nylons Go on Sale

Because the demand for sheer fifty-one-gauge rayon hose became so violent, one Cumberland store refuses to sell still scarce nylon stockings unless minions of the law are present to maintain order.

Some 500 customers crowded into the six by thirty-feet Ormond shop on Baltimore street the last week in January and noisily and none-too-politely demanded fifty-one gauge hose.

One man jammed the cash register and prohibited clerks from ringing up additional sales until his purchase was completed. Customers surged in back of the display cases; others jostled and pushed so much that bottles in the store next door rattled and shook on the shelves.

Seeks Police Help

Only quick work prevented all the show cases in the store from being overturned.

That decided Mrs. Schell Miller, manager of the shop. If fifty-one gauge rayons are so fought over, she decided, then the battle for nylons would be one to top all others.

Mrs. Miller sought the help of Chief of Police Oscar A. Eyerman, and as a result two policemen and sometimes three stand guard when nylons are placed on sale.

"We sell nylons every day," Mrs. Miller said, "but only when there's a policeman around. Naturally, that limits the number of nylons we sell every day because the policemen maintain order only one hour a day."

Stands Guard at Door

One officer stands guard at the door to the shop when nylons go on sale, and another policeman takes up a vantage point at the corner of Baltimore and South Centre streets, maintaining order in the line of nylon-seekers that frequently extends almost as far as Dexter place.

The officers permit only a limited number of customers in the store at a time, and, Mrs. Miller says, results have been very satisfactory.

Kopp Is Named To Make Survey Of School Needs

Six Superintendents Will Study State Vocational Requirements

Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools in Allegany county, Monday was appointed one of six school men in the state to make a statewide survey of vocational needs in the school system.

Other superintendents named to the special committee by State Superintendent Thomas G. Pullen, Jr., are Theodore Boston, Dorchester county; Clarence Cooper, Baltimore county; Gardner Shugart, Prince Georges county; B. C. Willis, Washington county; and Charles F. Willis, Harford county.

The committee was named at a meeting of school superintendents in Pullen's offices where the school heads were informed of the latest regulations with regard to the disposal of surplus property owned by the government.

Wants Visual Equipment

Kopp said yesterday that the Allegany county school system could use a number of items on the surplus property list when the items become available. These items include industrial arts equipment, machine tools, visual education equipment, sound machines, microscopes, equipment related to physics, chemistry and other scientific subjects, furniture, typewriters, business machines, desks, files and cabinets.

Kopp, who has been impressed by certain phases of the visual education programs in army schools, said he was especially anxious to secure as much sound and visual equipment as possible.

Report on Health Program

There is also a possibility that some radar equipment may be available eventually although Kopp said it is too early as yet to say definitely.

The superintendents who attended the meeting also heard a report on the new health and physical education program including a report on the new "screening method" in pupil health work now being tried out in four Allegany county schools.

The future of our country and of the world depends on how well this assignment is carried out. We need volunteers to do the job—and do it right."

Gen. Eddy outlined the opportunities of the army as a career and stressed the importance of "securing a maximum number of voluntary enlistments in the army," to release men who have had long and ardous service and to build up the regular army to an adequate strength.

Asks Local Aid

Gen. Eddy had his entire staff with him at the dinner, and he appealed to the civic leaders assembled to encourage young men in their home towns to enlist in the army. Minter said there were about seventy-five at the dinner, including representatives of civic groups from Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia.
